

AA003942760

Digitized by the Internet Archive in 2008 with funding from Microsoft Corporation

SOCIAL LIFE IN FORMER DAYS.

EDINBURGH : PRINTED BY THOMAS CONSTABLE,

FOR

EDMONSTON AND DOUGLAS.

LONDON, . . . . . HAMILTON, ADAMS, AND CO.
CAMBRIDGE, . . . . . MACMILLAN AND CO.
DUBLIN, . . . . . M'GLASHAN AND GILL.
GLASGOW, . . . . . JAMES MACLEHOSE.

SOCIAL LIFE IN FORMER DAYS.

Second Series.

ILLUSTRATED BY LETTERS AND FAMILY PAPERS.

BY E. DUNBAR DUNBAR,

(LATE) CAPTAIN 21ST FUSILIERS.

GORDONSTON.

EDINBURGH: EDMONSTON & DOUGLAS.

MDCCCLXVI.

21

P R E F A C E.

THE documents in this volume are from the same repositories as those in the former series; but, the majority of them being exceedingly difficult to decipher, it was not in my power to offer them sooner to the public; indeed, except for the kind welcome accorded to its predecessor, this second series would not have been published.

E. DUNBAR DUNBAR.

SEA PARK, August 1866.

TABLE OF CONTENTS.

	PAGES
I. FEUDS BETWEEN POWERFUL FAMILIES, . . . . .	1-7
II. THE PLANTATION OF NOVA SCOTIA, AND KNIGHT-BARONETS THEREOF, 1625, . . . . .	8-21
III. LETTERS FROM THE COURTS OF JAMES VI. AND CHARLES I., . . . . .	22-36
IV. CIVIL WAR IN THE REIGN OF CHARLES I., . . . . .	37-56
V. SCHOLASTICAL AND BIBLIOTHECAL, . . . . .	57-68
VI. NOBLE AND EXEMPLARY WIVES, . . . . .	69-74
VII. AN ORDER FOR DRESS; AN OFFER OF MAR- RIAGE; AND A MARRIAGE, . . . . .	75-80
VIII. INVITATION TO THE FUNERAL OF A COUNTESS, 1658; OBSEQUIES OF A LAIRD, 1663, AND OF A KNIGHT, 1666, . . . . .	81-85
IX. CHURCH DISCIPLINE, . . . . .	86-90
X. THE MAGISTRATES AND COMMUNITY OF INVERNESS KEPT IN TERROR BY A TROUBLESOME NEIGHBOUR, 1676, . . . . .	91-95
XI. A KNIGHT-BACHELOR'S FEES OF COMMISSION, 1682, . . . . .	96-103
XII. EAST NEW JERSEY, 1684, . . . . .	104-114

	PAGES
XIII. EXPORT OF GRAIN ; RETURN CARGO ; SKIPPER'S LETTERS, . . . . .	115-123
XIV. FRIENDLY LETTERS FROM NOBLEMEN, . . . . .	124-127
XV. GIPSIES ; BOTTLES ; AND BUGS, . . . . .	128-130
XVI. PUBLIC REVENUE : HOW COLLECTED, 1701, . . . . .	131-137
XVII. RECEPTION OF A CREDITOR BY A ROSS-SHIRE BARONET, 1712, . . . . .	138-140
XVIII. POWER OF THE LAIRD OF A BARONY, . . . . .	141-146
XIX. GARDENS AND PLANTATIONS, . . . . .	147-154
XX. HOUSEHOLD EXPENSES AND SERVANTS' WAGES, . . . . .	155-157
XXI. RAISING MEN FOR THE ARMY, . . . . .	158-163
XXII. ELGIN BURGHS POLITICS ; ABDUCTION OF MAGISTRATES AND IRRUPTION OF *      HIGHLANDERS, . . . . .	164-174
APPENDIX No. I., . . . . .	175-178
APPENDIX No. II., . . . . .	179-183
INDEX, . . . . .	185-199

In p. 104, line 3, for 1644, read 1664.

I. FEUDS BETWEEN POWERFUL FAMILIES.

ON the 18th of October 1577, John Innes, brother of the Laird of Innermarkie, with several accomplices, broke into the stables of the Deanery<sup>1</sup> of Moray, with the intention of carrying off the horses. The Dean, Alexander Dunbar, disturbed by the sudden confusion, came out unarmed, "except with his dirk, which he carried always," and was immediately attacked by one of the party, who not only wounded him severely, but also most cruelly killed his daughter, Elizabeth Dunbar, a girl of thirteen years of age. This horrible transaction was resented by all the Dunbars, but the Inneses defended their kinsmen, and as a great part of Moray then belonged to families of these two names, the consequences were most serious. At length the Earl of Sutherland and other influential persons induced the hostile parties to come to the following agreement:—

"At Clunie-Hills<sup>2</sup> besyd Forres, the 7th day of

<sup>1</sup> It stands near the Cathedral at Elgin, and is now called "North College."

<sup>2</sup> There is now a Hydropathic Establishment on one of these hills; the air, scenery, drives, etc., combine to make it a charming resort.

November the year of God 1578, it is appointit, concordit, and fynalie submitit and condescendit, betwix the wholl pairties heirefter specefit, that is to say, Lachlan M'Intosche of Dumachtyn and Robert Innes of Innermarkie, takand the burding on them for themselves, thir kyn, freinds, assistars, alies, partakars, and all sic that has sustenit damage or skayth in bodies, honors, or guidis, in and for the causs efter-mentionat, on the anc pairt, and James Dunbar of Cumnock and Maister Alexander Dunbar, Dene of Morray, takand in lik wayes the burding on them for themselves, ther kyn, freinds, assistars, partakers and alies, and all sic that has sustenit damage or skayth in bodies, honors, or guidis in the causs mentionat eftir, concerning thir presents, on the other pairt, in manyr, forme, and effect as eftir follows; that is to say, that (forsameikyll as ther is fallin out unnaturall and unkyndlie bluidshed comittit betwix the said pairties), for pecefeing and satisfaction of slachtyr and slachters done be aither of the pairties, and all other ples generallie, questiones or debatts done be aither to other before the day and date of thir presents, the said pairties has submitit them for reformation, reparating of aithers of ther honors, bluid, guidis, and gear, be the sicht and jugment of the persones underwrettin, mutuallie chosin, ellectit, and nominat to that effect, for reparating of the honors, bluid, guidis, and gear, or other skayth comittit be aither of the pairties to other, viz., anc

Reverend Fadyr in God George—Bishop of Morray, Robert Munro of Fowlis, Waltyr Urquhart—Sherriff of Cromartie, Alexander Faknar of Hakyrtowne, Johne Gordon of Cairnbro, and Andro Meldrum of Dumbrek, ellectit and nominat as newtrall freinds and amicabill compositers be aither of the foresaids pairties. And, to that effect, the foresaids newtrall freinds and amicabill compositers befor nominat, sall convene within the Brucht of Elgin, the xxiiij day of November instant, to ressaive aither of the saids clames, actiones, questiones, and debats; and the same to be presented to the saids Jugis, the said day and place, be newtralls instructed be aither of the pairties to resson on aither of ther causs; and the principill pairties to remane and not to compeir till the saids Jugis desyre and require them to heyr and sie the mattrs concludit be the saids Jugis be decreit; at which tyme the saids pairties, or aither of the saids, sall not convene bot with sic numyr of freinds and servands as the saids Jugis sall apoint and ordain allanerlie. With powir to the saids Jugis to prorogat day or days eftir the said xxiiij day of November instant, as they sall think guid, betwix the said xxiiij day of November instant and the fyftein of December nixt to cum. And, in case of varience betwix the saids Jugis in agreeing of the saids debats in aither of ther clame, has referit and given powir to the saids Jugis to electt and choise an Oversman be ther discrezione; the whilk nominatione and electione of the Oversman, the pairties forsaidis acceptts, admitts, and allowis, as if he wer alredie nominat at the date of thir presents ; and speciall, we nominat ane other in cace, as God forbyd and controll it, that ony of the Jugis befor nominat, beis of necessitie absent frae keeping of the said day, be decess, heavie sekness, or ony other inevitabill rycht occasione ; in that cace the Jugis appearing sall have powir to admitt and nominat others in ther place, which, ther admissione and nominatione, the pairties forsaidis approves and ratifies the same. And in the meyne tyme bayth the saids pairties assures others with abstinence from all hosteletie till the finall conclusion, determinatione, and decreett of of the saids Jugis, provydand alwayes, that untill the finall decreett be pronouncit be the forsaidis Jugis, that nane of the Dunbarrs repare or resort be-east the Karne<sup>1</sup> of Kylbueak, except the sonnes of umquill Alexander Dunbar of Conzie ; and syklyk that nane of the name of Innes sall repare within the Brucht of Forres, befor the forsaid day. Which abstinence and assurance as forsaid, the forsaidis pairties, submittand for them and ther forsaidis, faythfullie promisses be the fayth and treuth of ther bodies, under paine of infamie, perjurie, and inhabilitie in all tymes cuming, to abyd, fulfill, and underly the decreett of the forsaidis Jugis, in all pointes, haldand the same firme and stabill in all tyme cuning ; provydand that if ony bearand the name of Dunbarr, or ther partakars forsaid, sall have occasione, be serving befor the Lords of Session, or chargit be our Sovereaine Lord's Magestie's letters, in that cace it sall be leifull to them to obey ; and, provdydand that they pass nocht thro the Brucht of Elgin, they sall be harmless and skaithless in ther passing."

<sup>1</sup> The Cairn of Kilbuick was on the high road leading from Forres to Elgin,—four miles from the former, and six from the latter. Some years ago, it was demolished by a Goth, who used the stones in repairing the road.

---

Some years after they had settled their feud with the Inneses, the Dunbars got into trouble with the Roses, a powerful Nairnshire sept. The lands of Dunphail, then belonging to Dunbar of Tarbet,<sup>1</sup> were, from their situation in the Brae of Moray, particularly liable to invasion, so the Laird applied to Lord Huntly for assistance ; but before hostilities ended, the Roses burned the houses of Dunphail, Sanquhar, and Mundole, and killed Alexander Dunbar, younger of Tarbet.

<sup>1</sup> Tarbet is in the county of Ross, but the lairds generally resided in or near Forres, in the vicinity of which town they possessed the lands of Sanquhar and Mundole. They sold Tarbet to Sir John Mackenzie, father of the first Earl of Cromartie, about the year 1610, and were afterwards designated Dunbars of Dunphail. They continued landed proprietors in Moray until June 1740, when Lauchlan Dunbar of Dunphail was obliged to sell his estate to pay his late father's debts, which, it is said, were much augmented by a heavy fine imposed on him for having marched with his servants to Nairn, broken open the jail, and released one of his tenants, who had been imprisoned for "smuggling," that is, distilling whisky without the cognizance of the exciseman.

Huntly's bond of maintenance runs thus :—

“Be it kend till all men whome it effeirs, Wee George, Marquis of Huntlie, for the gryit favour, luiff, and guidwill of service, borne and done to our pre-diessours and us by unquill James Dunbar of Terbait, James Dunbar now of Terbait—his sone, and for the favour, guidwill, and service we understand and consaivs done, and to be done, to us be Alexander Dunbar, now appearand sone and air to James Dunbar, now of Terbait—his father, and for sundry uther goodlie, guid, and reasonable respectts moving us thairto, to have become bundin and obleisset, lykas, be the tenor heirof, faithfullie and trewlie binds and obleisses us and ours, to fortifie, concurr, assist, mantaine, and defend James Dunbar, now of Terbait, and Alexander Dunbar, his sone, appearand air forsaid, in thair lyfes, guides, geir, lands, heretages, tacks, roomes, and possessiones whatsomever, appertaining to thaim, thaire men, tenants, servands, kin, friendes, partaikars, assistars, and followars of them, baith be law and by<sup>1</sup> law, frae whatsomever thaire enemies, invaisors, and oppressours, present and to cum, and speciallie against thair enemies—broken men of the name of Rosse, and uthers thair assistars, according to law and justice, but<sup>2</sup> exceptione of persones. To the which, all and sundrie the premises, we bind and obleiss us faithfullie and trewlie to observe, keep, and fulfill, during all the dayes of our lyfetime, to the said James Dunbar of Terbait, Alexander Dunbar, his son and appairand air, and thair forsaid. In witnes wherof, we haiff subserivit this our letters of protectione and maintenance, with our hand, at Innernes, the 18th day of September ane thousand sax hundrethe year of God, before thir wittnesses, Sir Thomas Gordon of Clunie, Knight, John Vauis of Lockslyne, and Robert Vauis, burgess of Innernes, his brother.

<sup>1</sup> By here means beyond.

<sup>2</sup> But is often used for without. The motto of the Mackintoshes and of the Macphersons is Touch not a cat but a glove.

“GEORGE, MARQUIS OF HUNTLYE.”

II. THE PLANTATION OF NOVA SCOTIA, AND KNIGHT-BARONETS THEREOF, 1625.

IN the year 1621, King James VI. granted a considerable portion of the continent of North America to Sir William Alexander of Menstrie. The conveyance, which comprehended powers of an almost regal nature, was confirmed in 1625, by King Charles I., who was further pleased to institute the order of Knight-Baronets of Nova Scotia, and to confer that dignity on such gentlemen of good birth as should assist Sir William in the plantation of a colony in that country. Sir Robert Gordon of Kynmonowie,<sup>1</sup> second son of the twelfth Earl of Sutherland, and founder of the Morayshire family of Gordonston, was the first person created a Baronet of Nova Scotia, and he got a charter under the Great Seal, 28th May 1625, granting to him "All the sea-coast at the south-west part of land upon the eastmost side of that bay called Port de Mutoune (in Nova Scotia), and from thence going southward three miles along the coast, and from thence passing northward from the said sea-coast into the mainland, anent those three miles, till the quantity thereof extend to sixteen thousand acres of land, being always three miles in breadth, . . . and all erected in a full and free barony, called the Barony of Gordon, with power of Regality as above."

<sup>1</sup> Sir Robert's mother, the Countess of Sutherland, was a daughter of the Earl of Huntly. Her first husband, the Earl of Bothwell, divorced her in order to marry Mary, Queen of Scots.

The price of a Baronetcy in 1625, appears to have been three thousand merks Scots, a sum equivalent to about one hundred and sixty-six pounds sterling.

"Be it kend to all men be thir present letters, Me, Sir William Alexander of Menstrie, Knight, Her Majestie's Heretable Lieutenant of the countrie and domynion of New Scotland, albeit that Sir Robert Gordon, Barronet, Gentleman in Ordinarie of His Majestie's Privie Chamber, as principall, and Sir Alexander Strachan, Barronet, of Thornton, as cautioner for him, be their band beand date herof, are obleist to pay and deliver to me, my aires or assignies whatsoever, the soume of Three Thousand Merks, usuall money of the Kingdome of Scotland, as principall soume, upon the eleventh day of November next to cum, togidder with the soume of Three Hundreth Pounds, money forsaid, of liquidate expensess in caise of failzie, and that thereby I may uplift the said soume and apply the same to my use as I please, nevertheless, for the reguard I have to the well and furtherance of the plantation of the said countrie, and whereby they may be the better encouraged to plant and cause inhabite their own particular bounds within the said countrie, I bind and obliiss me and my forsaides to warre and bestow Two Thousand Merks, money forsaid, of the said Three Thousand Merks, after it beis payed to me or my foresaides, towards the setting forth of a colonie of men furnished with necessarie provision, to be planted be me, my aires, or our deputies, within the said countrie, be the advise of the said Sir Robert Gordon and the remanent Bar-ronetts of Scotland, adventurers in the plantation of the same, or so many of them as shall meete and conveene with my aires, or our deputies, within Scotland, and that at our meeting we appointed for that effect to be at St. Johnstoun, the xxvij day of August next to cum, or at any other meeting to be appointed be us at that time, and that the time of the setting forth of the said colonie shall be likewise condescended upon be their advise. And, for the more securitie, I am content and consents that thir presents be registrat in the books of Counsell and Session of the kingdome of Scotland, to have the strenth of ane Act and Decreet of the Lords thereof interponed therto, with letters and execution of horning, and others needfull, to be direct therupon, upon ane simple charge of six dayes alanerlie ; and for that effect constitutes my lawfull procurators to consent to the regestering therof, promitten de rato. In witnes whereof (written be James Philip, my servant), I have subseryved thir presents with my hand, at the Strand neare Chairing-cross, the fourth day of Junne the year of God Jajvie and twentie-fyve yeares (1625), before thir witnesses—Walter Leckie of Desthoures, Esquire, William Gunne, servant to the said Sir Robert, and the said James Philip.

“ W. ALEXANDER.

“ W. Lecky, witnes.

“ W. Guin, witnes.

“ James Philip, witnes.”

---

“ Be it known to all men be thir present letters, Me, Sir William Alexander, of Menstrie, Knight, His Majestie's Heretable Lieutenant of the countrie of New Scotland, albeit that the Right Honorable the Earle of Antrim and Sir Robert Gordon, Knight-Barronet, Gentleman of His Majestie's Privie Chamber, have bound and obleisit themselves, their heires and assignies, to pay unto me, my heires or assignies, the soume of Three Thousand Merks, usual money of the kingdome of Scotland, as principall soume, upon the eleventh day of November next to cum, togidder with the soume of Three Hundreth Pounds, money forsaide, of liquidate expensses in eaise of failzie, and that thereby I may uplift the said soume and apply the same to my use as I please, nevertheless, for the reguard I have to the well and furtherance of the plantation of the said countrie, and whereby Sir Donald Gorme<sup>1</sup> of Slait, Knight (upon whom His Majestie hath conferred the title and dignity of Knight-Baronet within Scotland, for being an adventurer in the said plantation), may be the better encouraged to plant and cause inhabite his own particuler bounds within the said countrie, conforme to a signator granted to him by His Majestie thereof, I, the said Sir William, bind and obliiss me and my forsaidis to ware and bestow Two Thousand Merks, money forsaid, of the said Three Thousand Merks, after it beis payed to me or my forsaidis, towards the setting forth of a colonie of men, furnished with sufficient provisions, to be planted by me, my aires or deputies, within the said countrie, be the advise of the said Sir Donald Gorme or such Barronets, adventurers in the plantation of the said countrie of New Scotland, as shall meete and conveene with me, my heires, or our deputies, within Scotland, and that at our meeting we appointed for that effect to be at St. Johnestoun, the twentie-seaven day of August next to come, or at any other meeting to be appointit be us at that time ; and that the time of the setting forth of the said colonie shall be likewise condescended upon be their advise. And, for the more securitie, we are content and consents that thir presents be insert and registrat in the books of Counsell and Session of Scotland, to have the strenth of ane Act and Decreit of the Lords thereof interponed therto, with letters of horning, and others needfull, to be direct therupon, upon ane simple charge of six dayes issuing alanerlie ; and for that effect constitutes                      our procurators to compear and consent thereto, promitten de rato. In witnes whereof, we have subscriyved thir presents with our hands, at London, the last day of June the year of God Jajvie and twentie-fyve yeares (1625), before thir witness—William Nicolson, tailzour, and James Philp, wretter hereof.

<sup>1</sup> Gorme is the Gaelic word for Blue ; the Knight whom his Majesty thus honoured was Sir Donald MacDonald ; perhaps Lord MacDonald could tell if his ancestor were a veritable Blue-Beard.

“ W. ALEXANDER.

“ James Philip, witnes.

“ William Nicyhkellsoun, witnes.”

---

We are unable to say what was the amount of “the first terme’s payment :”—

“ At London, the second day of July the year of God Jajvie twentie-fyve yeares (1625), it is appointit and agreit betwixt Sir Robert Gordon, Barronet, Gentleman of His Majestie’s Privie Chamber, on the ane part, and Sir William Alexander of Menstrie, Knight, His Majestie’s Lieutenant of New Scotland in America, on the other part, in maner following, to witt :—The said Sir William having a chartour under the Greate Seale of Scotland, of the date, at Windsor, the tenth day of September the year of God Jajvie and twentie-ane yeares (1621), granted to him, his aires and assignies whatsoever, be His Majestie's late dearest father, of all and haill the lands, countrie, and dominion of New Scotland in America, with the Admirallitie thereof, with diverse other priviledges at length specified in the said chartour. Now for soumes of money payet and deliveret to the said Sir William be the said Sir Robert Gordon, the said Sir William hath sett and assedate, and be the tenor hereof setts, and in tak and assedation lettes, to the said Sir Robert Gordon, his aires maill and assignies whatsoever, during the haill space, yeares, and termes of nyneteen yeares next and immediatlie following the day and date hereof, which is hereby appointit and declairit to be the entrie and beginning of this present tak, all and haill the Admirallitie of all the sea-coastes, ports, and harbours of all lands and bounds pertaining heretablie to the said Sir Robert Gordon within the said countrie of New Scotland, and mentioned and designit in an procuratorie of resignation, of the date, at Whitehall, the eighteen day of May the year of God Jajvie and twentie-fyve years instant, made and subscriybed be the said Sir William, for resigning of the said lands in his Majestie's hands in favors of the said Sir Robert Gordon ; with power also to the said Sir Robert Gordon and his forsaid, during the said space, to hold Courtes of Admiraltie, and to receave and uptak all and whatsoever benefits and casualties belonging to the said Admiraltie of the said bounds, and to convert the samen to such use or uses as the said Sir Robert or his forsaid shall think expedient, and to do all thinges concerning the Admiraltie of the said bounds, which the said Sir William, or his forsaid, might do himself be virtue of the said chartour or other right whatsoever.

“And, for the said Sir Robert Gordon his further securitie, the said Sir William Alexander bath assignit and, be thir presents, for him, his heires, and successors, assignes the said Sir Robert Gordon and his forsaid in and to the said chartour and severall clausses respective therein mentioned, in so farre alanerlie as the samen concernes or may be extended in and to the said Admiraltie of the said bounds pertaining to the said Sir Robert Gordon during the space foresaid alanerlie. And in caise the said Sir William or his forsaid crave, or sall hereafter require, anie new right of the said Admiraltie, in that caise the same sall appertaine and accress to the said Sir Robert Gordon and his forsaid during the space foresaid, in so farre as the samen may be extended to his said bounds.

“And the said Sir William binds and oblisses him, his heires, executors, successors, and assignyes, to warrant, acquyet, and defend the tak above specifyit, and all parts thereof, to be good, valid, and sufficient in all points, as is above written, from his, and his forsaid, proper fact and deed alanerlie.

“For the which Take above specefyit, the said Sir Robert Gordon be the tenor hereof binds and oblesses him and his forsaid to content and pay to the said Sir William Alexander, and his forsaid, yearlie, during the space above written, within St. Giles Kirk in Edinburgh in Scotland, upon Whitsunday-Even, the soume of fyve merks, usuall Scottes money, beyond the first terme’s payment upon Whitsunday-Even next to come in the year of God Jajvie and twentie-six yeares (1626), and so forth yearlie thereafter, during the space above written.

“And, for the more securitie, both the said pairties are content and consent that thir presents be insert and registrat in the books of Counsell and Session of the Kingdome of Scotland, and have the strenth of ane Act and Decreet of the Lords thereof interponed thereto, with letters and execution of horning and poinding, and others necessarie, to pass and be direct thereupon, on ane simple charge of six dayes alanerlie; and for registering hereof constitutes conjunctlie and severallie, their lawfull procurators, promitten de rato. In witnes whereof, both the said pairties have subscryved thir presents with their hands, day, year, and place, above written before thir witness, Edward Kincaid, servitor to Sir David Livingstoun of Dunipace, Knight-Barronet, and James Philip, writter hereof.

“W. ALEXANDER.

“Edward Kincaid, wittnes.

“James Philip, witnes.”

The Baronets of Nova Scotia, at a meeting held at Wanstead (date not mentioned), bound themselves to furnish two thousand merks Scots, each, “for buying and rigging furth of a shipp for the furtherance of the plantatione of New Scotland, and for carreing out men thither.”

To Lord Marischal, who, with several other noblemen, had joined in the enterprise, Sir Robert Gordon sent the following letter :—

“To my very honorable good Lord,

The EARLE MARSHALL OF SCOTLAND—These :

“LONDON, the 25 of May 1626.

“MY LORD,—According to the conference wee hade togidder, at our last meeting, touching the plantation of New Scotland, and setting furth of a shipp by some of that worthie societie, to advance the said interpryse, I, being loth to be posteriour to any of our number in furthering that noble work, do heirby intreat your Lordship to answer for my part in buying and setting furth of the said shipp : and whatsoever soume your Lordship will advance for me in this particular (not exceeding two thousand merks, Scots money), be the advyse of Baronet Strachan, Baronet Clunie, and Baronet Lesmoir,<sup>1</sup> I do obliiss myself to repay the same to your Lordship againe, providing I have my equall portion (pro rato) of the gain and comoditie that (God willing) shall aryse from the traffick of the said shipp or otherways, from tyme to tyme, and that such men as I shall send over into New Scotland be freeilie transported in the said shipp into that kingdome, and be landed either at the cheif colonie or at my owne portion of land by Port du Mutton, at my option. And further I intreat your Lordship, that when you cause drawe up the comonne articles and covenants of agreement amongst all you that ar parteners of that shipp, that your Lordship cause insert my name amongst them, as one, with the conditions above rehearsed. And, thus intreating this faivour of your Lordship, I shall ever continue, your Lordship's loving cousing, to serve you,

“ROBERT GORDONE.”

---

Honour among thieves :—

“Be it kend till all men be thir presents, Us, William, Earle Marshall of Scotland—Lord Keith, etc.,

<sup>1</sup> The three Baronets whom his Lordship was to consult, were Sir Alexander Strachan of Thornton, Sir Alexander Gordon of Clunie, and Sir James Gordon of Lesmore.

Sir Robert Gordon—Gentleman of His Majestic's Privie Chamber, and Sir Alexander Strahan of Thornetoun, Knight-Barronets, fforsamekle as wee have bound and obleist us, ilk ane for our own parts, to contribute to the buying of a shipp, with ordonance and necessarie furniture for her, to be outreaked and sett forth towards the plantation of our lands in New Scotland, Wee do hereby bind and obliss us, ilk ane to others, and are content and do declare that after the said shipp is bought and put to sea, if at any time, so long as wee keep our severall parts of her unsold, or unassigned to any other person, anie prise or prises shall happen to be taken by the said shipp, comandars, souldiers, and marineris therein, that ilk ane of us shall have equall share and part of the profits, and of all benefite that shall be gotten be them, so that none of us shall have more part or benefite of anie prise so taken than others. And, for the more securitie, wee are content and consents that thir presents be insert and registrat in the books of Counsell and Session of Scotland, and to have the strenth of ane decret of the Lords thereof interponed thereto, and that letters of horning, and others needful, be direct thereupon, as need beis; and for requiring hereof constitutes our procurators, conjunctlie and severallie, promitten de rato. In witnes whereof (being written be James Philp, servant to Sir William Alexander, Knight, Secretarie to His Majestie for Scotland), wee have subservyed thir presents with our hands, at Wanstead the eleventh day of July the year of God Jajvie twentie six yeares (1626), before these witnesses—Sir William Alexander and James Philp.

“MARSCHALL.

ROBERT GORDONE.

“W. Alexander, witness.

AL. STRACHAN.

James Philip, witness.”

---

Sir William Alexander was eventually created Earl of Stirling, etc., and his Lordship seems to have had a large share of “the loaves and fishes;” a document<sup>1</sup> signed by him “att Convent-gairdin, the twentie nynt day of Januarie Jajvie and fourtie yeares” (1640), commences thus:—

“Be it kend till all men be thir present letters, Us, Williame, Earle of Stirling—Vicount of Canada—Lord Alexander of Tullibodie and Menstrie—Secreter to His Majestie for the Kingdome of Scotland, fforsameikill as we have patent, grantit to us be His Majestie, of Nova Scotia in America, and for disponcing and resigning of certain proportiones of land thairoff, and procuring to sundrie personnes the infestments of the samyne frae His Majestie, with the honors and

<sup>1</sup> It is an assignation of his emoluments and landed estate, in favour of the creditors of his deceased son, William, Lord Alexander.

dignitie of Knichts-Barronets, have beine in use to gett frae everie ane of the receavers thairoff the soume of money of this Realme, or thairby. And, siclyke, fforsameikill as we have obtainit frae His Majestie, be His Hienes letters of gift to us, our aires, and assignays, the gift of the marriage of Frances, now Erle of Buckleuche, sone and aire to umquile Walter, Erle of Balcleuche, his father, as vaukand in his Majestie's hands in maner mentionat in the gift grantit to us thairupoun, with the haill profitis and comodities of the said marriage. And, also, fforsameikille as we have power and comissione to admitt, receave, nominat, and creat all Sheriff-clerks, Stewart-clerks, and Baillie-clerks, within the Kingdome of Scotland, as the samyne sal happin to fall and vaik in his Majestie's hands," etc. etc.

III. LETTERS FROM THE COURTS OF JAMES VI. AND CHARLES I.

THE Master of Elphinstone, writer of the following letter, succeeded his father as fifth Lord Elphinstone ; his sister died in 1617, having survived her husband, the Earl of Sutherland, two years. Sir Robert Gordon, as nearest relation on the father's side, was, by the law of Scotland, "Tutor" or guardian of the person and estates of his nephew, the fourteenth Earl of Sutherland, then a minor :—

" To my honourable and loving cousin

.. SIR ROBERT GORDON, Tutor of Sutherland.

" 4th February 1618.

" HONOURABLE AND LOVING COUSIN,—I resseaved yours of the 28 of January, and thanks you meast haertly for the cair you have of my sister-bairnes ; that deuntiful cariage of yours towards them will procur the awin rewaird baithe of God and man, and it sall oblis es so far to you that you sall have full assurance to command me as your awin boirne brother.

" We have no uther neues nor I did wreat of to you of befor. In the meiting, the King's Majestic had appointed be certaine Commissioners of his, with the Commissioners for the Estaits of the Low Contries, it being desired be the King's Commissioners that reparation might be mead for certaine wrongs committed be sum of the Holanders who traveled to the West Ingles, done to Ingless marchands of the Compagnie of West-Ingles, ane fellow of Anstredame, who was not ane Commissioner, rais up and said it was folie to speik of reparation and redress, for his Maisters wer not in use to give restitution or redress—any thing they wold doe wold be out of compassion and for almes. If this arrogant answer did not offend the Commissioners for England who wer present, and thaireafter His Majestie, you may judge. This same fellow being sent, a long tyme since, to the King of Denmark for traitting for ane frie passaig through his Straits, the King of Denmark desiring redress to sum of his subjects for wrongs done be theafs of Flanders, said that if they did not repair theas wrongs, he wold hinder and stope them to saill throughe his Straits, this mad fellow did put his hand in his poquet, as if he had bein seiking sumthing thairin, and then said ‘Good King, buist us not with that; I thoght I had broght in my pokquet the key of theas doors and Straits of yours, but I see I have forgotten it in Holand, but I know certainlie whair it lyes.’ So theas fellows, inriched be uther Princes’ commodities, out of thair pryde does contem all the uther Princes of Christendom.

“So, leaving to trouble you any further, I rest your loving cousin, to serve you,

“A. ELPHINSTON.

“Leat thir lynes remember my service to my Ladies—your mother and bedfellow.”

---

From Ludovic, second Duke of Lennox. His Grace, being near kinsman to the King, had apartments in the palace :—

“To my loving cousin SIR ROBERT GORDON, Knight.

“At Paris—These :

“WHITEHALL, the 31 of May 1620.

“LOVING COUSIN,—I have taken the occasion to remember my love unto you, and to desyre you to let me hear of your succes in your busines. Withall, I must entreat you to send me over some dozen of masks for gentlewomen, which you must bespeak that they may be higher in the brow than the ordinary. You must send me also a dozen pair of such gloves as the gentlewomen there do weare, and some working silk of dark colours, some reasonable quantitye of each. If Madame de Gie and Madame La Marquise de Vermont be at Paris, you may take their advyce in choosing them. So, till further occasion, I rest your loving cousin,

“LENOX.”

His Majesty acted in a strictly constitutional manner :—

“ To our trustie and welbeloved SIR ROBERT GORDON, of that Ilke, Knight-Barronet, Gentilman of our Privy Chamber in Ordinarie, and Shirriff of Invernes.

“ CHARLES R.

“ Trustie and welbeloved, Wee greete you well. In regaird Wee approve the laudable custome of that our Kingdome in choising their Comissioners yearlie in everie Shyre, for attending att Parliaments, Conventions, or other generall meittings of the Estates of the sayd Kingdome, Wee have thought fitt, out of our princely care both for Church and Commonwealth, to requyre you to proceede to a new election of two such persons as you knowe to be sufficient and able men, well affected to our service and the publick good, in that Shyre whereof you are Sherriff, against the nixt Parliament which Wee intend, in person, shortlie to hould there. And, Wee having alreadie good proffe of your sufficencie and affection to our service and the publick good, Wee wish that yourselfe might be choisen as one of the sayd two Comissioners, if by any faire and lawfull meanes you can procure the same to be done. Soe Wee bid you farewell.

“ From our Court att Whythall, the sixteene day of Marche 1630.”

The King and the Earl of Carlile<sup>1</sup> were godfathers to Sir Robert Gordon's son, Charles. The Lord George was appointed to be His Majesty's depute at the baptism. To the person who acted for Lord Carlile, but whose name we are unable to give, as the envelope has been lost, the Earl sent this beautifully-expressed letter :—

“HAMPTON COURT, the 27th September 1632.

“SIR,—It hath pleased Sir Robert Gordon, my noble and speciall freind, to call me to an action of double honour in joyning me with His Majestie as an assistant and witnes to the christning of his chyld. I owe the gentleman so much respect, and, for this particular favour, so many thanks, that nothing but His Majestie's service and urgent affaires should have hinddred me to wait in person upon him at that solemnytie, had it bein to go to the remotest part of England; and as I hope that this will excuse my absence, so lykewyse I entreat it may serve to make an apologie for the boldnes I take to desyre you, Sir, to act, and better my part, in that ceremonie, with His Majestie's Deputy. I am confident that out of your owne innate noblenesse and courtisie, out of the familiar and freindly relation you have to the gentleman, and out of the respect you have to His Majestie's interest, you will lay this obligation upon me, which I shall endeavour to requyte to the uttermost of that which may be expected from your humble servant,

<sup>1</sup> James Hay, son of Sir James Hay of Kingusk, was created Earl of Carlile, in 1622, but the title became extinct on the death of his son, in 1660. His Lordship had been ambassador at the Austrian and French Courts. The writer of such a letter must have known how to spell his own name; therefore we do not make it Carlisle.

“CARLILE.”

---

Royal Command to James, fourth Duke of Lennox :—

“To our right trustie and right welbeloved Cousin and Counsellor the DUKE of LENNOX, Lord High Admirall and Chamberlane of Scotland.

“CHARLES R.

“Right trustie and right welbeloved Cousin and Counsellor, We greette you well. Whereas you, as Greate Chamberlane of our Kingdome of Scotland and of our Houshold here, should have a care of our Wardrobe, our will and pleasure is that you visit, or cause visit, our Wardrobe here, and make the Master thereof give an accompt and inventarie of such things are within the same to you, that you may acquaint Us therewith ; for doing whereof, these shal be unto you sufficient warrant. Wee bid you fairwell.

“From our Court at Falkland, the 10th day of July 1633.”

---

His Grace's Order to the Vice-Chamberlain :—

“ To the right honourable, my loving Cousin, SIR ROBERT GORDON, Knight and Baronett, Vice-Chamberlaine of His Majestie's
Household in the Kingdome of Scotland.

“ AT THE COURT AT THE HALYRUDHOUSE,
July 11th, 1633.

“ COUSIN,—Whereas His Majesty hath, under his hand and seale, given command to me, as Chamberlaine of his Majestie's Household, to visitt, or cause visitt, his Wardrobe, and make an inventory be made of all such bedding and hangings, and the like, as shall be found therin ; and, in regard of my necessary attendance upon His Majestie's person, and his other more weighty affaires, I shall not, in this short time of stay, have leisure to performe it myselfe, I doe therefore require, and by these presents authorize, you, as Vice-Chamberlaine, to visitt the said Wardrobe, and to cause the Master thereof to give you an accompt of all such things as shall be found therin ; and that you make a full and perfect inventory of the same ; theruntill requiring the Master of the Wardrobe to sett his hand, and you likewise to appone yours. And so I rest your very loving freind and cousin,

“ J. LENOX.”

Why Sir John Seton called his correspondent “ Father ” we know not, nor can we give more information about Sir John than that he was a Gentleman of the Privy Chamber, and that he married, about the year 1632, "Dame Margaret Hamilton, sister of Sir William Hamilton of Elistoun, Knight, and widow of Sir John Stuart of Meffin :"—

"To his honorable friend SIR ROBERT GORDON,
Knycht-Baronette, &c.,—theis at Edinburgh :

“ LONDON, the 3rd of Jun 1636.

"HONORABLE AND WORTHIE FATHER,— I am sorie that I cannot furnish your expectations with news : only, the Embassador of Polonia had audience, the 7th of this instant, at Hampton Courte ; we sal know shortlie the fruits of his expedition. I have not as yet been with him, tho my brother has wretten to me earnestly, to wait upon him. To-morrow or nixt day (by the help of God) I wil go over the water and see him, for he lyeth at that house, a littel from Lambeth, which Sir Noual Carrouin built.

"All bussines beyont seas ar lying dead, stil both in France, Germanie, and in the Low Countries, only they ar making readdie for the somer service. Madeborg is bockit up by the Saxons ; there be six thousand Swedins into it, and it is feared that want of foode wil make them quyt the place. The Swedish armie, wayk anuf, lyeth on the North syd of the Elve, and the Saxons upon the South syd. No men can give you better information that way than the Colonels Munroes, who, I think, be now in Scotland. Sir Alexander Leslie doeth behave himself verie wel in Westphalia, where he commands, and maketh himself terrible to his enemies there. He has about nine thousand men in his armie, some five thousand horse and four thousand foote. Here, at Courte, we have no news, but there be manie that expects the coming of the Deputie of Irland; among the rest I am one, for I was a suter to the King for fyftein thousand akers of the countie of Conah, which sal now be inhabited with English and Scotts. The King tould me he feared I came too late, but if there be anie I sould have it. I wil cause the Princee Palatin speake for me to the Deputie, and try it that way; but I heare the conditions ar so hard, that I am growing cold that almost I do not caire whither I get anie or not.

“This day the Commissioners ar pairted to the fens of Lincolne, which ar now drayned, to have a judgement past, and I houp, in a few days, to have my proportion if the Fates has not said the contrarie. I have bin long expecting, for as the Italian proverb says, Aspettare é non venire es un doglia da morire;<sup>1</sup> I have, this whyl, had patience; I houp it wil now come to pass. I am so much the more confident because their Indentor holds to delyver other arable land, pasture or midow; now at the leaste it will be midow. My Lord Herries is the carrier of this letter (I thank his Lordship for the honor he doth me), and he wil returne quicklie after he has hard that the Deputie is landed, for he has his intentions bent for Irland. In lyk maner, siklyk, my Lord of Eglinton spoke to the King for four thousand akers for himself, and other four thousand for my Lord of Winton, which the King hard willinglie, and caused his Lordship give in the petitions, which now is in Secretarie Cook's hand. The King has altered his hests<sup>1</sup> of his progres again, but how, I can not tel, but wel I know His Majestie wil not go so farr North as he did determin at first. This is al that I can advertise at this occasion, and al the service I can do you for the present ; when I can do you more service, employ me, non sal be more readdie than, Nobil Father, your troulie affectionat frend and obedient sone, to serve you,

<sup>1</sup> To expect, and to fail of your expectation, is a pain of death.

“JOHAN SETON.

“Nobil Father, if ye can give Henrie Seton anie assistance to my Lord Treasurer for me, put to your helping hand, as I sal be reddie to serve you in lyk, or any other, occasion.”

---

“To his honorable worthie frend SIR ROBERT GORDON, Knycht-Baronette, in Scotlande.

“LONDON, the 13 of Jun 1636.

“HONORABLE FATHER,—Whensoever occasion offers I can not chuse bot salute you with a little piece of paper, tho I can not alwayes find mater worthie of your reding. Sum six days ago I wreat to you with my Lord Herries, I houp ye have gotten that, and this is with James Wallace, who has undertaken that so soome as the Whitsunday's terme is gotten from the tennents of Methven, he wil delyver it to a merchand in Glascow, who sal have it made over to me hear, within a fortnight's sicht, for 7 per 100 ; this is a better condition than I have from Patrick Woode, who bargand with me at the first, that if monys come to a lower raite, he sould send me monys at a lower raite than 8 per 100, and then stay two months after sicht. Good Father take the pains to speake with Patrick Woode in this mater, without letting him know anie thing of the man of Glascow, it may be he wil give it better-chaipe than that man, if not, if he wil give it upon theis same terms, I wil be wel contented that the Glascow merchand offers it. Try William Dick what he says, or Mr. Inglish, for I am assured that now, since the mony is at a lower raite, the exchengis will not hold so hy. When ye see Hendrie Seton ye may talke with him concerning this purpos.

<sup>1</sup> Hests mean Behests.

“As for news since my laste, we hier that the Landsgrave of Hessen having joynd with Leslie, I meane Sir Alexander, in Westpalia, they marched to Flanane and relieved it, and beat Colorado from the towne. Ther is a secourse of fourteen thousand men joynd with the Swaidisch armie, newly come from Lieneland, commandit by a brave fellowe whois name, at this tym, I cannot gette ; I houp they wil relieve Maydeborg ; a littel before his arryval we hier that Banniere had defeat fifteen hundred horse to the Saxon ; this comes from the Frenche Ambassador at Parise, our resident, who, as they say, gives no such satisfaction as was expected, nether to the King nor to the Estate, saying that he doth not understand the negotiation of such hy bisines.

“ Concerning the match with the King of Polonia, upon the ij of this month, I was with the Ambassador of the said King (my brother had intreated me so to do because this man is one of his best frends), bot his Lordship and your eussan, Agent Gordon, they ar so secreet in ther effaires that nothing can be gotten from them ; Mr. Gordon tould me that it was the King’s expresse comand that it sould be so ; howsoever, I understoode by ther Latin conference, that it stands upon relligion, either to permit hir to change hir relligion, I meane the Princesse, if by faire means schee can be perswadit, or els not to permit a minister in the Courte, wherby schee may have no exercise of relligion. The Ambassador tould me that ther was bot one worde betwix the King and him, if the King wold give way bot to that one worde the mater sould go on, bot he could not see that it micht advance without that one worde. Now consider ye what that worde may be.

Upon the ij of this month the Deputie of Irland arryved in London, verie bravely convoyed with six postilion coehes by<sup>1</sup> others. I have put in my petition to the King for a portion of the countie of Conah; what wil come of it I can not tel, the worst that could be is to be throwne over the barr. The King tould me that if there were anie, I sould have, bot he feared I come to leate. I am, this nixte day, to go to Tibols, where the King wil be from Teusday til Saturday.

“I receaved, almost everie weeke, a letter from my sister, and send hir such news as I had. We are much beholding to hir love and caire of us in offering ether hir owne house, or to get us ane other and schee wold furnisch it hirself for us. The Pest is not yet so spread, God be praised, but we may live in the towne, without great feare. A house was closed up in Spur Alay yesterday, it is nixt to Herthorn’s Laine. We do not know what to do til we have mony, for til then we cannot sturr; we moste evin expect the plesur of God. Remember my service to my Lords of Winton and Eglinton, if they be in towne; tel their Lordships I shal be myndful of their bissines at Tybols, God willing. And so, preying The Almiehtie to bliss us and send us a mirrie meeting, I rest eternally, Worthie Father, your affectionat sone and humble servand,

“JOHAN SETON.”

<sup>1</sup> By means in addition to.

From Philip, Earl of Pembroke and Montgomery,
Lord Chamberlain of England :—

“To my very loveing friend SIR ROBERT GORDON, Knight, one of the Gentlemen of His Majestie’s most honourable Privy Chamber, in Ordinary.

“WHITEHALL, the 9th of february 1638.

“After my hearty comendations ; Whereas it hath pleased The King’s Most Excellent Majesty to resolve upon a roiall journey to York, and there to be attended upon by all his sworne servants, of which nomber yourselfe being one, I am therefore to signify unto you His Majesty’s Roiall Pleasure that, all occations sett apart, in person you be in readines by the first day of Aprill next, at the Citty of York (with a horse and russett, armes with gilded nailes or studds, after the fashion of a Curassier, for yourselfe, and white armes, as a Hargobusier, for your servant or servants that you shall bring along with you), in befitting equipage, there to act and doe such dutie and services as may be expected from, or shall be required of, you. Which not doubting but you will most carefully observe, as alsoe give mee a speedy accompt of the receipt hereof, I rest your very loving friend,

“PEMBROKE & MONTGOMERY.”

---

The Marquis of Huntly continued stanch in loyalty to the unfortunate King, and was in consequence eventually executed :—

“To our trusty and wellbeloved SIR ROBERT GORDOUN, Knight and Baronet, Gentleman of our Privie Chalmer, in Ordinarie, Vice-Chamberlane of our Kingdome of Scotland.

“CHARLES R.

“Trusty and wellbeloved, Wee greete you well. Wheras Wee have understood by you the loyaltie and affection which our right trusty and wellbeloved cousin and counsellour, the Marquis of Huntley, hath caried to our service at this tyme, wherof Wee have taken speciall notice, and of his sufferings for the same, you may assure him from Us, that Wee have always reposed a great trust in his affection to our service, and will continew in that mynd; showing him, withall, that shortly (God willing) Wee will take a course for his, and his sone’s, enlairgment; till which tyme assure him that no Covenanter shall have any pardon from Us, and that at our first conveniency he shall find the effects of our faivour. Wee bid you farewell.

“From Our Court at Durhame, the 2nd of May 1639.”

IV. CIVIL WAR IN THE REIGN OF CHARLES I.

THE following letter is in the handwriting of Sir John Seton, from whom we gave letters at pages 29-34 :—

“ To his honorable and most affectionat good frend SIR ROBERT GORDON, Knycht and Baronett, one of His Majestie’s Privie Councell in Scotland, &c. Att Gordonston, or in Alghen of Morray.

“ LONDON, the 6th of Februarij 1644.

“ HONORABLE AND WORTHIE FATHER,—You must excuse us if you get not so often news from us as you desir, for occasion doth not offer to us often, the schips are so long a coming and goeing that ther is no possibilitie of satisfieng your expectation or our desyrs. The last we sent you was about the latter end of November. Now I have found the occasion of one, George Bisset, who was for a time in the wars; I houp you will see him, for he is goeing to Aberdin; and what I do not writt he can inform you more particularlie.

“ The King, our master, is still led away with that malignant Counsell at Oxfoord, and they are so perverse that they will not have him to acknowledge this Parliament to be a Parliament. The Spanisch faction orders all matters at Courte,—Bristell, Dickbie, Cottinton, Porter, I should have said first, the Queen and the Dutches of Buckinghame. My Lord of Antrim has gotten a comission to go to Irland, and is gone 14 dayes agoe, with Dan. Oneil as his Leiftenant, both of them made Bedchambermen, the one a gentleman, the other a groome, and they are to rayse thirty thousand Irish bloodhounds, and to invad Scotland. I houp this wicked descin, amongst the the rest, shall prosper according to there ends, which is to destroy relligion. Antrim sauld all his Ladie's jewels at good chape rates, to get money for his jorney, even as my Lord Gorin has done with the King's. The printed papers will show everie thing distinklie; read them according to the order of time. The French Embassador, Monsieur Harrocourt, has ended his negotiation but with litle contentment, and, I houe, done but litle of that he came for, to make a legue between our King and France. Our King wold make it defensive, but France will have it both defensive and offensive; the Spanisch Jointo will not let the King agree to that, which has gevin Monsieur de Harrocourt a great distast, yet he got a sword-belt at his parteing, worth fifteen hundred pounds Sterlin. The three Hollands Embassadors are gone from London to Oxfoord, but they have not yet saluted the Parliament ; they will begin at the King. They sent to the French Ambassador to come and see him, but with this condition that they might have the right hand. The reason was that Harrocourt had no Comission for Ambassador, only the Queen sent for him to come hither to negotiat the foirsaid bisnes, as a frend. But Monsieur de Harrocourt sent them word ‘ If they come they shal be welcome, he wold sit still in a cheare, and there sould be taboretts set to them, in everie syd of him, for, said he, though I were no Ambassador, yet they know I am of one of the most illustrious houses into Christendome ;’ soma—the Hollanders came not. I belive they shall even effectuat as much as the French, for the Spaniseh Jointo will put there nose out of joynt, though there instructions, I heare, be not much for the advantage of the Parliament, if they can obtin there ends from the King ; they have received too much influence of the Prince of Orange’s affection, and, except other instructions be sent to them, they will find there paines but lost labor.

“ When I sent you my last letters the Parliament were verie low, but within these two months God has refresched us wonderfullie with the beames of His favor. We have had, by His mercy, sundrie victories—the relief of Hull ; the rooteing of my Lord of Newcassel’s horse by my Lord Manchester and Sir

Thomas Fairfax ; the taking of Gainsborie ; the taking of Grafton Castle, and defeating five hundred men ther, and all prisoners ; the taking of Arondell Cassell, where were eleven hundred horse and foote, canons and amunition and armes, and all prisoners ; the defeat at Alton of a thousand, and all prisoners ; the defeat of the enemy att Nottinghamhe ; and latelie, the greatest that was yet, Sir Thomas Fairfax and Sir William Brureton have defeat the King's armie att Nantwich, consisting of five thousand foote, eighteen hundred horse, and six pieces of canons. The horse were comanded by my Lord Biron (somwhyle Sir John Biron), your frend ; he fled away manfullie, and all his horse for the most part, but all the foote were taken or killed ; there were eighty Officers taken, high and low, six Colonels, and the rest the paper will schew you more particularlie. And now to rejoice our hearts, our Scotts armie are come in, but how far they are advanced we cannot tell, the enemy lyes between us and intelligence. God make us thankfull for these and all other His mercies. There is a great confusion amongst them at Oxfoord. When they heard of this defeat of these English-Irish rebels in Chescheyr, ther was a meeting of some Lords and Commons at Oxfoord ; they mett upon the 22 of Januarij, but it was a Parliament for one day, the King heard of such propositions framing amongst them that he was faine to prorogue it; they wold have Bristell, Dickbie, German, Cottinton, and Porter apprehended, but it was prevented, yet they sent a letter to my Lord of Essex, subseriyved with forty-five Lords, a hundred and two of these that were of the Comons-house, the Prince of Walles, the Duke of Yorke, and Prince Rupert, desiring his Lordship to motion to those that employed him, that they wold send some propositions of peace to the King, and, if they were reasonable, no doubt he wold hearken to them. A Committee was ordained for that purpose, who wold return no answeare, onlie sent them the Covenant and the Declaration of both Kingdomes, sealed up; and my Lord-Generall wrot to Ruthven that he had received a note from him, wherin he makes no mention of the Parliament, but he wold spend the last drop of his blood in defence of the Relligion, Parliament, and Libertie; and no more he wold say. Duck Hamilton, his servants al removed from him, is in Perdenness Castle in Cornwell; my Lord of Limerick is escaped and is now with our Comissioners at London expecting with the first and best occasion to go to Scotland. It is wel known they had a mind to exalt the Popish house of Abercorn, but I houp they will misse of there mark. The rich Lord Pawlet, haveing lent the King manie thousand pounds, and had a great comand, because he was not active anuf, and had no more monie, is cassired and in a cloud, and my Lord Biron in his place ; his Lordship is now retired to Bristoll. Manie wold come in to the Parliament, if they could come without danger ; Sir Edward Direng and one other are come. My Lords of Holland and Bedford ran away to the King when the Parliament was low, but they were so abused at Oxfoord that they returned with schame annf, and now they have taken the Covenant, but are not admitted to the House ; they say that none that fled away from the Parliament, shal be received again. The Comittee for the King's revenues will not part with one pennie to help those that are lik to sterve heir, of the King's servands, so you may think what speed the absents will come. Mr. Robert Bruce payes me wonderfull evill, if you go to Edinburgh, do what you can to help it. I am hardly delt, withall, for my pension, though others come speed anuf, both men and women. I have deserved better of my countrey, but my reward is in heaven.

“ This my heartlie comendations and services to yourself, my vertuous sister, a madame la mere, and the children. I rest your affectionat sone and humble servand—for reasons I do not subserve it, but

“ YOU KNOW WHO I AM.”

This letter is also from Sir John Seton :—

“ To his honorable frend SIR ROBERT GORDON, Knycht and Baronett, one of His Majestie’s Privie Counsel for the Kingdome of Scotland. Att Gordonston in the North.

“ LONDON, the 27th of April 1644.

“ HONORABLE AND LOVING FATHER,—I received two of yours, the one dated the 6th, the other the 23 of Januarij ; since that time I have written to you sundrie times, but now I have found the occasion of one goeing to Aberdin, and with him I sent this packett.
I should be glad to hear from you how things goe ther in the North, I am perswaded as bad as your unhappie kinred can make them, but I trust in God He will delyuer His Church from all the malice and power of there enemies, wherof the Gordons are, as they ever have bin, the cheefest in that kingdome ; doubtles they will get ther own reward. I pray you let me heare of all passages, with the best occasion.
Your litle pamphlet, you desyr, I have sent it hier with the rest, and if I could doe you anie better service
I also should be als reddie for it.

“ As for news heir The Weekly Intelligence I have sent you, will inform you particularlie, onlie, the Queen is gon and is now at Bristoll with my Lord German and Henrie Percie—who is my Lord of Anwick. The Gouverour of Glocester, Massi, took some of Her Majestie’s cariages, as we heare ; what was in them I know not. Whether her Majestie intends farther, we can not tell, but we imagine hir course will be to France or Ireland, but rether to France. Shee wold fain had the Prince with hir, but the Counsell at Oxfoord hindered that. Ther be some propositions of peace framing by the Comitee of both Kingdomes, and are to be given in to the Parliament, the first of May, but we have small houpes of agreement. My Lord Connoway, who has left Oxfoord, sayes, and he will take it on his conscience, they intend nothing at Courte but subverscion of Relligion and Lawes to bring in Poperie and Tirannie ; and thus you may imagine what is to be expected by anie treatie, except they can doe no otherwayes. The Queen is verie ill, she is als lean as can be—nothing but skin and boan upon hir, and great with chyld. Duck Hamilton is in Perdinnis Castle still (never was ther a man of his qualitie so used, had he bin the greatest archtraitor alyve), and has never a servand with him ; Doctor Belze was once suffered to goe and see his Lordship, but he has none to attend him, yea he has not cheanged a schirt for sixteen weeks time ; they tooke all from him when he was put in that hole, and left him neither money nor clothes, linning nor woollen, but what was on his back, onlie they permitted his dog to go with him. God make him sensible of the steat of his soule, there is litle houpes that ever we shall see him alyve ! He put himself in this labarinth, houping and trusting in his master's faver that he might have a faire tryall, which is denyed him. Sir William Waler lyes with eight thousand men at Fernum ; Sir Ralf Hopton has gotten afoote again, after he was once beaten off the field, not far from Winchester, and lyeth for the present at Basinstok ; and Prince Maurice at Salesburie. My Lord Fairfax defeat fifteen hundred horse and eighteen hundred foote at Selbie, and took the comander prisoner (Mr. Bellis was he, who is Gouverour of Yorke) ; two thousand armes were gotten ther, and above a hundred and twenty officers prisoners ; what canons and amonition they had, was taken ; it was one of the greatest victories that ever the Parliament-forces gained since the warr began. My Lord of Newcassell is now in Yorke with five thousand foote and four thousand horse ; our armie joyned with my Lord Fairfax at Wedderbie, the 20th of Apryl, and this victorie at Selbie was upon the 10th of that same month, and they are both together before Yorke keeping him in there. Our armie followed my Lord Newcassell at the heils, who thought to have beat my Lord Fairfax befor the Scots armie could hinder him, but upon his march our horse and his was at daylie skirmishing, where manie of his were made prisoners, and manie stole away from him by nicht.

“ My Lord-Generall, the Lord of Essex, his armie is daylie recruteing and marching to his rendezvous, which was apointed at Elsburie ; but, because Prince Rupert is gon down with a great power to joyne with my Lord of Newcassell (hardlie can he do it), it is apointed elswer, therfor my Lord of Manchester is wayting upon him with his armie of about eight thousand strong, and lyes about Stamford attending what course Prince Rupert takes, who for the present, we heare, is in Schropshyre. Piccolomini, the King of Spain his generall, is at Oxfoord ; he sent to my Lord-Generall for a passe to Dover, which he sent him. The Resident of Spain desyred of the Parliament he might come to London ; that was not granted, neither the convoy to Dunkirk as he demanded. The King of Denmark is in an il condition ; he himself comands the armie about Zeland be Copenhagen ; the Prince comands his armie upon the other syd of the Sound (where Gustavas Horn keeps him in, in a town), and can not get out ; the second sone, Bichop of Bremen, comands in Holstein. Ther be manie schips of the Esteats goeing to the Sound ; and Swaden is verie strong by sea lykweys. Ragotsi, Prince of Transilvania, doth the Emperor great displeasur in Hungarie. We see no part of Christendome free from war ; the Lord bring His Church pure and florischeng out of the womb of these troubles ! I could wreat other particulars which must not be intrusted to pen or paper, till the oportunitie of time bring them forth to the view of the world.

“ Thus having done what I can say in generall, you must collect particulars out of the papers. Your daughter will wreat to you herselfe, so that I have no more to say but to remember my best affections and services to yourselfe, my most verteous sister, and all your fyne childrin, and wish Lodowick all helth and happines with his new-maried wyfe. And so I rest, Noble Father, your most affectionat sone and humble servand,

“ YOU KNOW WHOM.”

The Scots Committee of Estates published an Act for enforcing a general loan of moneys throughout the country. Lord Burleigh was President of the Sub-Committee at Aberdeen, and Robert Farquhar of Munie, writer of the following letter, was “Collector for the north parishes of the kingdom :”—

“To the right worschipfull SIR ROBERT GORDONE off that Ilk, Knight-Baronet—This :

“ ABERDEEN, 19 August 1644.

“RIGHT HONORABLE SIR,—Yours I did receave on Fryday at night. I have gotten nothing done with Buckie;<sup>1</sup> he is ane slow man and a dreich debiter. Our Comittee, I think, goes from heir about the 2 of September, towards Banff, from that, to Elgin. They are urging me to go alongs with them, which I press to shun iff I can, but I fear, will I will I, I must go.

“This day Burley resaved a letter from the Chancellor, who wrytts that he was to tak jorney towards

<sup>1</sup> Mr. Gordon of Buckie.

London this samyn day, being chosen be the Parliament as a Comissioner. He says our Generall with his armie lyes about Newcastle on this side the river, and Calander on the uther syd, and that it can not stand long out, being so long since Gaitsyd was tacken in. Lord Sinclair lyes in Hartlepool with his regiment. He wrytts Prince Ropert is in Westmorland and Cumberland gathering up the dispersit armie again of Newcastle and King, and waitting thair ffor greatter power to com to him ffor the relieff of Newcastle-towne ; bot it is thought er now it is tacken in. My Lord Montroes<sup>1</sup> is denyit to have any comand over the Inglische, because it is said to him they can hardlie trust him who was not trew to his own natione. Crawford and Lord Reay ar in Newcastle, as is reported. It is wwritten that the Lord Ogilvie is laitlie com privatelie home to Scotland. Upon Seterday at night, Mr. Forbes, Cornet to Cragivar's troop, rancountering leit with Kineusie-Irving<sup>2</sup> (a declairit rebell and fugitive) at the Crabstone, becaus he wold not be tacken, slew him dead. I end with the paper, not forgetting my loveing salutations to your worship, to your Ladye, and hopefull children ; God's grace be with you and them. Ever I rest, your worship, as brother at comand,

“MR. ROBT. FARQUHAR.”

<sup>1</sup> In less than a month after the above was written, Montrose marched into Aberdeen, and Farquhar fled out of it.

<sup>2</sup> Mr. Irving of Kineusie.

A document titled "Compt off moneys decernit to be lent upon publick securitie be the Comittees off Process and Moneys, and to have been payit to Mr. Robert Farquhar, be the severall persons underwryttin, in anno Jajvie and fourtie sex years" (1646), proves that these demands were in many cases most exorbitant ; for instance, William Robertson of Kin-deace, in the county of Ross, and his two sons, were ordered to advance £72,500 Scots ; from the Mackenzies also large sums were demanded, but they did not obey, for Farquhar credits himself thus :—"Item, of the loan moneys above set down, ther is yet restand unpayit, and whareoff no payment can be gotten, as followeth, viz., be the name of Mackenzie, sixteen persons, the soume of £28,666, 13s. 4d." (Scots.)

Many gentlemen, also, were fined by the Sub-Committees at Aberdeen and Dundee ; after stating that the "Suma both of fyns and loan moneys above set down, extends to the soume of £135,633, 6s. 8d., Scottes money," Farquhar gives his disbursements, from which we select the following :—

"Debursit be the said Compter, be warrands of the Comittees of Moneys and Process :—

Two moneths' sederunts to three Noblemen—

Merschell, Findlater, and Arbuthnet, in Scots.

Dundie, £200 monethlie, . . . . £1200 0 0

Two moneths' sederunts to two Barrons thair—

viz., the Lairds of Echt and Findourie, . . . 533 6 8

Two moneths' sederunts to two Burgesses thair—viz., Alexander Jaffray and James Pedie, . . . . .	£354	13	4
To Adam Wat, clerk, be precept, . . . . .	400	0	0
To William Downie, clerk, sicklyke, . . . . .	400	0	0
To John Boyes, canonier, be order of the comittee, . . . . .	30	0	0
Payit of charges conveying twelff flat-boddomit boatts from Dundie to Sanct-Jonstone, . . . . .	63	14	0
Expenss and hors-hyr sending my servand to Guthrie, at comand, ffor receaving the keys of the hous, when the Laird was taken and sent to Edinburgh, . . . . .	2	15	0
Payit fraught of the cannon and ammunitione sent from Dundie to Aberdein, and expenss in finding out ane bark at the imbarcking thairoff in Dundie, and putting out the samien in Aberdein, and my own servand his expenss going thairwith to Aberdein and returning be land to me to Dundie, . . . . .	63	18	0
To Captane Lytill, for the garisone of Inner- wharatie, ane boll of salt, . . . . .	4	0	0
Item, allowit be the comittee to the comptier ffor charges debursit be him, being sent from them from Dundie to the comittees at Linlithgo and Edinburgh, in Merche 1466, . . . . .	36	0	0
To Jhone Brown, chirugian, for curing four hurt and woundit sogers who had come from the fecht at Aberdein, . . . . .	30	0	0
To Jonet Guild ffor curing uther two woundit sogers, . . . . .	13	6	8
To David Thomsone, who attendit the comit- tee-door in Dundie, twelff weekks, ane dolar weeklie, . . . . .	34	16	0

Payit to messengers-of-armes ffor sumonding manie persons, sum complyars, sum to lend money, uthers as witness, . . . . .	£188	18	6
Item, to severall persons ffor informatione of men's estats and rents and moneys in bank, 5 dolors, 7 dolors, and 4 dolors, . . . . .	44	0	0
Item, payit, be order of Generall-Major Mid- deltone, for sex compleit cullors to Liveten- net-Colonell Blaw his Dragoons, conforme to compt, . . . . .	155	14	0
To the relict of William Nicolsone, Post, whom the Lord Gordone causit be hangit, beinge employit careying letters of the comittee of estats to Lievtenment-Generall Bailzie, . . . . .	200	0	0
Item, to the Earle off Findlater, in pairt of payment of fyve thousand merks ordeinit for him at Aberdein be the comittee, . . . . .	1000	0	0"

---

Farquhar had also been Commissary-Depute.<sup>1</sup> As showing the strength and pay of a Regiment we give another of his papers :—

“Accompt of my Lord Sinclair, Collonell of ane Regiment. What is due to his Lordship since the

<sup>1</sup> On the 23d September 1640, the magistrates of Aberdeen recorded their sense of the obligation they were under to Mr. Robert Farquhar “becaus he has releived the Toun of a burdine, be houlding a frie hous to General-Major Monro, dureing the hailt tyme of his remaining in Aberdene, the Toun being chairget and lyabill to have furnisht spyceries, salt, weshell-naiprie, bedding, fyir, and sundrie uther houshald stuff, for furnisheing his hous.”

aucht day of October Jayvie and fourtie yeires (1640) to the aucht day of Apryll Jayvie and fourtie ane yeires, ffor his Officers, Under-Officers, and Sogers, viz. :—

	SCOTS.
Four hundred and fourtie Sogers at 6 shillings ilk soger in a day, . . . . .	£23760	0	0
Twentie Corporalls at 8 shillings ilk corporall in a day, . . . . .	1440	0	0
Fourteen Serjands at 12 shillings ilk serjand
in a day, . . . . .	1512	0	0
Twentie-four Under-Officers at 10 shillings
ilk man in a day, . . . . .	2160	0	0
Ane Drumer-Major at £18 ilk moneth, . . . . .	108	0	0
Sex uther Drumers at £12 in the moneth, . . . . .	432	0	0 Ane Lieutenant-Collonell at £200 per
mensem, . . . . .	1200	0	0
Ane Major at 200 merks in the moneth, . . . . .	800	0	0
Fyve Captaines at £100 ilk captain in the
moneth, . . . . .	3000	0	0
Sex Leivtenments at £45 ilk leivtenment in the moneth, . . . . .	1620	0	0
Sex Ansenzies at £35 ilk ansenzie in the
moneth, . . . . .	1296	0	0
Ane Chirugian at £45 in the moneth, . . . . .	270	0	0
Ane Quarter Maister and Secretarie at £36 to ilk ane of them in the moneth, . . . . .	432	0	0
Twentie Rydderes at 6 shillings ilk man for a day, . . . . .	2880	0	0
Suma,	£40910	0	0"

In the spring of 1645, Elgin was in possession of the Covenanters, but after their defeat in May, at the battle of Auldearn, the town fell into the hands of the Marquis of Montrose, who burned and destroyed the houses and properties of all whom he supposed to be enemies to the Royal cause ; thus the inhabitants had suffered from both parties. We presume that the purport of the following letter was to crave protection from a threatened fresh attack on the town by Lord Aboyne, who was an ardent supporter of the Marquis :—

To the Rycht Honourable

SIR ROBERT GORDOUN of Gordounstoun.

“ ELGIN, the 4 December 1645.

“ RYCHT HONOURABLE,—Our service rememberit. We heir that my Lord Aboynd and sum uthers ar to cum to this cuntrey ; to what end we know nocht. Thairfor we may be bold with you, as we have bein befor, to requeist you to tak sum paynes for the saiffitie of this poor desolat toun, and to represent to thaim the miseries thair of, and thair sufferings this twelff-month bygame, to the effect that we be not over-burdenit, for verie littill now will put us clein out of breath. Ye will also be pleasit to call for David Dunbar, and tak him with you as ye did befor, for none knows our estaitt better.

“ So, recommending you to the protectione of God, we rest your loving freinds and servands,

“ MR. J. HAY, Provest of Elgin.

NICHOLAS DUNBAR, Ballie.

GEORGE CUMING, Bailzie.

T. CALDER, Ballaie.”

---

Lord Lewis Gordon, son of the Marquis of Huntly, being more of a Reiver than a Warrior, pillaged the country, at the head of a band of armed followers. Before sunrise on the morning of the 13th February 1647, he made his appearance at Elgin, the magistrates of which town thought it prudent to pay worship to his Lordship's relative, the “ Knycht Barronat :”—

“ To the Rycht Honourable, our speeciall guid freind,

SIR ROBERT GORDOUN of that Ilk, Knycht-Barronat, &c.

“ ELGIN, the 14 of Februarij 1647.

“ RYCHT HONOURABLE SIR,— Our service rememberit. Pleis we receavit your worschip's answer, and has considrit the effect thairrof. We ar sorie that your worschip is so tender, and that we suld be so fais-chious to your worschip. Thir presents ar, off new, again intreatting your worschip, that iff it mycht be possebill, that your worschip mycht cum in, the morrow, als tymlic as ye culd, that we mycht have your worschip's counsell and opinion in this matter betwix my Lord Lues and us ; your worschip wald do us ane singular favour, and oblige us to your worschip. We confes it is nocht the first of your worschip's favours conferrit upon us where your worschip sall have us ever your worschip's servands to command ; and, referring all to your worschip's consideration in the premissies, comitt your worschip to God's protectione, and sall remayn your worschip's, at all powar to serve you, “GEORGE CUMING.

W. LAYNG.

WILLIAM FALCONER.

T. CALDER.”

Having beheaded the King, the people were now under the iron rule of Cromwell :—

“Suffer the bearer, Robert Cumminge,<sup>1</sup> Laird of Alter, junior, to pas and repas about his negotiations, and to carrie a pistell for his personall defence, and to make use of a fflowlinge-peece<sup>2</sup> for his recreation, providid he act nothingse prejudiciale to His Hignes—The Lord Protector.

<sup>1</sup> Cumming married, contract dated 27th April 1666, Lucy, eldest daughter of Sir Ludovick Gordon, and their descendant (the editor's maternal grandfather) eventually succeeded to the Gordonston estates.

<sup>2</sup> An expert use of the “ffowlinge-peece” seems to be hereditary in the Altyre family ; the present Baronet ranks amongst the foremost game shots in Scotland, and every one has heard of the exploits of his late brother, Rounalyn Gordon Cumming, the Lion-Hunter.

“ Given under my hand and seale, at Aberdeen, 7th August 1656.

“ GEO: MORGAN.

“ The said Mr. Cumminge beinge one of the Justices of Peace within the Shyre of Kincardon, I doe permit him to keep one hors above the vallue.

“ G. M.”

V. SCHOLASTICAL AND BIBLIOTHECAL.

SIR ROBERT GORDON dismissed the young Earl of Sutherland's pedagogue, and intrusted the boy's education to Mr. John Gray, Dean of Caithness, notwithstanding that Lord Elphinston, the Earl's maternal grandfather, had wished to get the situation for "one of the family." Here is a letter from the dismissed pedagogue :—

"To the right worshipfull SIR ROBERT GORDON of that Ilk, Knycht-Barronet, Tutour of Sutherland, to be sent to him be Sir William Alexander, Secretarie at Court<sup>1</sup> for the affairs of Scotland, thess in haist—Haist.

"EDHRE, 28 Marche 1626 yeirs.

"RIGHT WORSHIPFULL SIR,—On the 25 of this Marche your worship's letters cam to my Lord and me, of the date at London the 16 of Marche, shawing of your saif arryvell ther, wheroff we wer glad to hear ;

<sup>1</sup> "The Gentlemen in Waiting" at Court dined early, as appears by the following address :—"To My honored Sir Robert Gordon, one of the Gentlemen of His Majestie's Privie Chamber. You shall find him either in the Gentlemen of the Privie Chamber's chamber or at his diner, about alevin of the klok, with the Waiteres ; or give it to his man, from me."

as also acquainting us with M'y<sup>1</sup> his new preferment ; befor your worship's letters some ten dayes, he got his patent past be the Counsell, and his Colonelshipe established ; er the wryting of thir presents he is returned North ; he has provydet divers brav gentlemen as Captains, to the number of XII or XIII, and has all in good readines. Your worship having givin me my leave at your depairting, I was incertain what cours to follow, bot er I stayed at home without som honest chairge, I was myndit to try my fortun in France. I took verie hardlie and onkyndlie that your worship sould have bestowed no support on me ; manie in Suthirland and therabout, have protectioun (being outlaws), and others not so naturall to your worship, have benefit and pentioun, albeit (as the fame goes current) they be robbers of the countrey and devourers of the simple husbandmen's labors ; in a day of your worship's neid and credit ther wold be a far choise betwix the service of those runaways and your worship's owen frends, who, howsoevir your worship has mistaken them now, wold spend ther hart-blood for your honor ; and those of whom now you mak so much, wold be als trewe to your worship as they wer to your worship's forbears. Treuth it is, it is not my pairt to preseryve a rull to onie man how to distribut his owen, for your worship may do with your owen what you pleas, bot I most be excused to put your worship in mynd, this second tyme in wryt, of my two hundreth merks your worship witholdes becaus the bishop gav me two chalders victuall. If your worship had bestowed onie support on me at your depairting, I wold nevir hav mentioned this, bot seing your worship has used me both by<sup>1</sup> my expectatioun and desert, I most be excused to seik my owen. I taught my Lord thrie yeirs in Suthirland, I nevir as yit got onie mor benefit bot one hundreth merks (your worship has my dischairge on no mor), so ther rests to me two hundreth merks, for the workman is worthie of his hyr. Iff your worship will not caus pay it now, I hop my Lord will somtyme considder it. My fyv yeirs attendance deserved a greater bountae, bot I could verie hardlie expect such honorable considerationes as noblemen of our countrey gives to ther pedagogs, and that be the conditionall modification of ther wyse fathers, tutors, and freinds, who godlilie and honorablie considers that a man of onie good qualities, being a scholler, ought to be respected for his long paines, with some honest meiting atover his fie that he gets in the interim of his service, mor than a comon Jackman, as I have bein met with, who have gotten my fies evile-payd and my leav without bountae. I send a lettir to your worship with Mr. Jhon Drummond heirant. I pray your worship use me not so hardlie as to withhold my right, especiallie the recompence of such an honorable chaarge; the world thinks it sould, of all my Lord's debts, be most thankfullie payed, and when his Lordship comes to yeares he will think it best bestowed that is given for his educatione, and those ought not to be put to the worse who attendet his Lordship. I can wryt no mor in this mater, nor mynds to notifie onie thing therin, till I reseav your worship's answer. I hop your worship will not put me to the worse, nor tak so muche from me who am lippeden to God's providence and my owen shift. Iff my Lord, your worship's brother, that is with God, wer alyv, I wold not hav bein put from his sone's attendance for the pleasur of all the tym-taking and dissembling Grays in Suthirland (who ar and evir hav bein verie flatterers—the sones of Janus, who as they hav two faces so hav they two harts), nor yit for onie other man's particular. Those who hav discendet of my goodshir hav caus atover others to bewaill and mise his Lordship. I will not, nor can not, forget his Lordship's promise to me in St. Andros (his Lordship being ther in ward), having promised to me his sone's attendance, and other good promotions, provyding I wold prov a scholler; bot God has taken his Lordship to glorie, albeit in som pairt to my miserie, blissed be God for all. Bot look, Sir, the worst of my service be not the best you get from a stranger. Bot I will acquiese in the favour I had of the defunct Lord, and for his caus prov als thankfull to his son, in what I can, as iff I wer evir about him ; nather wold I hav returned from his Lordship with a toom and emptie hand, being myndet of the countrey, for it might bein said of his Lordship as the Romans said of Trajan, ther Emperor, Nemo unquam discessit tristis a facie Imperatoris.<sup>1</sup> Bot leaving this theme to your worship's wisdome, I can not tell what to wryt, how divers thinks that your worship sould not setled a new attendant, at lest named one, to succeid after me, and defrayed my Lord's chairges in this town at your worship's being heir. We can get no money from Suthirland, we hav wrettin thither thrie severall tymes, and, be my Lord Elphinstoun's advyse, hav sent a boy, of set purpos, with letters to bring moneys. Our creditors ar still running on my Lord, he has not to give them, and they in Suthirland hears not our necessitie ; the chal-mirland's answer returned was 'that all the money gettablle was taken away by yourselff, he had obeyed the Tutor, and my Lord sould hav of the first could be gotten, and what tyme of yeir was it to seik money from Suthirland now !' how this answer was interpret be them hard it (of his neglect of my Lord, of his onlie obedience to your worship, and, seing your worship had taken all away, that he had no moneys to give my Lord) I pas hear, as long and not pleasant to wreit; albeit he had favoured your worship nevir so muche, he sould not have broght himselff in suspitioune so soon to my Lord. The other point, about my Lord's attendant, is no les controverted; my Lord Elphinstoune will hear of non bot of his sister-sone (he has now hit the mark he long aimed at, viz., to displaice me and install a man of his owen); to his owen effect — 'Iff he be not inclyned to the Religioune of Rome what exceptionne can be had against him, he is my Lord Suthirland's owen nere kinsman and cousen-german, a verie gentleman' (and manie such arguments), 'he sall be once put in, who can put him out, for he will nevir be papist, etc. etc.' In the mean tyme, I can not bot remember to your worship the weght of this particuler, abov onie other; will my Lord now be rulled be a verie youth, or stand in aw, and reverence him who, this two yeirs since evir they wer acquainted, was used to do reverence, homage, obedience, and stand with hat in hand, to his Lordship; or sall one bairn wyislie rulle an other? How can a man rulle an other (especiallie a noblle to whose breiding much belongs), who can hardlie rulle himselff? Barbatus regere deberet imberbem, et non imberbis imberbem,<sup>1</sup> a young Nero ought to hav a grav Seneca, and not, lyk Dionisius, to hav a young Plotin. Mr. Jhon Rae will not meddell in the mater. I was myndet to propos to my Lord Elphinstoune two grav sage men of experience and undirstanding, who, both, at Whitsonday ar making to Fraunce, bot on good conditions, I think, onie of them may be keiped, especiallie to suche an honorable chaarge, one is Mr. David Fentoun, presentlie in service with the Master of Kellie teaching his young sone, the other Mr. Robert Hepburn, pedagog somtyme to young Waghtoune,<sup>1</sup> bot, I finding my Lord Elphinstoune so bent on his sister-sone, I meddled no mor in the mater. Treuth it is, whill I was heir I had manie overseirs, all my scapes wer registrat be my Lord Elphinstoune, and manie faults eiked wheroff I was not guiltie; he ceases not to eike complaint to complaint. But now I will inquyr of your worship, seing my Lord Elphinstoune puts a man to my Lord Suthirland, of his chosing, iff that man sinn (as we ar all sinners), who sall wreit that sinn to your worship, or who bear witnes of his cariage? It will be long, I hop, er he faill in his duetic, and far longer er your worship heare theroff, so that, all being passed over with silence, the man will be worthie of great reward; bot iff your worship had forsein the particuler my Lord Elphinstoune aimed at, this long tyme, for his sister-sone, and the Grays for the naturall enimitie they hav at the preferment of onie vassall in Suthirland to ryse above themselffs, your worship wold had greater cair to keip your owen freind in preferment, rather than cast him down to advance onie of thers. A man may hav a worse fault than be a lover of good Catholicisme, he may be a papist bot also a far better moralist, a better civilian, and mor virtuouslie and austerlie disposed than licentious puritans. I could not choose bot set down this, taking God to witnes, be this present lettir, of the cair I hav of my Lord's good and vertuous breiding, and of the earnest wishes I hav of his Lordship's good and honest educatione, that seing I am secludet from his Lordship's fellowship and attendance, yet my good wishes can not be hinderet, till breath faille and hinder my lyiff. So ending this purpos, having no certentie of estait at Whitsunday (your worship withholding that which wold helped me to Fraunce), I am in termes, and lyk to agrie, with M'y to go in his service in this expeditione over the sea; neid has no law—your worship has driven me from the Muses and books to Mars and the camps.

<sup>1</sup> Sir Donald Mackay, afterwards created Lord Reay, obtained permission from Government to levy men, and to transport them under his command to Germany, to assist Count Mansfield. In a few months' time he assembled about three thousand men, and embarked them at Cromertie, in October 1626.

<sup>1</sup> By here means beyond.

<sup>1</sup> No one ever left the presence of the Emperor, sad.

<sup>1</sup> It is fit that a bearded man should govern the beardless, and not one beardless boy, another.

<sup>1</sup> Mr. Hepburn younger of Wauchton.

“Always, to your worship's answer, and that in haist to all those points, I commit your worship to God, and rests evir your worship's humble servand, and poor kinsman, to be comandet to death,

“A. GORDOUN.”

---

We are unable to give any information regarding the writer of the following letter, but he seems to have resided at Perth, formerly St. Johnston :—

“ To his honorable and worthie freind SIR ROBERT GORDON, Knight Barronet, and one of His Majestie’s Privye Chamber, at his house within the Close of the Cathedrall-churche of New Sarum. These be, &c.

“ JOHNSTON, the 16 of Januarie 1629.

“HONORABLE AND RIGHT WORSHIPFULL,—My most humble and harte dutye remembered. These few lynes doe I send unto your honour; as a remembrancer of the placing my sonne, Robert, in Westminster Schoole, that you wold be pleased to be informed of the manner theirof (either by Mr. Patrick Yong or some other that can throughlie informe you theirott, and sett you in the right course of obtaining the same), and if His Majestie’s letters of comendation are requisit, or whether the Duike of Lenox or the Dutchess of Richmont will be sufficient to the Bishoppe of Leichfield, or any neyrer way you can learne; if any of these latter wayes will prevaile, that then it wold please your honor to deale with Mr. Haitly to purchase any of the aforesaid letters comendatory, and tell him that I will be very thankfull to him for his paines.

“The first year (if I be rightlie remembered), as I was informed, he must be a Comoner or Probationer; as to that I am content if I may gett him preferred the next year following, for I will be at charges either to boord him in the schoolemaster's owne house or in some other house of my acquaintance. If you talk with the schoolemaster himselff, your honor may tell him that he is about XIII yerees of age, that he hath learned all his Latine-gramer two or three times over, and doth understand the same. At this spring, by God's grace, I will enter him into his Greek. He doth learne, besid, Virgill and Terence, and some of Tullie's orationes. He maketh two exercises a week, the one in translating Latine into Englishe, and the other in making of Latine.

"Thus, honorable and worthie Sir, am I bold to trouble you, trusting to find your favour and furtherance to be as effectuall and prosperous for my child as I have often found it for myselff; in doing whairof, you shall for ever both farther oblige me and him, and all myn, to pray to God for the continuance of God's gracious blessings upon your honor and all your's in secula seculorum, amen.

"My wife and all of us doe remember our humble dutye to yourselff, my Lady your bedfellow, to Madam your mother; and our hartist salutationes to all your sweet litle children, whom I pray God to blesse. I rest you honor's poore and trule loving freend, at all power to be commanded,

"JOHN SHARPE."

The Regiam Majestatem is considered a most valuable work :—

“My Lord Register his discharge upone the resait of 100 lb for prenting of the Buik of the Majestie. 18 Merche 1612 :—

“I, Sir Johonne Skene of Curriehill, Knycht, Clerk of Register, grantts me to have ressavit frae Sir Robert Gurdoun of Kynmonowie, Knycht, in name and behalf of ane nobill and potent Erle, Johonne, Erle of Suthirland, the soume of ane hundreth punds, Scotts money, ffor his pairt of the contributioun appoynttit be the nobilitie of this realme, for imprinting of the auld laws of Scotland. Of the which hundreth punds money for the caus forsaid, I hald me weill contentit and payit, and discharges the said nobill Erle, and all others whome it effeirs, thairof, be thir presents subscrivit with my hand, at Edinburgh, the aughtene day of Merche the yeir of God jayvjc and twelf yeirs, befor thir witnesses, Johonne Gurdoun—apperand of Sidderay, Alexander Lyntoun—servand to the Master Elphingstoun, and Abacuch Bissett—writtare hierof, and James Curle—burgess of Edinburgh.

“JOHNE<sup>1</sup> SKENE, with my hand.

“Alexander Lyntoun, witnes.”

---

<sup>1</sup> A Baronet, or a Knight, prefaced his signature with a flourish of the pen, like the letter S.

There being no bookseller in the far North, the worthy minister (then Dean of Caithness, we think,) got a friend to purchase books for him in London :—

“ Ane Catolloge of Buiks, delyvered to Sir Robert Gordoun be Mr. John Gray, Minister at Dornoch, to be coft at London.—13th September 1633.

“ Imprimis, Cotton’s Concordance in Ingleise, according to the King’s translatioun, of the finest letter.

“ Item, Jacksoun on the Parabils of the Gospell.

“ Item, Smith on the Twentie-ane Spalme.

“ Item, Waires Sermones.

“ Item, Doctor Herpher on the Hundrith and nyntein Spalme.

“ Item, Playfer his Sermones.

“ Item, Hary’s Sermones.

“ Item, The best lait wreittir on the Hystorie of the Churche, eithier Ingleise or German.

“ MR. JO : GRAY.”

VI. NOBLE AND EXEMPLARY WIVES.

THE Duchess whose generosity is recorded, was Frances Howard, widow of Ludovic, second Duke of Lennox,<sup>1</sup> and granddaughter of the Earl of Surrey<sup>2</sup> who commanded the English army at the battle of Flodden. The recipients of her Grace's bounty were Esme, third Duke of Lennox, and his son, James, afterwards fourth Duke :—

“A note of such things as my Lady Duches of Richmond and Lenox gave to her brother—the late Duke of Lenox, and his sonne—the Lord Darnly, which were hers by lawe, being mouvables, but she freelye gave them to him, for the maintenance of him and the House of Lenox after him, out of her dutie to her decessed Lord, and her love and care of the House of Lenox.

“1. The proffittes of the Patents of the Vinage<sup>3</sup> after

<sup>1</sup> He died in February 1624.

<sup>2</sup> Afterwards Duke of Norfolk.

<sup>3</sup> The Vinage was the privilege of supplying the King's household, in England, with French and Gascon wines, but the holder of this monopoly had to pay £900, yearly, to the Crown.

seaven yeares, after which time there wil bee ffortie-twoe yeares to come. Her Grace hath nowe for that, ffloure and twentie hundred pounds yearelye, the King's rent paid, but afterwards it wil bee a greate deale more.

“ 2. The Patent of the Greenwax<sup>1</sup> in present (which is fifteen hundred pounds yearelye), for one and twentie yeares, and three thousand pounds of arrerages payable out of the Hamper.

“ 3. The Patent of the Newcastle coles,<sup>2</sup> for one and twentie yeares.

“ 4. The Patent of Sweete-wines and Sugars, for one and twentie yeares.

“ 5. The thirds of Settrington, Cobham, and all other lands and leases in England.

“ 6. The thirds of the whole Dukedome of Lenox ; of all of which my Lord Duke of Richmond was seized, and so her Grace was capable of the thirds of them all ; but my Lord Duke of Lenox that last died, was not seized of any.

“ 7. My Lord's Collar of Esses<sup>3</sup> with a George of diamonds at it ; three other Georges and Garters ;

<sup>1</sup> Green wax used for Seals of State.

<sup>2</sup> Newcastle coals on entering the port of London, were taxed to support the House of Lennox ; the tax was bought up by the Corporation of London, within the last few years, from the late Duke of Richmond, who, however, was not a descendant of the old House of Lennox.

<sup>3</sup> The Collar of the Order of the Garter is called a collar of S.S. ; but the Collar of S.S. belongs especially to the great Order of the Golden Fleece—the most noble in Europe.

which is all he had excepte one which is upon his Effigies at Westminster.

“8. My Lord’s riche swoorde sette with stones.

“9. My Lord’s robes and twoe scales.

“10. All the furniture which belonged to my Lord’s Lodgings of the Gatehouse at Whitehall ; with a wrought bed that had been my Lady Margaret Lenoxes, and of her working ; with a great bason and ewer that the French King gave my Lord ; three guilt candlestickes and two guilt bowlles upon the cupborde.

“11. All my Lord’s progresse stuffe ; a red bed, with chairs and stooles suiteable to it ; and hangings and carpettes for the bed chamber and dining-chamber.

“12. Three rich coaches, whereof one of yellow velvet, another of yellow satten imbrodered with ffleur delices of black velvet and gould, the third of black and yellow figurde satten ; six rich imbrodered coates ; six livery clokcs, whereof three for coachmen, and three for groomes, all which were never used ; and foure coache-horses.

“13. Five hundred pounds in money, which my Lady had lent to my Lord Duke of Lenox, whereunto he promised to put as much more together with the three thousand pounds arrerages of the Greenwax, to bee employed towards a portion for his daughter the Ladye Elizabeth Stewart.”<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Her Ladyship married, in December 1626, Thomas, Earl of Arundel.

Dame Margaret Home was elder daughter of Alexander, first Earl of Home, and wife of James, fourth Earl of Moray. What the Countess calls "the iniquitie of the tyme," was, in reality, the extravagance of her husband :—

"Be it kend to all men be thir present letters, Wee, Dame Margaret Home, Countes of Murray, forsameikle as be the iniquitie of the tyme, the debts and burdings of the Hous of Murray are greatlie increased, which gif it be nocht tymouslie prevented, it may turne to the utter ruine and overthrow of the Hous of Murray, therefor, and for the preventing of the samyn, and for the tender love and respect wee beare to our lord and husband, and his subsistance and his famelic, and for the love wee beare to our eldest sone, and his better subsistance, and also for the love wee carye to the rest of our childring, to the effect they may be better provyded, therefor, and for the caussis and respects fairsaids, to have renounced, quyt-claimed, up given, and over-given, lyk as wee, the said Dame Margaret Home, be thir presents, willinglye and frielye renounces, quyt-claimes, up-gives, and over-gives our lyfrent-right and conjunctie and uther tytle or richt that wee, the said Dame Margaret Home, can ask, clame, and prytend in and to the tounes and lands of Kintrea, Arldgye, Inchertellie, Ruiffes, and Roishauche, with housses, biggins, lands, tofts, crofts, partes, pendicles, and universall pertenenents of the samyn, used and wont, which lands ar ane parte of the Thaynedome of Murray, and lyand within the parochines of Alves and Spynie respective, and schirriefdome of Elgin and Forres, whairin wee, the said Dame Margaret Home, stands presentlye infeft in lyfrent and conjunctfie during all the dayes of our lyftyme, to and in favour of James, Earle of Murray—Lord Doun and Abernethie, &c. &c., our said husband, his aires and assignayes whatsumever; with full power to our said lord and husband to sell,<sup>1</sup> dispone, and wadsett the saids lands and uthers above written, with the pertenenents lyand as said is, as his Lordschipp or his foirsaidis sall think expedient, to whatsumever person or personnes, for defraying of his debts and burdings, als frielye in all respects as his Lordschipp micht have done befoir our lyferent-richts and conjunctfie of the samyn. Declairand, heirbye, that all richts and secureties, chartours and saisings, following thairupon, maed and grantit to us, the said Dame Margaret Home, be our said lord and husband upon the saids tounes and lands of Kintrea, Ardgyle, Inchestellye, Ruiffes, and Rois-hauch, with the pertenenents lyand as said is, in lyfrent and conjunctfie during all the dayes of our lyftyme as said is, sall be now, and in all tyme cuming, null and of naine availl, force, nor effect, aither in judgement or outwith the samyn, whairever the samyn sall happen heirafter to be produced. . . . And also, wee, the said Dame Margaret Home, be thir presents, binds and oblesis us to comperre judicialye befor any Judge competent within this nation, and his clark, and there, outwith the presence of our said lord and husband, ratifie and aprove this present renunciation in the heall heades, articles, claussis, and conditiones of the samyn, and sall give our solempne aith that wee are nocht coaxed nor compelled theirt to be our said lord and husband, and that wee sall never come in the contrar heirop. . . . In witnes whairof, wee have subservyed thir presents (written be Alexander Stewart, Writter in Elgin), with our hand, at Dunnibirsile, the day of October ane thousand sex hundreth fyftie and twa yeires, befor thir witnesses—John Skeene in Dunfermeling, Maister William Thomesoun and Alexander Ros, servitours to the said Countes of Murray, and Adame Young, inserter of the said witnes.

<sup>1</sup> The Earl sold the lands to Alexander, first Lord Duffus, from whose successor they were bought by Dunbar of Thunderton, who sold them, on the 25th July 1729, to the Duke of Gordon.

“M. MURRAY.

“William Thomsoun, witnes.

John Skeene, witnes.

Alexander Ros, witnes.”

VII. AN ORDER FOR DRESS; AN OFFER OF MARRIAGE; AND A MARRIAGE.

THE Countess of Sutherland, widow of John, thirteenth Earl, and daughter of Alexander, fourth Lord Elphinston, writes to her dressmaker :—

“ To my Richt Traist freind JOHNE HUNTER, tailzeor and burgess of Edinburgh—These :

“ DUNROBIN, 26 Feby. 1616.

“ TRAIST FREIND,—My heartlie commendationes remembred. Ye sall tak the panes to gang to annie merchand within the towne and tak off als meikill blak Ryssillis<sup>1</sup> as wil be ane doublet and skirt unto me, whilk ye sall mack and furnishe yourselff, and be cairfull ye mack of the newest faissone that is usit. Ye sall adverteiss me with the nixt occasione, of the pryces therof, and I sall send you siluer for the samen ; and, how soone it is ready, ye sall delyver the samen to my sister, my Lady fforbes, whome I haif wrettin to for to receave the samen. Ye sall lykways send me als meikill Perpetuona<sup>2</sup> as wil be ane gownd to my

<sup>1</sup> A fabric manufactured at Lisle, of which city the Teutonic name is Ryssel.

<sup>2</sup> A very strong fabric ; the name is expressive, being taken from the Latin word perpetuus — everlasting.

dochter Elizabethe, whilk, I think, sall be aucht or nyn elns, that be verie fyn and of ane good licht eulor, with pesments and buthones sutable therto, with silk ;
 and adverteiss me of the newest faissone, that I may caus mack the samen ; and, after ye adverteiss me of the pryces of the haill, I sall send sileur unto you.
 So, haifing no forder at this prisent, bot expects ye wil obey thir prisents, I comit you to God's protectione, and rests your assured good freind,

“ANNAS C. SUTHIRLAND.”

Here is her Ladyship's account :—

“The Ladie Suyrland's Compt, the 6 Appryll 1616
 yeirs, furnesit be Jon Huntar :

Item the first, maid and furneisit to your Ladieship ane doublet and skirt of Reisles grograme. Furneisit, to be the doublet and skirt, 4 ells and quarter Reisles grograme, at 53 shillings and 4 pence the ell, is .	Scots. £ s. d. 11 6 8
Item, 3 quarters poldawie to the doublet, .	0 15 0
Item, ane ell of bukrane to sleive the doublet with, . . . . .	0 12 0
Item, ane ell of balling, . . . . .	1 12 0
Item, 2 ell plading to be ane ply throwe the bodie and sleivs, . . . . .	0 16 0
Item, ane ell of plading to the sleivs, . . . .	0 13 4
Item, half ane ell of bukessie to lyne the taills,	0 6 8
Item, 6 drope of silk, . . . . .	0 13 6

Item, 4 dozen and half ditto of buttins, at 3	£	s.	d.
shillings the dozen, is . . . . .	0	13	6
Item, half ane quarter of teflitie to lyne the hands and neck of the doublet, . . . . .	1	0	0
Item, 10 quarters bukessie to lyne the skirt, at 13 shillings and 4 pence the ell, is . . . . .	1	13	4
Item, 6 drope of strings to the skirt, . . . . .	0	13	6
Item, for making doublet and skirt, . . . . .	2	10	0
Item, sending to your Ladieship, the same day, 10 ells of perpetuane, at your Ladieship's
comand, at 50 shillings the ell, is . . . . .	25	0	0
Item, 5 unce and half silk and palsments, at
36 shillings the unce, is . . . . .	9	18	0
Item, 4 dozen buttins, at 3 shillings the dozen, is . . . . .	0	12	0
Item, ane ell of bukrime, to palk upe your
Ladieship's doublet and skirt, . . . . .	0	13	4
Summa this Compt, . . . . .	£59	8	10"

Lady Jean Gordon was a daughter of John, fourteenth Earl of Sutherland, by his wife, Lady Jane Drummond, daughter of James, first Earl of Perth. Whether her Ladyship took the "good occation whill ofered," or ultimately refused the "gentillman," we know not. She was on a visit at Gordonston when she wrote, but she naturally wished the marriage to take place at Dunrobin, the residence of "my Lord," her father :—

“ This ffor the Right Worshipfull SIR LUDIVICK GORDON, of Gordonstoune. In Cromerty.

“ The 19 of Jany. 1657.

“ DEIR COUSING,—This gentillman, the berer heiroy, has bein att me, making offer of himself and fortoun to me ; and I, not being wholly att my owne disposing, has sent him to speek my father, and brother, and yourself, and Skibo,<sup>1</sup> with any other freinds you think fit to meit therupon, hoping you will se to my good in it. His estet, as he says, is five thusand mark a yeir, and he ofers me the half for my congenfie, which I think is very fair, considering the condission I ame in, for it is good taking an good occation whill ofered.
He does profes a great dell of love to me ; for my owne pairt, I could led my lyff with the man, for he sims to be a very deserving gentillman, and one I hop of a good disposition, and any thing he has is frie ; so that, cousing, when ye have met with the rest of the freinds theranent, and tryd how much ye can se it tend for my good, then accordingly I expects ye will be my freind and his both, for he intends to putt it to a poynt as soun as possibly can be, and if ye that are freinds command him to goe Suth, to speek any of my freinds there, I belive he will obay. So leving this busines, cousing, upon you to befreind, as ye se it for my good, who shall, for all your favours, indevor to

<sup>1</sup> Mr. Gray of Skibo.

aprove myself, as becometh her who is your most obedient cousing, to serve you, “JEAN GORDON.

“Cousing, if ye conclud on this busines er this berer return, I intret you move my brother to com this lenth to speek with me in businesis, for I know not how to get munis, and ther is an necessity of having it att such a tyme ; for, what he ows me of my mentinance, he must of nesity advance it befor hand, and more so if that be it goe on. I intret you to se what my Lord will doe ; if ye could move him to tak me hom and match me out of his owne house, albit never so privatly, for it will be a trubill to your mother to have it solemnised heir, albit never so privatly. I hop for your answer theranent by this berer ; he intends Suth, but he wold fain contract furst. Doe this as ye think fit (he, dutles, will give you all content) so that ye deminish non of my fornemid portion, ogment it as they ples.

Extract from a letter, dated Dunibristle, 6th August 1725, and written by Miss Ann Stuart,<sup>1</sup> niece of the Earl of Moray. The beautiful bride was Lady Susan Cochrane, daughter of the Earl of Dundonald :--

<sup>1</sup> Information regarding Miss Stuart and her correspondent may be seen in former series, page 117.

“Least you have not got a particuar account of my Lord Strathmore’s marriage, I will give you the best I can. He was the fondest lover that ever I saw, and, I believe, as fond a husband. He has got a very fine woman, I am persuaded, and, I think, extream handsome ; she has a mighty prity face, but indeed the siklyest pale one that can be ; she is tall, well shaped, and has a graceful easie genteel air. In my oppinion, take her altogether, she is not inferiour to her sister, Lady Katharine,<sup>1</sup> the famous beauty ; but the men are not of that mind, but many of the ladys are, and they are certainly nicer judges. My Lady Strathmore had a blue and silver rich stuff gown and petecoat ; a blue silk, trimmed to the pocket-holes with silver net ; and a pale yellow, trimmed with two row of open silver lace, about three nails deep each ; a green satin, trimmed with close and open silver lace, which she had before her marriage. She was married in white ; her fine Brussels-lace she got from London ; and she bought a great deal of lace at Edinburgh. She made no appearance after her marriage, except seeing the archers, for their coach was not come down from London, and they staid but a few days in toun. Her necklace is a very fine one as I have seen this great while, but her earring and other jewells were not come from London at that time.”

<sup>1</sup> Her ladyship married Alexander, sixth Earl of Galloway.

VIII. INVITATION TO THE FUNERAL OF A
COUNTESS, 1658; OBSEQUIES OF A LAIRD,
1663, AND OF A KNIGHT, 1666.

THE deceased Countess was wife of John, fourteenth Earl of Sutherland, who, if we may judge by the concluding part of his letter, thought that one good turn deserved another ; the address has been unfortunately torn off :—

“ DUNROBINE, the 29 July 1658.

“ RIGHT WORSHIPFUL,—The Lord having upon the 29th instant removed my consort from her pilgrimage to her eternal rest in the bosom of her Redimer, and, purposing through His good will to have her corps interd at Dornach, upon Tusday the 10th of Agust, I doe intret your worship may be here at Dunrobin, be 8 a cloke the day forsaide, for doeing her the last honore by convoieng her corps to the said burial-please, which will doe me ane singulare courtisie and ingadge me to doe the lyke upon ocesion ; and remenss, right worshipful, your worship’s servant and coosin,

“ J. SOUTHERLAND.”<sup>1</sup>

---

<sup>1</sup> This Earl always prefixed the initial letter of his Christian name to his signature.

We feel sure that the bereaved gentlewoman got the loan of the pall, and that the procession from the Kirk of Saint Giles to the Cathedral, was to the deceased Laird's "credit :"—

" ffor the Right Honourable

The LAIRD OF GORDONSTOUNE—These :

" BISHOPEMEILL,<sup>1</sup> the 29 of Januarij 1663.

" RIGHT HONOURABLE,—It has pleased the Lord to remove my husband, the Laird of Newtoun, from this lyffe to that eternall. Therfor these are seriouslie intreateing the favour as to honour his funeralls with your presence upone Scittherday, the last of this instant, betwix twellfe and one, frome Sant Julles Kirk to the Trenitie Church, to his beireall. I doe lykweis humbely intreat your honour for the leine of your mort-clothe ; for it is mor to his credit to have it nor the comone mort-clothe of Elgin, seing we expek sinderie of his freinds to be heire. So, to your honour's favorabill answer, and ever, I continew, as becometh, your honour's most humbell servand,

" JEAN CAMPBELL."

---

Sir Robert Farquhar had filled important situations in the north of Scotland ; he had also been Provost of Aberdeen :<sup>2</sup>—

<sup>1</sup> Bishopmill was then a landward property ; it has long since been built over, and it is now within the Parliamentary bounds of Elgin.

<sup>2</sup> A letter from Farquhar, before he was knighted, is given at page 47.

“ I, Thomas Davidstone, Maister of the Musick Schooll in Aberdene, grants me to have receaved all and hail the soume of two pund, aucteine shillings, Scotts money, for singing at umquill Sir Robert Farquhar of Mouny his Lyk,<sup>1</sup> be this my tiket of resset subservyt with my hand, at Aberdene, the 15 day of Januarie 1666 yeires.

“ THOMAS DAVIDSTONE.”

---

“ I, John Cormack, Schoolmaster in Aberdene, grant me to have receaved two rex dollors, for reading at Sir Robert Farehar and his Lady their Lykwakes, as the custome is in this place. As witnes this my discharge written and subservyt with my hand, at Aberdene, the nyntein day of Januarie Javije sixtie-six yeires.

“ JO. CORMACK.”

---

“ I, James Horne, Burges of Aberdene and Kirk-officer theroff, grants me to have receaved the soume off aucht ponds, Scotts money, for tolling of the Kirk-belles of Aberdene at the buriell of Sir Robert Farquhar of Mowney, be thir presents subservyt with my hand, at Aberdene, the elevint day of Januarie Javije sixtie-six yeares.

“ JAMES HORNE.”

---

<sup>1</sup> The ‘ Lyk ’ or ‘ Lykewake,’ meant sitting in the room with the corpse during the night previous to the funeral ; on such occasions those present generally drowned melancholy in deep potations.

"I, Thomas Vanhaghen, Bookbinder in Aberdeene, grants me to have receaved one pund, ten shillings, and that for ringien of the Tolboth-bell for Sir Robert Farqher his beriecll, be thir presents writen and subservyed with myn own hand, at Aberdeene, the thrithen day of Janiwarie 1666 yeares.

"THOMAS VANHAGHEN."

---

"The account of the Funeralls of the disceassed Sir Robert Farquhar of Munyie :—

Imprimis, for three lairge Lossone armes, at	£	s.	d.
three punds a peice, is . . . . .	09	00	00
Item, for four armes on the trumpet-flags, at feftie shillings a peice, is . . . . .	10	00	00
Item, for two lairge Lossone armes of the Ladies, one for the yeat, another above the buriall place, at three punds a peice, is . . . . .	06	00	00
Suma is . . . . .	£25	00	00

"At Aberdeen, the aught of Januverie 1666, receaved be me, Patrick Alexander, payment of the above written account, be this my receipt written and subservyit be me, the 8 of Janaverie 1666.

"PATRICK ALEXANDER."

---

"We, Arthor Johnstoun and John Reid, Trum-peters, grants us to have receaved four rix dollors, for going thorow the towne and discharging our dewitie befor the corpes of Sir Robert Farqher at his burell, be thir presents written and subscryvit with our hands, at Aberdeene, the sevintenth day of May Javije sixtiesixe.

“ARTHOR JOHNSTOUN.
JOHN REID.”

---

“Ane accompt for printing of Epitaphs upon the death of the Right Worshipfull Sir Robert Farquhar of Munie :—

Item, for printing of fyve large Epitaphs in English and Lattin,	.	.	£20 0 0
Item, for a lesser one in Lattin,	.	.	02 0 0
Item, for nyne queare of paper, at aucht shillings per queare,	.	.	03 12 0
			<hr/>
Suma,	.		£25 12 0

“Att Aberdene, the 16th of Januarij 1666, I grant me to have receaved twentie-four pund,<sup>1</sup> Scots money, in compleat payment of this above-written accompt ;
in witnes, I have written this discharge, day and place foresaid.

“JOHN FORBES.”

<sup>1</sup> Mr. Forbes seems to have given a liberal discount, we hope our printer intends to follow his example !

IX. CHURCH DISCIPLINE.

THE Moderator's letter is sufficiently explicit :—

“ For the Right Worshipfull

SIR LUDOVICK GORDOUNE off Gordounstone.

“ ELGIN, Thursday, 10th May 1660.

“ RIGHT WORSHIPFULL,—The Synod att Elgin, in Aprill last, did referre, and recomend it, to the Presbitry of Elgin to take speciall notice of your contempt of publick worship and of your withdrawing yourself from ordinances, especially of your own congregation (also to try the ground theirow), which hath given a great scandell to the wholl land. In relation to which refeir, the Presbitry did ordaine me, Moderator for the tyme, to wreatt to you, desyreing you to be present att our nixt presbiteriall meeting, to be at Elgin, Wednesday nixt, the 16th of this instant, that so you may, possiblie, vindicat yourself and satisfie the Presbitry ; which will tend much to God's glory and the good of His church, especially the congregation wheroff ye are a member. Which is all att present from him, who is, Sir, yours in the Lord,

“ MR. J. A. HORNE.”

---

The Baronet paid no attention to the first blast:--

“ For the Right Worshipfull

SIR LUDOVICK GORDOUN of Gordounstone—These :

“ ELGIN, May 25, 1660.

“ VERY WORSHIPFULL,—I did wreatt to you formerly, in our Presbyteries name, desyreing you to keep our meeting on Wednesday, was aucht dayes, bott wee heard nothing from you. Therfor the Presbitry did ordain me to wreatt this second to you, desyreing you to keep our nixt presbitereall meeting, at Elgin, on Wednesday nixt. This is all att present from yours in the Lord, and in our name,

“ MR. JA. HORNE,

“ Moderator to the Presbitry of Elgin.”

To the second blast the Baronet had evidently sent a protest :--

“ The Moderator and the remanent brethern of the Presbyterie of Elgin to our lovitt—These being seen, yee, Walter Lesly, officer to the synod, passe to Sir Ludovick Gordon, and summons him to compeire befor the Synod of Murray, to be holden at Invernes, the 3rd day of Aprill with continuation of dayes, and there to answer for his subscribing of ane scandalous and sinfull protestatione against the Assemblie of Murray, the year                      as in itselfe it doth more fully proport ; with certificatione as effeirs.

“Subscribed at Elgin, the 26th day of March 1661,
by mee,

“SAM. TULLOCH,
“Clerk to the Presbiterie.”

---

Sir Ludovick having failed to appear before the Synod, that reverend body had brought his conduct under the notice of Parliament :—

“I, Sir William Bruce of Balcaskie, Knight, Clerk to the bills, and by the King’s speciall warrand appoynted His Majestie’s receaver of the fynes imposed by the Parliament assembled att Edinburgh, the nynt of September Jajvije sixtie-two years (1662), grants me, by thir presents, to have instantlie receaved ffrom Sir Ludovick Gordoun of Gordounstoun, the soume of eighteen hundreth pounds, Scots money, as the last halfe<sup>1</sup> and in full and compleit payment of his wholle fyne laid on him by the said Parliament, and discharges him therof ; consenting thir presents be registrat in the books of Counsell and Session, or any other books competent, therin to remain ad futuram rei memoriam ; and for that effect constituts my procurators. In witnes wherof, I have subscryved thir presents (written be James Kennewie, my servitor), with my hand, att Edinburgh, the first day of Januarie Jajvje sixtie-six yeares (1666), before thir witnesses, David Thomson, merchant in Edinburgh, and the said James Kennewie.

<sup>1</sup> The first half was paid on the 1st February 1665.

“ W. BRUCE.

“ David Thomson, witnes.

J. Kinnewie, witnes.”

---

Lady Fraser was widow of Andrew, second Lord Fraser, and probably a daughter of one of the Viscounts of Frendraught. The petition is dated 1685 :—

“ Unto the Right Honourable the Lords of His Majestie's Privie Counsell,

“ The Petition of Dame Elizabeth Chrichtan, Lady
Douadger of Frazer ;

“ Sheweth,

“ That where the petitioner being charged with letters of horning purchast against her at the instance of Heugh Wallace of Inglestoune, His Majestie's cash-keeper, for payment-makeing to him of the soume of ane thousand eight hundreth and threttie-three pounds, thretteen shillings, and four pennies, Scots, specified in a decreit recovered at his instance against her, before the Sherif of Aberdein, and that for alleadged contraveining the laws and Acts of Parliament made against Withdrawers from the public ordinances, Irregular baptismes and marradges, &c. It is therefore humblie represented to your Lordships in behalf of the petitioner, that as she was bredd from her infancie under loyall and regular parents, so, all her lyfetye hitherto, she hath evidenced the same by her deportment, she never having been at any Conventicle all her tyme ; and, for her alleadged withdrawing from the ordinances, the treuth is that all her children being foris familiat, and she haveing retined herself to her joynture-house at Cairnbulg, which is three miles from any church, and haveing neither men-servants nor horses, and she herself being ane adged seiklie persone, for those reasons, she was not able so oft and frequently to attend, bot, long before the obtaining of her decreit, fearing what offence might be taken, she took ane loadgeing in the toune of Frazerburgh, to the effect she might the more conveniently wait upon the publick ordinances, where, ever since, she hath been ane frequent and constant heirer ; and, in particular, upon Yester-day last, did take the sacrament, as a testificat under the Bishop of Aberdein's hand, heirwith produced, doeth testifie.

“It is therefore humblie craved that your Lordships would be pleased to discharge the forsaid decreit, and all dilligence done or to be done thereupon, for the grounds above represented, the same being purchast upon groundles mistakes ; and your petitioner shall ever pray.”

X. THE MAGISTRATES AND COMMUNITY OF INVERNESS KEPT IN TERROR BY A TROUBLESOME NEIGHBOUR, 1676.

IN former days, when a person dreaded an assault on himself or his property, it was usual to apply for "Letters of Lawburrows," that is, to ask the Court of Session to bind over the aggressor to keep the peace. The following document is titled on the back, "Law-borrowes, Provost and Baillies of Invernes against Andrew M<sup>c</sup>Killiean :"—

"CHARLES, be the grace of God, King of Great Brittain, France, and Ireland, Defender of the Faith, to our lovits, Messengers, our Shirifs in that pairt, conjunctlie and severally specially constitute, greeting. fforsemeikle as it is humbly meaned and complained to us be our lovits Alexander Dunbar—Provest of Invernes, John Cuthbert, Robert Barbar, Alexander Ross, and William Duff—Baillies there, ffindlay ffraser—Dean of Gild, and George Cumming—Thesaurer of the said Burgh, for themselves, and in name and behalf of the haill remanent Counsell, Community, and Incorporatione of the said Burgh, and as representing them ;—

upon Andrew McKillican, in Haugh of Invernes, that where he haveing conceaved ane great and deadly hatred, malice, rancour, and envy against the saids compleaners, for what cause they know not, he himself, his wife, bairnes, men-tennants, servants, and others in his name, of his causeing, sending, hounding out, command, resett, assistance, and ratihabitione, daily and continually troubles and molests the saids compleaners, their wives, bairnes, men-tennants, servants, subtennants, and cottars, in the peaceable possessione, brooking, and joyseing of their landes, heretages, tenements, annualrents, goods, and gear ; — eats and destroyes the cornes and grass growing thereupon, with his catle, bestiall, and goods ; — makes comon high wayes, roads, and passages therthrough, on horse and foot, where there were non wont to be of befoir ; — casts doun their deicks ; — destroyes their heinings<sup>1</sup> with the plantings and pollicie therof ; casts and winnes peats, turves, fewall, faill, and divott upon the boundes and landes belonging to the saids compleaners and to the said Burgh, in property and comontie ; — teills, manures, and ryves up the samen, and appropriates the samen unto his own use, without licence, liberty, or tollerance from the saids compleaners ; — and, not content therwith, daily, be himself and his forsaid, boasts, shoares,<sup>2</sup> and minaces the saids compleaners and their forsaidis for their bodily harme, awowing to put violent handes in their persones and to berive them of their lyves ; and for performing of his wicked and ungodly intentiones, be himself and his forsaidis lyes al await in the saids compleaners their high wayes and passages, wherthrough they may not safely repair to kirk, mercat, and other publick places within this our realme, without great hazard of their lyves ; and giveing therby evill example to others to doe and comitt the lyke in tymcuming, in high and proud contempt of us, our authoritie, and lawes, without remeid be provyded therto.

<sup>1</sup> Heinings probably mean enclosures.

<sup>2</sup> Shoares means swears at.

“OUR WILL IS THEIRFOIR, and we charge you straitly, and command that, incontinent thir our letters seen, yee pass and take the saids compleaners their oathes that they dread the persones above complained upon, their bodily harme and oppresione, be way and in maner forsaid ; and, the samen being taken, command the said Andrew M<sup>c</sup>Killican personally, if he can be apprehended, and failzing herof, at his dwelling place,<sup>1</sup> and be open proclomatione at the mercat cross of the head-burgh of the Shirifdome where he dwells, to come and find sufficient cautione, seuerty, and lawborrowes acted in the books of our Counsell and

<sup>1</sup> When a messenger failed to apprehend a person, he “knokit six chaps on the most patent door of his dwelling place, and affixit ane copie of our soveraine Lord’s letters therto.”

Sessione, that the saids compleaners, their wives, bairnes, men-tennants, servants, subtennants, and cottars shall be harmeless and skaithless of the said Andrew M<sup>c</sup>Killican, his wife, bairnes, men-tennants, servants, in the peaceable possessione, brooking, and joyseing of the landes, heretages, tenements, anual-rents, tacks, steadings, rooms, possessiones, goods, and gear, and on no wayes shall be baulked nor molested be them theruntill, nor be no others of their causing, sending, hounding out, command, resett, assistance, and ratihabitone, whom he may stopp or let directly or undirectly, from the day of the charge to be given for finding of the said seuertie, otherwayes than be order of law and justice, under the paine of four hundreth merks money of this our realme, within fyftein dayes nixt after he be charged be you therto, under the paine of rebellione and putting of him to the horne ; wherin if he failzie, the saids fyftein being bypast, that, incontinent thereafter, yee denunce the disobeyer our rebell, and put him to the horne, and escheat and inbring his haill movebles, goods, and gear to our use, for his contempt ; and, immediatly after your said denunciatione, that yee use the haill remanent order prescrybed be our Act of Parliament made theranent, according to justice, as yee will answer to us therupon ; the which to doe wee comitt to you, conjunctlie and severally, our full power be thir our letters, delyvering them, be you duely execute and indorsed, again to the bearer. Given under our signet, att Edinburgh, the thretein day of July, and of our reigne the twentie eight year. 1676.

“ Ex deliberatione dominorum Concilij.

“ARCH. THOMSONE.

“ Writin be Mr James Marten, my servitor. 17 Julij 1678.”

XI. A KNIGHT-BACHELOR'S FEES OF COMMISSION, 1682.

SIR JOHN GORDON was third son of the second Baronet of Gordonston. After finishing his education at Utrecht,<sup>1</sup> he had returned to Scotland, and, having passed an examination in Civil Law, had been admitted to the Bar, 20th January 1681, on paying the usual "entrie money," which was five hundred merks Scots :—

"I, Robert Childers, saidler, burges of Edinburgh, and one of His Majestie's Trumpeters, for myself and in name and behalf of the remanent, my brethering, his Majestie's Trumpeters, and as factor specialie constitute be them to the efeckt underwriten, conform to the letters of factorie granted be them to me, of the date the fourt day of August Jajvie and sextie aught years (1668), and registrat in the books of Exchequar, <sup>1</sup> Many letters which he received when on the Continent are extant. How they ever reached their destination is a marvel. One posted at Edinburgh in March 1678, is addressed, "A Monsieur, Monsieur Popill, marchand, demeurant au rue de St. Remis, pour faire tenir, si luy plait, a Monsieur Gordon, gentilhomme Escossois, ou il sera.

"A Bourdeaux.

"Per Londre and Paris."

the fyft day of the said month, grants me to have receaved from Sir John Gordon of Durno, Knight, the soun of twentie merks, Scots money, and that for his Titell-of-Honor deservedly confered upon him by His Seckrad Majestie : And therfor I, for myself, and as factor forsaid, exoners, quyt-clames, and simpliciter discharges him and his airs, off the forsaid soun so receaved, for myself, and as factor foresaid, and for the eaus above written, and oblidges me to warant thir presents at all hands whatsomever. In witnes wherof, I have subscriyved thir presents with my own hand, at Edinburgh, the twentie fourth day May Jajvie fourscor two years (1682), befor ther wittness, William Carnegy, wryter herof, and Alexander Nisbet,<sup>1</sup> servitour to the said Sir John Gordon of Durno.

“ RO. CHILDERS.

“ William Carnegy, witnes.

Al. Nisbet, witnes.”

---

“ I, William Cokburne, Wryter in Edinburgh, specialie constitute be Sir Archbald Cokburne of Langtounne, Barronett, Gentleman Usher to His Majestie, for uplifting the fies and dues payable to him by the Knight-Batchellers for the Honor of Knighthood, conforme to his letters of factorie dated the tenth day of December Jajvie fourscore yeirs (1680), registrat in the Comissarie-court books of Edinburgh upon the first day of Februarie Jajvie fourscore ane yeirs (1681), grant me to have received frae Sir John Gordoune of Durno, Advocat, Knight, fourtie pounds Scotts, as the saids fies due by him to the said Sir Archibald Cockburne, as Usher forsaide, for the Honor of Knight-hood conferred upon him ; and therfor I, as factor forsaide, exoner and discharge the said Sir John Gordoune of the saids fies and dues, by thir presents, for now and ever. In witnes wherof, I have written and subscryved thir presents, at Edinburgh, the nyntein day of May 1682.

<sup>1</sup> Probably the celebrated writer on Heraldry.

“ W<sup>M</sup>. COCKBURNE.”

“ I, Master Robert Innes, Writter to His Majestie’s Signett, factor and collector specially constitute be the Lyon Heraulds and Pursivants, conforme to ther letters of factorie granted to me theranent, dated the seven day of November Jajvie seventy-seven years (1677), registrat in the books of Counsell and Session upon the twenty two day of the forsaide moneth and year of God above written, grant me, heirby, to have received payment and satisfaction from Sir John Gordoune, Advocat, of the soume of one hundredth merks, Scots money, as the fie and casualitie due be him to the said Lyon Heraulds and Pursivants, for the Title and Dignity of Knight-Bachelour, lately conferred on him be His Royall Higness, Commissioner for His Most Sacred Majesty. Of the which soume of ane hundredth merks, money forsaide, as the fee and casualitie above specified, I, as factor forsaide, for me, my constituents, and all others whom it effiers, exoner, quite-claime, and simpliciter discharge the said Sir John Gordoune, his aires, exekitors, and all others whom it concernes, for ever; obleidgeing me to warrand thir presents to be good, valid, and sufficient to the said Sir John Gordoune and his above-written, at all hands and against all deadly. In witness wherof (written be John Innes, my servitor), I have subseryved thir presents with my hand, at Edinburgh, the sextein day of Agust Jajvie eightie twa years (1682), befor these witnesses, Alexander Innes and the said John Innes, my servitors.

“ROB. INNES.

“Al. Innes, witness.

John Innes, witness.”

---

“Wee, undersubscribing, the four Maccers befor the Lords of Counsell and Sessione, grants us to have received from the Right Wirshipfull Sir John Gordoune of Durno, Advocat, conform to His Sacred Majestie’s gift, the soume of twentie merks, Scots money, and that for the Title and Honnour of Knighthood most deservedly conferred upon him by His Royall Hignes The Duck of Albanie, His Majestie's High Commissioner for this kingdome. Of the which soume of twentie merks, mony forsaid, wee grant the recept, and, for our selfe, airs, and successors in this office, exoners, quyte-clames, and discharges him, his airs and successors, therof for ever. In witnes wherof, wee all have subscriybed thir presents (written be James Gordoune, one of the said Maccers), with our hands, at Edinburgh, the second day of December 1682.

“ A. CUNNYNGHAM.

ALEXR. HAMILTON.

THO. MAITLAND.

JA. GORDOUNE.”

“ Wee undersubscriybing, Macers to His Majestie's Privie Councell and Exchequer, grant us, be the tenor herof, to have receaved from Sir John Gordon of Durno, Knight, Advocate, the soume of twentie merks, Scotts money, and that as the fee and casualitie due and payable be him to us for the said Title-of-Honor conferred be His Majestie upon him, and therefore we heirby exoner and discharge the said Sir John Gordon, and all others whom it effeires, of the said fee and casualitie for now and ever. In witnes wherof, we have subscriybed thir presents with our hands, at Edinburgh, the thirtieth day of December Jajvie eightie tuo yeares (1682), befor thir witnesses, David Callender and John Patersone, Wryters in Exchequer.

“JO. HENRYSON.

JOHN. SHAW.

“David Callender, witness.

JO. Paterson, witness.”

Sir John, notwithstanding his subsequent success, had become an Advocate most reluctantly, as appears from the following letter, which he wrote on his return from the Continent :—

ffor Sir LUDOVICK GORDON of Gordonstone in Elgin, Scotland—These :

“LONDON, Aprile 15, 1679.

DEAR ffATHER,—I am reallie at a stand on what to fix, or what way to employ myself ; if accordingly to that to which, with great expense and caire, you bred me, then I must come home to Edinburgh, must not only be a Prentice to some Advocat of the first or second rate, be a companion (not to say worse) of clerks, serybes, and agents or punie procurators, and a beggar to all men of interest or employment, but, moreover, must enlarge the phylactyries of my conscience to accept of all oaths that are imposed, and consent to see acted, and be accessory to, a thousand concussions and other enormities inevitable inherent to the trade ; otherwayes shall labour in vain. It is true I am readie, as my dutie is, to come home in obedience to your comand, and to expedie any busines I may be capable to doe for so kind a parent, but shall beg leave to tell you that, if I were to choose my way of living, should think one of these two fittest —either endeavour to know something of the English Law in some Innes-of-Court, and then, if it pleased God I profited, might for a little money have some place here ; or else joyn-in any little thing, you would be pleased to give me, with some Merchant-adventurer, and in the mean tyme, if I found occasion, wait upon any English gentleman abroad, or doe anything else that I could be fitt for. Since my coming to London, which was a month agoe, has got three pound sterling from Gawne Laurie, which was but sufficient but for dyet ; and for other necessars behooved to take them on trust ; entreats you would be pleased to order him to advance me some money to buy a soot of cloaths to carrie me home. I am your sone and humble servant,

“JON. GORDON.”

We cannot resist giving a letter which Sir John, then a young student, received on the Continent ; it was written by his stepmother, Jean, daughter of

John Stewart of Ladywell, and second wife<sup>1</sup> of Sir Ludovic Gordon of Gordonston :—

“ For JOHN GORDON

“ at Uteright—These :

“ DRENIE, 12 Maig.

“ SIR,—My last was so unfortunat as to be keapit, tho the los discovird no tressin, nor disapoyntid anie great businis I had to doe, but deleyed a pise of trubill I intended to put you too. Be plesid to by as manie pearill as wil go ons about my neck ; lett them be wyld, upright, and round ; lett them not be deir, but of en prys about forti shilings. I fear I most rest your dettir for a tym, I cannot send monie for presint, being stretind with tym, your feathir<sup>2</sup> giveing so short advertisment. No mor, but am still your afectionat mothir, “ J. STEWART.

“ If ther be anie lett book set out by our Deivyns, send me a good one.”

<sup>1</sup> She was a widow possessing a good deal of property in Edinburgh, when the Baronet married her ; their contract of marriage is dated 6th March 1669.

<sup>2</sup> Fancy a man of weight—the Premier Baronet of Scotland—being called “ feathir” !

XII. EAST NEW JERSEY, 1684.

KING CHARLES II. having granted to his brother, James, Duke of York, certain tracts of land in America, His Royal Highness, in June 1644, “did grant, convey, and assure to John, Lord Barelay, and Sir George Cartrat, their heirs and assigneys, all that tract of land in America called Nova Cæsaria, or New Jersey ;” and the executors and trustees of Sir George Cartrat, in February 1681, sold to William Pen, of Worminghurst, in the county of Sussex, Esquire, and eleven partners, “all that part of the said New Jersey called, or known by the name of, East New Jersey.” Pen and his brother speculators afterwards admitted twelve additional partners, among whom were the Earl of Perth, Robert Barelay of Ury,<sup>1</sup> David Barelay, younger, of Ury, John Drummond of Lundie, and Robert Gordon of Clunie.

In December 1683, Sir John Gordon of Durno bought the share of one of Pen’s original partners. From his papers we select some documents of interest, commencing with a letter written by the author of An Apology for the Quakers :---

<sup>1</sup> Robert Barelay of Ury was son and heir of Major David Barelay of Mathers, by his wife Katherine, eldest daughter of Sir Robert Gordon of Gordonston ; the contract of marriage is dated 24th December 1647.

“FOR SIR JOHN GORDON, Advocat, in Edinburgh.

“URY, the 4 of the 1st month 1684.

“DEAR COUSINE,—I suppose thou has wrott ere now, to London, to thy brother George, and proposed to him to bring down his veshell here to cary passengers to East Jersey. I doubt not but he may make as good a venter that way as any he can propose, and knows how to project a retourn for himself. There will not want passengers, besides those that fills another ship to be hired, and one that is goeing from Glasgow with Manyward, which will be the best way. And, besides those George may carry upon thy brother's accompt and thine's, iff he want, it is but getting men from Strathnaver, to cary over at a venter, which is as profitable<sup>1</sup> a commodity as he can trade in ; the sooner something be done in this the better. I expect also from thee a speedy answer as to that part now in thy optione, that thou will determine it one way or other, that I may regulate myself accordingly. If George com with his ship so as to be ready to goe about Whitsunday, he will be sure to be full, for the other is to com afterwards. Desir him to call at London to William Bockura, at Litle St. Helen's, over against Leathersellars' Hall in Bishopgait Street, who will give him fuil informatione in what may be needfull for him.

<sup>1</sup> The pious Quaker and his friends subsequently got a supply of the “profitable commodity” at a cheap rate, as appears by a paper now before us, headed thus :—“Ane List of the hundred prisoners, in the Castle of Donattar and under the Parliament House, to be delyvered to Mr. George Scott of Pitlochie, in order to their transportation to East New Jersey, according to ane Act of Counsell for that effect, 12 March 1685.”

“So, expecting thy care in this, and that thou will lett no time be lost, which is the cheif point in such caises, I rest thy affectionat cousine, B.”

---

Gawen Laurie, Deputy-Governor of East New Jersey, thus describes the province, in a letter of which the address is unfortunately lost :—

“ March 26th, 1684.

“LOVING FRIEND,—I promised to write to thee when God brought me to Jearsey, but I had not tyme till now. I shall give thee a brieft accompt of the country, no fiction, but truth. It is, beyond what I expected, situated in a good aire, which makes it healthy, and ther is a great conveniency of traveling from place to place through the province in boats, from a small cannoe to vessells of 30, 40, 50, and, in some places, 100 ton. In the bay coming up to Amboy Point, a ship of 300 ton can easily ride close to the shoar, within a plank's length, just before the houses of the town, and yet the land there, nor other- wher in the province, is not low swampy marsh, but pretty high ground rising from the water-side. At Amboy the bank of the river is 20 foot, in places 30, in some 40 foot high, and yet many conveniencies for landing goods. The soyle is generally black, in some places a foot deepe, beareth great burthens of corne, and naturally brings forth English grasse after two years' plowing. The ground is tender, and the plowing very easy. The trees grow generally not thick, but in some places 10, some 15, 20, or 30 upon an acre; this generally, but in some particular places they are 100 on one acre, but rarely. The trees are very tall and straight, the generall sort are oak, beech, walnutt, chesnutt, gum-tree, cedar, white-wood like our poplar-tree, and makes sufficient boardes; and in some places there is abundance of firr-trees. Walnutts, chesnutts, and acorns lye thick on the ground for want of eating. Peaches, vines, strawberries, and many other sorts of fruit, grow commonly in the woods. Ther is great plenty of oysters, fish, and fowle. Pork is two pence per pound, beef and venison one penny per pound, a whole fat buck for five or six shillings, Indian corn two and sixpence per bushell, oats twenty pence, barley two shillings. Wee have good brick-earth and stone, for buildding, at Amboy and elsewhere. The countrey farm-houses are built verry cheap; a carpenter with a man's own servantts builds the house; they have all materialls for nothing, except nailes; their chimneys are of stone. They make their own ploughs and carts for the most part, only the iron worke is verry deare. The poorer sort set up a house of 2 or 3 roomes themselves in this manner :—the walls are of cloven timber about eight inches broad, lyke planks, set on end in the ground, nailed to the raising, which they plaister verry warme : they build a barne after the same manner ; and these cost not the landlord above five pounds a peece ; then to work they go, two or three men will cleare in one yeare fifty acres, in some places sixty or more ; they sow corne the first yeare, and afterwards maintain themselves, and the encrease of the corne, cows, horses, hoggs, and sheep, comes to the landlord. Severall merchants of New York have settled plantations in East Jearsy ; two or three joyn together, keep fifteen or twenty servantts and ane oversear, all which cost them nothing after the first yeare, except some shoes, stokings, and shirts, their clothes being all of skins. I have been to these plantations, and find they make a great encrease by them, maintaining their familys in New York with all provisions, sell a great deale yearly, and raise estates. Our English people are far better husbandmen than the New England men that setle heer. Servantts work not heer so much, by a third part, as they doe in England, and, I think, feed much better, for they have beef, pork, bacon, pudding, milk, butter, fish, and fruit, more plentifully than in England, and good beer and cyder for drink. When they are out of their tyme they have land for themselves, and generally turn farmers for themselves. Servantts' wages are not under two shillings a day, besides victualls, and at Amboy Point two shillings and sixpence per day. At Amboy we have one setting up to make mault, but want a brewer. A biskett-maker also we must have, to vent our meale to the plantations. Send over some hundred men, country fellows, that can plough, sow, reap, thresh, and looke after cattle, etc., and I will sett thee out a brave plantatione, but thou must send some goods to stock it withall. I desire thee to encourage some of our friends, especially the proprietors, to send servantts to stock some land. After they have cleared and stocked it, if they will lett it, here are tenentes enough to take it; and if they will sell, here are also purchasers. Ther is one man who, since I came hither, sold his plantation for fifteen hundred pounds; the whole was 1600 or 1800 acres, wherof 120 were cleared, but on which he had a house, barns, orchard, and garden planted. I know severall men who lett cleared land at six shillings and eight pence, and some at ten shillings, per acre, yearly rent, which is a good encouragement for sending over servantts to plant. I write not this as an idle story, but as things truly and really are. I have sent for servantts myself to settle a farme for me, for if the proprietors will not doe so, I cannot see what they can expect to have their interest come to. I sett out good land for every one that sends over servantts; and those who send none must expect to have their land lye farr backward, it being unreasonable that we should improve land for others who are at no charge ; and if none improve, then all is lost. The Scots have taken a right course, they have sent over many servantts, and are sending more ; they have lykeways sent severall poor familys and given them a small stock ; and these familys, some for seven years, some for ten years, allow halfe the encrease to their landlords, except the milk, which the tenant has to himselfe. I have sett them out land, and they are at work, I belive they will have forty acres sown this spring ; and this summer I am to sett them out more, so that in a short time they will have a great increse coming in. This will raise the price of land here, and is the reason that severall from New York-bounds come to me to take up land, for they now belive this province will be improved ; so that every proprietor sending over ten people, will be a great advantage to himselfe. Encourage others to take up land, and bring all those divisions that have been here, to an end, for these seing that they shall be ballanced, are already more compliyant than they were.

“Now I have laid these things before thee, I desire thee to impart them to some of the proprietors and other friends, that they may consider the same.

“I am thy loving friend,

“GAWEN LAURIE.”

A younger son of Barclay of Ury announces the death of his cousin, George Gordon,<sup>1</sup> who, poor fellow, had embarked but four months before (26th August 1685) at Aberdeen:—

“For Sir JOHN GORDON, Advocate—These :

“AMBOY PEARTH, 1st ffebuarie 1685.

“LOVEING CUSEN,—I am sorrie of the ocaation of my writting to thee at this time, which is to acquaint thee that thy deare brother, George, departed out of this life, the 29th Januarie about 12 at night, and was buried yesterday. He was verry perfect untill the moment of his death, and was very sencible. His funerall was as deacent as could be expected in this place. I doe herewith send thee a coppie of his Will. He wrote to thee himselfe a few days before he died, which thou may expect with the next opportunitie. And, haveing but 2 or 3 houres warning of this ocaation, I cannot fullie informe thee of his affaires, which I shall take care to doe per next ; so, being now in haste, must now conclude. From thy loving cusen,

“JOHN BARCLAY.”

---

<sup>1</sup> Gordon had learned “the airt and trade of merchandizeing” as apprentice to Mr. Robert Blaikwood, merchant in Edinburgh ; his Indentures are given in former series, pages 138-142. His youngest brother, Charles, fifth son of Sir Ludovic Gordon, was also placed under the care of Blaikwood, whose shop was situated “at the east end of the Lockenbooths,” but the worthy merchant could make nothing of the wild youth, who was therefore, as a last resource, bound apprentice to George Dallas of St. Martins, Writer to the Signet.

In his Will, which is dated “Att Amboy-Perth in East New Jersey,” 20th January 1686<sup>6</sup>, George Gordon commits his soul to Almighty God, orders payment of his debts, and proceeds thus :—

“I give and bequeath in tokens to commarads, as followeth, to witt—to Thomas Gordon, all my printed books and mathematicall instruments ; to Mr. Charles Gordon, his brother, one pair of hulster pistolls and my new periwig ; to Robert Fullerton, my own gun ; to William Laing, all my wearing apparell and linnings ; to John Barclay, my Lignum-vitæ punch-bowl and silver tumbler ; to Doctor Robertson, three pounds, New York money, for his care and paines, besides payment of his accompts, and if he pleases, for his own satisfactions and future experience, to open and see the cause of my death, he may ; to my servant John Brown, I discharge what money he receaved from me in Scotland, and abaits him one year of his service ; to my servant Jean Morison, I give and allow her twentie two shillings and six pence, yearly, more than what is contained in her Indentures, for wearing apparell and other necessities furnishing to herself, being in New York money ; and to my dearest brother, Sir John Gordon, all the remainder of my estate in this world. And I hereby appoint John Barclay and William Laing my executors ; and to the said William Laing I allow maintenance in my family for the first year after my deceass, and if he continues any longer to oversie my servants and plantatione befor my said brother, Sir John, sends him new orders or appoints any other in his place, I allow him ten pounds, New York money, yearlie, after the first said year, besydes maintenance as said is. And my earnest desyre is that my sword be sent home to my said brother, Sir John, with the first convenient occatione. And to all these preceeding articles I sett my hand and seal, as being my last Will and Testament, the year, and place, above mentioned.

“GEORGE GORDON.”

---

John Brown, who, by the Will, was to have one year of his service remitted, had probably engaged on the same terms as John Dickson, who, by an Indenture, dated 30th July 1685, bound himself to embark at Leith, in the ship called “The America Merchant” (John Vevers, commander), for East New Jersey, with George Gordon, and to serve him for four years after their arrival in the province, on the following conditions, to be fulfilled by the master :—

“To pay for his passage,<sup>1</sup> and to find and allow him meat and drink during the said tyme, and cloaths in manner efterspecefiet, to witt--two sute of leather in the four years, or one sute of course cloaths yearly ; two pair of hose yearly ; two shirts, two pair of shoes, two westcoatts, and two pair of drawers, and four neckcloaths, yearly ; and, at the end of the said four years, the soume of Four Pounds Sterling, or the value of it in the product of the countrie, or land to the value therof, as the said John Dickson shall think best."

<sup>1</sup> The passage-money (including provisions, we think) amounted to £5, 5s.

XIII. EXPORT OF GRAIN ; RETURN CARGO ; SKIPPERS' LETTERS.

SHIPS in which grain had been exported from the North to the South of Scotland, or to England, often brought back coal, lime, etc. It will be seen that deals formed the return cargo from Norway :—

“Charter Pairtie betwixt ROBERT GORDON, younger of Gordonstoun, and ALEXANDER ATCHESON, 1679.

“Att Edinburgh, the threttie day of Januarij Jajvie seventie nyne years, it is appointed, contracted, finallie endit, and aggreid betwixt the parties following—they are to say—Robert Gordon, younger of Gordonstoun, on the ane pairt, and Alexander Atcheson, skipper of the good ship called the Penelope of Pittenweim, on the other pairt, in maner, forme, and to the effect as after follows. That is to say, the said Alexander Atcheson, Master of the said good ship, has sett and letten, and, be the tenor heirof, for the fraught underwritten, setts and letts, to the said Robert Gordon, his said ship, and binds and obliedges him, wind and weather serving, betwixt and the first day of March nixt in this instant year, to come with his said ship to the port of Ferricoyus in Sutherland, and there to abyd and remain fourtein work weather lye dayes, upon the intaking and receaving from the said Robert Gordon, or his order, the number and quantitie of eight hundreth bolls bear, and therefrae to transport the samen to the port of Druntoun in Norway, and there to dlyver the samen as becomes, and for that effect, to attend and lye there other fourtein work weather lye dayes, for deliverie thereof; and also to take in and receive there in his said ship ane sufficient loadining of timber, being daills; and with all convenient diligence, wind and weather serving, to returne back with his said ship, being loadned with the saids daills, to the said port of Ferricoyus in Sutherland, and there unloaden the saids daills as accords. And also to remain there with his said ship other fourtein work weather lye dayes, for intaking and receaving from the said Robert Gordon, or his order, all and hail the number and quantitie of other eight hundreth bolls of bear, and therefrae to transport the samen to Roterodame in Holland, and there to attend and waitt with his said ship other fourtein work weather lye dayes, for delyvering of the said bear. And to this effect, the said Alexander Atcheson, skipper forsaid, binds and obliedges him, his aires, executers, and successors to have his said ship, befor and against the said first day of March nixt to come, sufficientlie drest and water-ticht under and above, and provydit with a floatboat, mariners, saills, anchors and cabls, tows, victualls, and all other necessaries requisit ; and obliedges him and his forsaid that he and his company shall doe their honest dewtie in sailling and convoying the said ship from and to the respective ports abovewritten, as alsoe in receaving and delyvering of the said bear and daills respective, as is above sett doune, and suffer none therof to be awaytaken, watt, or deminished in default of the said skipper his said company, or of the said ship, in any maner of way. For the whilks causes, the said Robert Gordon, younger of Gordonstoun, binds and obleidges him, his aires, executors, and successors to pay and delyver, at least cause be paid and delyvered, to the said Alexander Atcheson, his aires, executors, or assigneys, for carying and transporting of the said first eight hundreth bolls of bear from Ferrieoyus to Druntoun, and for bringing back therfrae to the said port of Ferrieoyus, the forsaid fraught of daills, all and haill the soume of two thousand merks, Scots money, in maner following, viz., ane thousand merks, in rix dollars, at the said port of Druntoun, within the space of fourtie-eight hours nixt after his loadning therat, and ane other thousand merks, in compleitt payment of the said soume, at the said port of Ferrieoyus, within the space of twentie-four hours nixt after his returne and disloadning the saids daills therat ; as lykwayes the said Robert Gordon binds and obliedges him and his forsaides to pay, or cause to be payed, to the said Alexander Atheson and his forsaides, at the said port and city of Roterodame, all and haill the number and quantitie of twentie two stivers, Hollands money, for ilk boll of the said number and quantitie of eight hundreth bolls bear to be transported thither, and that within the space of twentie-four hours after deliverie of the said bear at Roterodame, together with<sup>1</sup> to the said skipper for the saids haill voyages; with rowage, towage, and pettie py-lages, as use is. And if it shall happen the said good ship, called the Penelope of Pittenwein, not to be of the burden of the said quantitie of eight hundreth bolls bear, and not to contain and carry the samen, in that case the said Alexander Atheson, skipper for-said, binds and obleiges him and his forsaides to defalk his respective fraughts accordingle; and if she takes in any more bear nor is above written, and delyver the samen at the ports above sett down, in that case the said Robert Gordon binds and obliedges him and his forsaides to pay fraught therfor, proportionallie, as is above mentioned. And farder, if it shall happen the said ship to be stayed at all or any of the saids ports, longer than the lye days respective above sett down, then the said Robert Gordon binds and obliedges him and his forsaid to pay to the said skipper the soume of ten pounds, Scots money, for ilk day the said ship shall stay thereafter, in defalt of the said Robert Gordon, for cost, skaith, and damage. And lastlie, both the saids parties binds and obliedges them and their forsaid to doe and performe the premisses, hinc inde, to others, under the penaltie of ane thousand merks, Scots money, to be payed be the pairtie failzear to the pairtie performer or willing to performe the premisses, and that by and attour<sup>1</sup> fullfilling of the samen. Consenting that thir presents be insert and registrat in the book of Counsell and Session, or any other books compitent within this kingdom, to have the strength of ane decreit, that letters of horning on six dayes, and other executions in forme as effeirs, may be direct theron; and therto constitutes their procurators. In witnes wherof, written be Mr. John Nisbet, Writer in Edinburgh, both pairties have subscribed thir presents, day, place, month, and year of God above written, befor witnesses—Patrick Johnstoun, indweller in Leith, and the said Mr. John Nisbet.

<sup>1</sup> In a Charter Party, dated 3d March 1680, we find a similar space filled up thus:—"together with ane sufficient new hat in Caplakene to the said skipper." A gratuity, "in name of Caplacken," was always given to the Captain.

“ R. GORDON.

ALEXR. ATCHESON.

“ P. Johnstoume, witnes.

Jo. Nisbet, witnes.”

---

<sup>1</sup> By and attour means over and above.

Payment to be made in money, wine, and iron :—

“ At Edinburgh, the fifth of Marche Jajvic sevintie nyne years (1679), it is agrered betwixt Robert Gordon, younger of Gordonstoun, and Magnus Prince, present Thresour of Edinburgh, in maner following. The said Robert Gordon has sold, and by thir presents obleidges him to delyver, to the said Magnus, or ane having his order, the number of five hundreth bolls bear of the grouth of the Earldom of Sutherland, the crope 1678, suffiecent merchant stuff with the Lithgow measure, and that at the ports of Pollehurweh overagaint Taine, or Ferriehoous, both in Sutherland, and that betwixt the first day of May next, under the failsie of foure pound Scots for ilk undelivered boll, and the said Robert is to advertice the said Magnus att which of the said ports he is to deliver, betwixt and the first of Appryll nixt. For which cause, the said Magnus Prince binds and obleidges him, his aires and exeketors, to pay to the said Robert, his aires or assignes, five merks for ilk delivered boll, betwixt and Lambes next, under the failsie of three hundreth merks in caice of failzie, and annual rent after the tyme. And the said Robert is to have the halfe of the price of the victuall, in money, and the other halfe in goods, namely, two halfe butts of Sacke, at twentie one pound sterling the butts ; three hogshhead of French wine, att twentie-foure pound sterling the tunn ; three hundreth stane of Iron, att two merks the stane ; and what the goods shall extend, the halfe to be allowed in part payment of the other halfe payable in money. And the said Magnus is to deliver the goods to James Starge, skipper, and to take his bill-of-lodning therefore. In witnes whereof, both parties has subscribed thir presents, day, place, and year forsaid, before thir witnesses—Mr. Thomas Gordon, Wretter to the Signat, wretter hereof, and James Gordon, his servant, and John Craige and William Menzies, serviters to the said Magnus Prince.

“ R. GORDON.

Tho. Gordon, witnes.

MAGNUS PRINCE.

Ja. Gordon, witnes.

John Craige, witnes.

William Menzies, witnes.”

Lauchlane M'Beane, Master of the good ship “The Margaret of Inverness,” was employed to carry grain from the Capital of the Highlands, and “to try the mercat” at Fraserburgh or at Peterhead, as also at Crail or at Anstruther. He thus describes his reception at one of these ports :—

“ffor his much respected freinds GEORGE CUMING, Theasurer of Invernes, and JAMES DUNBAR, Merchant there ; for the present at Edinburgh.

“CREILLE, 29 April 1677.

“MUCH RESPECTED FREINDS,—I admyre much that non of you cam this way as ye promised. I cam heir this day aught dayes, and has not sold past the halfe of your barley as yett ; therfor I desyr to know what sall be don with it. As I was forgainst the harbour, I did call for a boat, which did tow me in heir. Ane Inglish man being heir, and he had two Lapister-kists<sup>1</sup> in the harbour-muth, and the boatmen towed close on them ; and they aleadge that they did losse two hunder Lapisters ; for which the Bailies<sup>2</sup> heir has fyned me in thretie pundis Scots, and arested and lodged me in prison till I will pay the same, which I doe think ought not to be payed be me since that I haid a Poileot, and the chists lay right in the midle of the harbour-muth. Therfor I desyr that ye may speak summ agent upon my accompt, rather Mr. John Laudir than any man, and suspend the Bailies' decreit, because they are not competent judges, because what was don did belong to the Admyrall-court ; but after I apelled from ther court, they susteined themselves ; therfor, I pray you, doe in this the best you can. Houping ye will doe in this so much as ye can, I remain your very loving freind and servant,

“ L. M'BEANE.”

---

<sup>1</sup> Lobster-chests.

<sup>2</sup> In the year 1648, a ship carrying grain from Morayshire to Edinburgh, was captured by an Irish frigate, and brought before Crail, but the Bailies of that town redeemed the vessel and men for a thousand merks.—Extracted from an original letter on the subject.

Captain Cruikshank's ship was chartered by three gentlemen to carry their grain, fish, etc., to the London market :—

“ MR. ARCHIBALD DUNBAR off Thoundertoune.

“ ABOARD THE ANN of FINDHORNE,
IN BROUGH-HEAD BAY, the 3rd July 1716.

“ SIR,—In answer to youres of the 2nd instant, know that, after haveing rod a prettie stout road in this place, have at last received aboard, from your servants, the goods contained in the bills-of-loading, and four half-hogsheads and fourtie-six ankers which I thought not proper to put into them, in caice should be oblidged to show my bill-of-loading to any of the men-of-war. This, as ye observe, is all for the company's account. I have lykewayes received for your oune account, to be delivred to your lady's sister, one hogshead with botles, one anker, a litle box, a small cagg,  $6\frac{1}{2}$  doson speldings, all which, you may depend upon, shall be taken care of. I thank you kindly for your compliment of brandy and fish, which I have taken aboard, as also your lady's three doson more than I have insert in bills-of-loading. I am, with dutiefull respects to yourself and discreet lady, Sir, your most humble servant,

“ JOHN CRUIKSHANK.”

XIV. FRIENDLY LETTERS FROM NOBLEMEN.

LORD HUNTLY, who succeeded his father as second Duke of Gordon, was a stanch friend, but his Lordship's spelling and grammar would astonish a Highland schoolmaster of the present day :—

“ For the Mutch Honored the LAIRD OF ALTER.

“ GORDON CASTLE, 10th December 1708.

“ LAIRD OF ALTER,—I shall be extreamly glad to know if you got a letter from my father, in answer to yours sent in recomendation of a hyland scoolmaster, some months ago. He sent you a letter, in answer to yours by the scoolmaster. I writt a postscript to you in my father's letter, hee having given me leave. The contents of mine to you was to thank you most kindly for your frendship on all ocassions, particularly in the affaيرة betwixt Burdsyards and Innes ; and also to lett you know I had hard some notorius both rogs and lyers should have dun ther indevors to perswaid you I was not so mutch your frend as the rest of my predecessors had been to yours ; all which I ashured you was fals ; and desired the favor of you, whoever had said so, to tell them, from me, they were both lyars and rascals, which you shall find in all occasions wherein I have the opportunity of showing you I am your, and your family's, most assured friend; and believe me to be, Laird of Alter, your most affectionate friend and humble servant,

HUNTLY."

---

When Lord Huntly wrote thus of the Roman Catholic Church, he little dreamt that his children were, after his death, to be brought up in the Protestant faith by their mother, Henrietta, Duchess of Gordon:—

"For the Much Honored the LAIRD OF ALTER, younger,

"EDINBURGH, 24th November 1712.

"KIND FRIEND,— . . . I follow a church I have very good reason, and am obliged, to believe is so infallible, by which I am forced to follow private opinion either of my own (of which, I thank God, I have none but according to the belief of the church it has pleased God to be so gracious to me as to grant me the interest belief in) or others. Your call may seem to you good, but take care of false Prophets; the Devil is too cunning for us often, and, I own to you, were I not of a belief that the church I am of, were infallible, I should never pass one moment, sleeping or awake, quiet or at any ease at all.

"I know not what your new call may insinuate to you as to friendship, but I am sure it is false if it does not convince you of my being very senceible of your merit, of your civilitys to mee, and that I am unalterably to yourselfe, father, mother, and all your family, both known and unknown, a most sincere graittfull frend and a most reddy humble servant,

“HUNTLY.”

---

The father of the young gentleman in whose favour Lord Strathmaver (son of the Earl of Sutherland) wrote, was Major John Dunbar, a man of good family, and an officer who had served under Marlborough :—

“To Mr. SUTHERLAND,

Master-Builder to His Majestie, att Sheerness.

“DUNROBIN, April 22nd, 1732.

“SIR,—This goes by one Archbald Dunbar, a gentleman’s son, who’s ffather was ane Officer in my ffather’s regiment, and lives now under me, hard by this place.

“The young man, the bearer, has choiced the employment of a ship-carpenter, and, as I have a regard for him, I know not where he could be better recomended than to you, since I am perswaded, upon my account, you will doe for him as much as possibly you can. He is a well-natured young man, a good schollar, and promising aneough for the business, so that I am perswaded he will answer the designe very well, and I shall be Cationer for his honesty.

“I am ane intyre stranger to the method of ingadg-ing your apprentices—as to the term of years or otherwise.

“The young man could have had a master at Sears-Burgh, who would gladly have taken him, but I inclyned rather he should serve you, by reason I know you would use him kindly, besydes the opportunity of having better insight with you than at Sears-Burgh, or any other place thereabouts. Upon receipt of this, I will expect to hear from you ; and let me know upon what terms you are to accept of the young gentleman ; and I assure you any favour you show him shall be grattfully minded by me, and wherin I can be of any service to you or any of yours here or elsewhere, none shall be more ready whenever opportunity offers. I offer my hearty service to your wiffe, ffamily, and self ; and am, Sir, your wery humble servant,

“STRATHNAVER.”

XV. GIPSIES ; BOTTLES ; AND BUGS.

By an Act of Parliament, passed in the year 1609, gipsies, then designated Egyptians, were banished the kingdom of Scotland, and any person harbouring them was liable to fine and imprisonment :—

“I, Alexander Forbes, servitur to my Lord Duck of Lenox, by vertue of my patent, given by the Counsell, to grant remistiouns to all guiltie personns whou have reset the Egyptians, contrarie to the Act of Parliament, gives and grants to Alexander Gordoun off Sidray a frie remistioune and discharge, for the King’s pairt and myne, for the said fact ; and this sall sufficientlie warand him, from the dait hierof, and the tyme bypast, 1620 yeirs, whensomevir the same sall be produced.

“Given at Elgin, the 6 of May, befoir witnes, sub-seryved and wreatten with my oun hand, and to be registrat in the buiks of Counsell by me for his suiftie.

“A. FORBES, with my hand.

“J. Law, witnes.”

---

On the 23d of August 1688, George, Viscount of Tarbat ; John Watson, merchant ; Andrew Powrie, druggist ; Alexander Ainslie, merchant ; and John Dehen, glass-maker ; took a lease of “ the new Glasse-hous in North Leith,” where for many years they carried on business as bottle-makers :—

“ A Noate how the profite appears weekly, upon the makeing of Botles, as followeth, viz. :—

To suppose to have 4 potts in the furnace, each pott to containe 120 chapine botles, which makes 480 to ane furnay, and to have 6 furnayes per weeke, amounts to 2880 botles, to be sold at three pence per peice, is,	STERLING. £36 00 00
--	-------------------------------

Charges in makeing said botles :—

For the metle of 2880 peice of chapine botles,	£03 00 00
To Coalls, . . . . .	03 00 00
To Workmen for makeing 2880 peice of botles, at a half penny per peice, . . . . .	06 00 00
To 2 Sizars, each at five shillings, . . . . .	00 10 00
To Pounders of metle, . . . . .	00 10 00
To Iron and mending of worke-toulls, . . . . .	00 10 00
To ane man to worke about the house for car- ring of botles, and pounding of clay, &c., . . . . .	00 04 00
To ane to make potts, . . . . .	00 10 00
To Clay, . . . . .	00 05 00
To ane Founder, . . . . .	00 10 00
To ane Clarke, . . . . .	00 10 00
To House-rent, . . . . .	00 10 00
To Pott-drink, . . . . .	00 01 60
To Candle, and for Stro for pakeing glass, . . . . .	00 01 00
Charges,	16 01 00
The weekly profite is,	19 19 00
	£36 00 00”

To such of our readers as may be surprised to find Lord Tarbat<sup>1</sup> at the head of a bottle-manufactory, we beg to introduce Lady Murray “at home;” we can, however, give no information about her Ladyship further than is contained in the following advertisement, which appeared in one, at least, of the Edinburgh newspapers, in October 1760 :—

“An Infallible Mixture for effectually destroying that abominable vermin called the Bugs, which was purchased by a gentleman of distinction, for a considerable sum of money, upon his travels in foreign parts, from a Jesuit, which, if rightly applied, will undoubtedly cleanse this country of that noxious vermin, with the whole sedement of them, never more to be in any place where it is used, is to be had by applying to Lady Murray, at her calender-house in Weir’s Close in the Cannongate, who will show the performance of the same.

“This secret and infallible mixture is sold at seven shillings, each Scots pint; and if it do not prove effectual, they shall pay nothing for it. No less quantity than a mutchkin is to be sold.”

<sup>1</sup> His Lordship was also Lord Register and Lord-Justice General of Scotland; he was afterwards created Earl of Cromartie—a title recently revived in the person of his descendant the Duchess of Sutherland.

XVI.

PUBLIC REVENUE: HOW COLLECTED, 1701.

PREVIOUS to the Union of Scotland with England, the Lords of the Treasury in Scotland generally sold, for a stated term of years, to the party making the highest offer, the right to collect and retain particular items of public revenue. Thus, in 1695, Mr. William Erskine, Governor of Blackness Castle, got a tack<sup>1</sup> of the rents of the Bishopric of Ross for three years; and, in 1697, Sir Archibald Muir of Thornton, Sir John Shaw of Grenock, and John Houston, younger of Houston, were principal taxmen of the Customs and Foreign Excise.

In the year 1701, Archibald Dunbar of Thunderton took a tack of the Inland Excise, and assumed, as partners in the speculation, Mr.<sup>2</sup> Kenneth Mackenzie, second son of the Earl of Cromartie; Sir William Hope, deputy-governor of Edinburgh Castle; William Duff of Dipple, ancestor of the Earl of Fife; Captain Philip Anstruther of New Grange; and Messrs. Gordon, Stewart, and Campbell of Edinburgh. The partners afterwards sublet the various counties, and the sub-taxmen seem to have been persons of consequence, as we find in the list the names of Lieutenant-Colonel Bruce of Kennet, Patrick Campbell of Barcalden, Alexander Grant of Kirdells (ancestor of Ballindalloch), and Agnes, Countess-Dowager of Linlithgow,—her ladyship holding the subtack of “the Lordship of Zetland and Isles thereof.” The system, however, was a bad one, it being, of course, the interest of the sub-taxmen to encourage the people to drink.<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> In Scotland a lease is called a tack.

<sup>2</sup> A peer's son, now styled "Honourable," was then designated "Mr." —a practice still retained at Eton College.

The following is copied from the agreement between the Lords of the Treasury and the Morayshire Zacc hæus :—

“Att Edlinburgh, the                      day of february one thousand seven hundreth and one years, it is appointed, contracted, agreid, and finally ended betwixt the pairties ffollowing, to witt, James, Duke of Queensberrie—His Majestie’s High Commissioner ; Patrick, Earle of Marchmont—Lord High Chancellour ; Archbald, Earle of Argyll ; William, Earle of Annandale ;

<sup>1</sup> In a “List of Brewars’ entrees within the town of Elgin” (containing a population of about three thousand inhabitants) “given up in ane Court holden by Robert Innes and James Stewart, two of the Baillies of the said burgh, upon the twenty-second day of June 1697, whose entries commenced from the first of March 1697, to the first of June 1697,” the names of eighty persons are given ; they had all carried on a brisk trade, but we must award the palm to William Douglas, who in the above three months had brewed “ffour thousand gallons of aile, and ffour hundreth gallons of aquavite.”

Adam Cockburn of Ormestoune—Lord Thesaurer Depute; and Mr. Francis Montgomerie of Giffen; Lords Commissioners of His Majestie's Thesaurie of this Kingdome, with advice and consent of the said Lords and others His Majestie's Commissioners of Exchequer, on the one pairt, and Mr. Archbald Dunbarr of Thundertoun on the other pairt, in manner ffollowing, that is to say :—Forasmuch as the said Lords Commissioners of His Majestie's Thesaurie did, by their proclamation of the date the fourth day of ffebruary instant, cause make publick intimation att the Mercatt-Cross of Edinburgh, of a publick rouse to be made upon the seventh day thereof, of the three pennies upon the pint of ale and drinking beer (in lieu of the two merks fformerly upon the boll of malt), and of the excise upon other liquors, annexed to the Crown by Act of Parliament in July jajvie and nyntie-five years (1695), inviting all persones who had a mind to offer for the same, to come and attend that dyett, which being adjourned by the said Lords for some dayes thereafter, their Lordships found the offer of Threttie Thousand Pound Sterline, being Three Hundreth and Three-score Thousand Pound Scotts, made by the said Mr. Archibald Dunbarr, to be the best and most adventagious ffor His Majestie's servise; therefore the said Lords Commissioners of His Majestie's Thesaurie, with advice and consent forsaid, have sett, and be thir presents, ffor the yearly tack-dutie above and under written, setts, and in tack and assedation letts, to the said Mr. Archbald Dunbarr, his aires and assignies, all and hail the dewtie after-mentioned, viz., the excise of three pennies Scotts upon each pint of ale and beer brouen to be vended and sold, in lieu and place of the two merks fformely upon the boll of malt; and, sicklyke, the excise of three shilling Scotts upon each pint of aquavitie and strong watters made of malt, brouen and sold within the kingdome, to be payed by the retaillers conform to Act of Parleament; as also the excise of threttie shilling Scotts upon each barrell of mumbeer and other fforreign drinking beer and ale, not exceeding twelve gallons the barrell. And because the excise of six shilling upon the pint of brandy and fforreign aquavitie and strong watters, fformerie payable by the retailer, is now transported from the retailer to the importer, att the raite of two shilling Scotts per pint of the said brandy, fforeign aquavitie and strong watters to be imported to this Kingdome upon and after the first day of March next to come, conform to the Act of the Session of this present current Parliament, therefore the said Lords Commissioners of His Majestie's Thesaurie, with advice and consent forsaid, further setts to the said Mr. Archbald Dunbarr the said two shilling per pint on the importer of all brandie, fforeign aquavitie and strong watters imported, or to be imported, to this Kingdome upon and after the said first day of March next to come, during the tyme of this tack, which is to continue and endure ffor the ffull space of three years next and immediately after the said taxman his entrie thereto, which is hereby declaired to be, and begin att and upon, the first day of March next to come. Reserving alwayes ffurth and ffrom this present tack all ship's beer putt on board, and drunk at sea, providing that the quantity thereof, and its putting on board, be testified by a certificate under the hand of a person appointed by the said taxman to goe alongst with the said ship's beer and see it putt on board, or at least ane instrument of requisition, containing the said quantitie, taken thereupon, as also by the oath of the breuer who furnished the same ; in which case, and not otherwayes, the ship's beer is declaired to be ffree and excepted from this tack. And also declairing that the exceptions and exemptions from paying excise, granted to the Manufacturie of New-milnes and to all other Manufacturies, Priviledged places, Companys or Incorporations, and which are granted by law, are held to be expresly excepted from this tack, as if all were particularly enumerate herein and excepted, and that conforme to the appointment of the forsaid Act of Parliament jajvie and nynety ffive years (1695). And, sicklyke, excepting ffurth and from this present tack the excise of drink consumed within the Garrison of Fort-William, conforme to His Majestie's letters thereanent, of the daities the twentieth and twenty-seventh dayes of February and Aprill jajvie and nynety-five years (1695). And, sicklyke, excepting fflurth and from this present tack the excise of drink consumed in Heriott's Hospitall, not exceeding fifeteen pound sterline yearlie during this tack. Which declairations and exceptions are here made that noe abatement may be hereafter craved upon the accounts forsaid, or upon anie other account whatsoever, except in the case of supervenient laws. And it is hereby declaired that the excise of all liquors brouen within the Kingdome, hereby sett in tack, that shall be vended and sold upon and after the first day of March ensuing inclusive, whether brouen befor that tyme or after, shall be included in this present tack. With ffull power to the said Mr. Archbald Dunbarr, his ffactors, servants, and others in his name, to collect, uplift, and receive the forsaid dewties ffrom all and whatsoever persons lyable in payment thereof as breuers, importers, retailleurs, and venders of the fforsaid liquors. And the said Lords Commissioners of His Majestie's Thesuarie, with advice and consent fforsaid, binds and oblidges them, and their successors in office, to maintain, ffortifie, and defend the said taxman and his fforseids in the peaceable collecting, intromitting with, and uplifting of the fforsaid dewties of excise upon all and other liquours above-mentioned; and shall cause pairties of horse and ffoot to be furnished to them to quarter upon the deficients lyable in payment thereof, and that from time to time as they shall be desired thereto by the said taxman and his fforsaid, conform to the rules prescribed by the fforsaid Acts of Parliament.”

XVII. RECEPTION OF A CREDITOR BY A ROSS-SHIRE BARONET, 1712.

WE should not like to have been in partnership with Sir William Gordon, of Invergordon, Baronet and Member of Parliament :—

“Att Elgin, the tenth day of October Jajvije and twenty (1720) years, in presence of James Anderson, Writer in Elgin, Sherriff-depute of the Sherriffdome of Elgin and Forres.

“The said day compeired Ludovick Gordon, merchant in Elgin, in the said shyre, and, being solemnly sworn, maketh oath that he was engadged in the year Jajvije and twelve (1712), in a company and partinership, for herring-fishing, with Sir William Gordon, then designed Delphollie, now designed Inver-Gordon, and that the said Ludovick Gordon, deponent, haveing been considerably advance upon the account of the said partnership, went in the month of November, or thereby, the said year Javije and twelve, to the said Sir William his dwelling-house of Inverbreckie, in order to adjust his accompts, and to get payment of the ballance due by the said Sir William to him upon accompt of the said partnership. And depones that, in place of geting payment or clearance of that balance, due to him, the deponent, upon the head of the forsaid partnership, which amounted to eight hundered pundis Scots of clear debt by him, the said Sir William, to the deponent for the accompt forsaid, he, the said Sir William, in his own house of Inverbreekie, did upon some day in the said month of November, or therby, in the year Jajvije twelve, violently fall, by himself and accomplices, upon him the said Ludovick Gordon, the deponent, and, after tearing of his cloaths and geting him down to the ground, did by plain south-reiff and robbery, bereave him, the deponent, of all his writes and papers about him, the most part whereof concerned the partnership betwixt Sir William Gordon and the deponent, the contents and value whereof did amount to eighteen hundered pundis Scots or thereby, for which he, the deponent, never yet got reparation or payment from the said Sir William Gordon, or any in his name, in respect the said Sir William Gordon was a rich and powerfull man, and he, the deponent, not able to prosecute his clame at law to the final conclusion thereof. And lykewise the deponent farder sayeth and depones that he haveing intended ane action before the Supream Courts of Scotland, could obtain no redress there, by reason the said Sir William was a Member of Parliament at the time of the com-encement and prosecution of the deponent's action, and during the dependency thereof, which obstructed the deponent's obtaining justice in an ordinary way against him, the said Sir William, before the courts of Scotland. This is truth as he, the said Ludovick, shall answer to God.

LO. GORDON.

“Solenitur juravie coram,<sup>1</sup>

“James Anderson.

Ja : Fraser, Clk.”

<sup>1</sup> We have copied this legal dog-Latin exactly as given in the original.

XVIII. POWER OF THE LAIRD OF A BARONY.

UNTIL the year 1747, every Laird whose lands had been erected into a Barony, was empowered to hold Courts for the trial and punishment of offenders within his barony ; and a dempster (hangman) was part of the Laird's staff. At Gordonston, however, a gallows was considered an unnecessary expense, as the Loch of Spynie was but a mile from the house. In the case after-quoted, the sentence was carried into execution, " and the said Janet went down evacuating curses on her persecutors :"—

" August 25th, 1679.—The Barron-Court of the Right Worshipfull Sir Robert Gordon of Gordonstoun, holden at Drany by John Gordon, his Baillie ; suitts called ; the Court lawfullie fenced and affirmed as use is.

" The which day Alexander Younge, wiver in the new-toun of Drany, did accuse Janet Grant ffor breaking of his house upon Saboth daye's nicht last by past, being the 22nd instant, ffor stealing and away-taking out of his loome two webs, wherof there was ane of Satinisgobe and ane other of Dornick, and carying out of his chist to the corn fields, where she did break it and took out twentie rex-dollars, with six ducat-downes, and six fourtein-shillin pieces, with four pound of small monie, with four rex-dollars with ane ducat-downe in ane purss, with two webs of linin, wherof ther was thirteen ellns in ane web and six ellns in ane other, with two ellns and ane half of wakkd pladin. She being taken redd-hand with the Satiniscobe and Dornick webs, with a pairt of the monie, all in her custodie when she was taken, the Judge finds the lybell relivent, and referrs the probatione to the knowledge of ane assyze.

“The persons<sup>1</sup> following, viz., . . . being nominat by the Baillie as asysers, the pannell having no exceptione, and they being solemnly sworn, were admitted upon the said pannell her assyse. The said Janet Grant being examined before the assyse, did confes the stealing and the away-taking the Dornick web, with two linin webs, with ane Satiniscobe web, with several clews of linin yairn, but denys the twentie rex-dollars, and the six ducat-downes, and the six fourteins, albeit they fell from her with the rest of the things that she threw ffrom her when she was challenged and persued on the night.

“The assysers above-named being enclosed by themselves, did give in their verdick, sealed, by the hand of John James their Chancellor, by which they found the said Janet guiltie of the crimes for which she was accused. Wherupon the Judge gave sentence that she shall be conveyed from thence back to prison, and there to remaine till the morrow, being the 26th instant, and thence to be carried, betwixt 2 and 4 o'clock in the afternoon, to the Loch of Spynie, and there to be drowned under water till she be dead."<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Fourteen tenants on the estate.

---

The fourth Baronet of Gordonston, son of him under whose reign Janet suffered, converted a vault in his house<sup>2</sup> into a laboratory, where he made che-

<sup>1</sup> In January 1700, the Elgin Magistrates paid "the Marschall twentie shillings Scots for scourging two, lugging two, and burning two thieves"—the two latter punishments being, respectively, deprivation of ears, and branding with a hot iron. To show how theft was punished in more modern times, and also to prove that a condemned felon did not then, as now, excite universal sympathy, we copy the following from a couple of Edinburgh newspapers:—

"Yesterday forenoon (9th May 1758), Agnes Blyth, an old offender, was, persuant to the sentence of the Sheriff, whipped through this city, and afterwards banished the country, for hen-stealing. She had bolted herself into the apartment where she was confined, and it was near an hour before she could be got out to receive this part of her sentence, which was performed upon her, lying on a cart."—Caledonian Mercury.

"Thomas Gordon, condemned to be hanged for sheep-stealing, who was respited, is now (27th March 1782) ordered for execution on Monday next, in consequence of an application of the gentlemen and farmers of Berwickshire, setting forth his abandoned character, and showing how unworthy he was of the Royal clemency."—Ruddiman's Weekly Mercury.

<sup>2</sup> See Vignette, which represents Gordonston as modernized in 1730, and as it now stands. The windows of the laboratory are the two on the extreme left of the door. The house faces the north, and is situated on low ground, but the rooms on the second and third storeys are excellent, and the drawing-room is a magnificent apartment, with six windows facing the south.

mical experiments during dark nights, and the blaze of light proceeding from the grated windows terrified the country people, who thought that he was in league with the devil. It was generally believed that Sir Robert had no shadow ; that, having studied Black Art at Rome, where the devil yearly entered the school and seized the student who got last to the door, young Gordon, when about to be captured, had—by pointing to his shadow, and exclaiming “ Take that fellow behind me ! ”—cheated His Satanic Majesty, and saved his person at the expense of his shadow. Of course this Baronet had a prison in his house ; it is thus described in a memorial presented to the Court of Session in 1740, by the friends of Alexander Leslie, a tenant on the estate :—

“ Leslie was dragged and carried a prisoner to Gordonston, and put in a prison, which, in place of being a civil prison, is a most nasty dark vault with an iron grate, having neither door, window, nor chimney, and where he lies in a cold and most miserable condition, and is in much danger of his life, for if it were in winter time, he behoved to have a foot or two of stones for keeping him from the water, because the vault is under ground about two feet. . . . The following facts are informed on, which, if necessary, can be proven, viz., Janet Grant, servant to James Forsyth in Crosshill, was, without reason, put into the Pit at Gordonston, who died in short time after coming out. Margaret Collie, spouse to Alexander Grant, in Muir of Drainy, was incarcerated, without any warrant, for taking the head of a ling out of a midden or dunghill, which the woman thought was good for curing the gout.<sup>1</sup> James Marshall, James Robertson, and William Robertson, three skippers in Covesea, a fisher-town of Sir Robert's, were appointed and kept in the stocks a whole night, without any just cause assigned, and had not the privilege of a house, but were confined, in the open air, in a back close, in a wild and stormy night; and the said James Marshall was thereafter put another time in prison, in a most nasty pit far below ground, where he lay several days, and a short time thereafter died, and, upon his deathbed declared the imprisonment to be the reason of his death, which happened about a fortnight thereafter; and James Marshall, his son, was also imprisoned without any cause, and died also some time thereafter."

---

Sir Robert not only tyrannized over his dependants, but also harassed his equals. When the wind blew from the east he ploughed up the sand, on a piece of poor land, so as to injure the property of his neighbour, Dunbar of Newton, but, as it blows more frequently from the west, Newton repaid him with interest.

<sup>1</sup> To the above cure for gout we add an equally agreeable one for a cold; premising that "slettars" are found under stones, and belong to the wood-louse tribe:—"Doctor Clark's directions to Sir Robert Gordon's son. Edinburgh, May 20, 1739.—Give him, twice a day, the juice of twenty slettars, squeezed through a muslin rag, in whey: to be continued while he has any remains of the cough."

An extract from a lawyer's letter, dated Edinburgh, 18th January 1750, shows how "The Lyon"—Brodie of Brodie,—was attacked:—

"The Lord Lyon is informed that Sir Robert Gordon is building a dovecoat on the muir, closs by his march, next adjacent to the lands of Kinneclach, which he apprehends is in imulation and to the prejudice of his land interest, because Sir Robert's doves in that dovecoat will be fedd by the Lyon's tennants' corns, especially the pease of Kinneclach, in respect Sir Robert's lands do mostly ly far to the north-west, and a great distance from his dovecoat. He is also informed that Sir Robert has already upon his lands of Drinny and Gordonstoun three other separate dovecoats; and this fourth<sup>1</sup> is an iniquous burden levelled at the Lyon. You know the bounds, and I am desired to entreat of you to inform me of the facts."

<sup>1</sup> It was formerly believed that if a person wished his wife to die, he insured success by building a pigeon-house. Lady Gordon was detested by her husband, but notwithstanding this fourth "dovecoat," her Ladyship outlived him many years.

XIX. GARDENS AND PLANTATIONS.

MORAYSHIRE is celebrated for the amenity of its climate ; peaches, apricots, etc., ripen on open walls, and pears<sup>1</sup> of every variety come to perfection.

Passing over, as unintelligible to most readers, a contract between Alexander Dunbar, Dean of Moray, and his gardeners, dated 7th November 1566, in which it is agreed that the latter shall “labor the gryt orcheart and gardings of the said Dene’s manss within the Channorie of Elgin, indewring the space of thrie yeirs, and sall dycht and sned all the tries, and sall gude theme with sufficient muk. . . . for the which the saids Alexr. and Johne” (the gardeners) “sall have the taill at the end of the orcheart, to be usit be thaim to their utelitie and profite,” we come to more modern times, commencing with a letter, written, most probably, by a clergyman, residing at Murehouse, near Edinburgh:—

<sup>1</sup> On the 19th October 1852, the Horticultural Society of London awarded its first prize to the gardener at Duffus House, near Elgin, for ten varieties of the finest new dessert-pears ; subsequently a baking-pear from the same garden was exhibited, it weighed two pounds and eight ounces.

“for the LAIRD of GORDONETOUN.

“MUREHOUSE, ffebraurie 18, 1684.

“SIR,—In compliance to yours, I have caused deliver to your servant, a dozen or foureteen grafts of the Great Red-Straik aple, foure of the Great-French-Rubic aple, some of the Gray Pepin, some of the Great-Summer-Bon-Chrestien peare, some of the Great-French-Bergamot peare, some of the Longueville peare, and severall other of the best peares and aples I have, whose names I cannot tell, my gardner not being at home, but they are all excellent fruits. Those that I know, are bound up together with their naines, and carefully wrapt up in ane hay rope, which I heartily wish may hold, and have good successe with you, as they do here; so I remayne, Sir, your humble servant,

“MR. J. HUNTER.”

“Account of Garden Seeds, Garden Toolls, &c., furnished to Sir Robert Gordon by William Miller,<sup>1</sup> December 18th, 1718 :—

	STERLING.
2 ounces Silver-Firr seed, . . . . .	£00 04 00
4 ounces Great-Pine, . . . . .	00 02 00
4 ounces Cypruss, . . . . .	00 04 00

<sup>1</sup> Mr. Miller rented the royal gardens at Holyrood; in the year 1729 he supplied Dunbar of Thunderton with “two hundred and forty fruit trees of the finest kinds,” which, however, he had procured from London.

4 ounces. Pynaster, . . . . .	£00 04 00
2 ounces Pitch-Firr, . . . . .	00 03 00
8 pound Lym-Tree seed, wherof 4 pound and 10 ounces but yet furnished, . . . . .	01 12 00
8 pound Yew-Tree seed, . . . . .	00 16 00
6 pound Scots-Firr, . . . . .	04 00 00
14 pound French-Furzz, . . . . .	01 15 00
1000 Hors-Chesnutts, . . . . .	00 15 00
1 bushell of Walnutts, . . . . .	03 00 00
1 bushell of Chesnutts, . . . . .	01 13 04
8 pecks Holley-Berries, . . . . .	01 04 00
1 peck Filberd-Nutts, . . . . .	00 05 00
2½ pound Hornbeam seed, . . . . .	00 05 00
½ pound Apple seed, not yet sent, . . . . .	00 04 00
½ pound Pear seed, not yet furnished, . . . . .	00 08 00
4 bushels of Aekorns, . . . . .	02 00 00
1 parcell of Ellem seed, cost me . . . . .	00 06 00
Three Dozen of largest Garden-Spades, . . . . .	08 02 00
Three Syths, . . . . .	00 07 00
One longest Garden-Line, . . . . .	00 02 00

Peas (8 varieties). Beans (three do.) Radish (2 do.) Onion (2 do.) Turnip (2 do.) Cabage (4 do.) Letuce (3 do.) Leek. Parsneep.
Carrot. Colliflower. Sweet-Majorum. Beetrave. Sellery. Pompion and Gourd. Cress.
Coucumer of severall sorts. Melon. Purpie.
Charvill. - Smooth Spinage. Shellot. Persly.
Clairie. Sumer and Winter Savory. Thym, and Beet Chord.

These, and their prices, are separately entered in the original.

---

£30 09 00 "

---

We think that the gardener got a free house, but had to provide himself with food out of his wages, which amounted to twelve pounds and ten shillings, sterling :—

“ I, James Ramsay, gardiner at Gordonstoun, hereby grant me to have received from George Kay, ffactor to Sir Robert Gordon of Gordonstoun, the sune of One Hundred and Fiftie Pounds, Scots money, and that as my fee and wages due to me 'twixt Martimas seventeen hundred and twentie three, to Martimas seventeen hundred and twentie four years, whereof I discharge the said Sir Robert Gordon and all others concerned. In witness whereof, I have subscribed thir presents at Dranie, on the first day of March seventeen hundred and twentie four years.

“ JAMES RAMSAY.”

---

Mr. Miller evidently belonged to the Society of Friends :—

“ To SIR ROBERT GORDON, of Gordonston, Barronett, Shire of Murray.

“ ABBEY OF EDINBURGH, 24th Sber 1739.

“ SIR ROBERT,—My last to thee was of the 2nd February, by post, to which refers ; since, non from thee, although I had cause to expect by thy letter to me, of the 2nd January 1738, that thou was to remitt payment of thy account in November or December that year ; but never being favoured with any return from thee since said time, makes me think it has escaped thy memory, or that thou has not received mine of said date, wherein I hope the scruples thou had to David Anderson, anent my account, was removed. And, as accounts when they ly long over, ar apt to be forgot, must request the favour thou will write to David Anderson, thy factor, to pay me ; and if it does not suit thy conveniency to make a remittance soon, may please atest the account and send me, to be payd twelve months hence, or longer if thou thinks fitt, becaws I would be loath to desire thee to incommode thyself on my account, not being forgetful of thy pointed payments made me formerly, although I am no profiler of this current account, wer it even payd at this time, being, of the four years due, only fiveteen pounds, thirteen shillings, and five pence sterling therof for garden seeds, the rest of the artickles therein being garden-toolls, grass-seeds, and tree-seeds, which comes to sixty pounds three shillings and seven pence sterling, which I get very litle profit by, although payd at furnishing as I charge them to thee ; neither did I ever demand the vallue of one farthing more from thee, for any artickle sent, than others payd me ready money. In expectation, at receipt of this, thou will drop me two lines signifying compliance with my above, just and equitable, demands, I will take to be a great favour done thy obliged friend, “ WILLIAM MILLAR, Junr.

The following letter is from the celebrated Lord Kames :—

“ GEORGE CUMMING, Esqr. of Altyre, Forres.

“ EDINBURGH, 16th December 1763.

“ MY DEAR SIR,—Ever since I came to Town, I have scarce had a spare moment for writing my thoughts upon the papers you put into my hand at Moy ; nor was I much concerned, for you have arrived at the golden age of patience, and you have a quality original, which required not age to ripen, and which is, that being a trusty friend yourself, you will not be apt to suspect your friends of unkindness or neglect.

“ With respect to the projected regulations for preventing the destroying of trees by muir-burn, the very first, of confining muir-burn to the months of December, January, and February, is ill-contrived. To discharge muir-burn altogether, would be only rigid and severe, but to allow it in appearance and discharge it in reality, is both severe and ridiculous. It is not once in fifty years that the ground is dry enough to admit muirs to be burned in these winter months ; it seldom can be got done in March, which forces people to delay often till the month of May. At the same time, there is an easy method for protecting trees from muir-burn, and that is, to destroy the heather for twenty or thirty yards round the wood, by plowing or otherways ; and if lime or dung can be obtained, to make grass grow, all trouble or difficulty is at an end. We have already more than enough of penal statutes in this kingdom.

“ In the other paper, for preserving of growing timber, the corrections proposed, of the laws in being, are not worthy of a new statute, because they are within the power of the Court of Session. The only new article is that which ordaines the Judges to finish the process within a calander month. The man who contrived this article must be a novice in law. Such regulations have been often attempted in different countries, but ignorantly and without success. For no man can say, when a process commences, when it ought to end ; for no man can foresee what proofs, what expiscations, may be necessary in order to do justice. In short, this is a Gothic thought, resembling much that of Procrustes the giant, who, instead of accommodating his bed to his guests, shortened or lengthened his guests to his bed ; instead of making time yield to business, it is making business, however extensive, yield to time.

“My good friend, Squire Cumming, I shall be in the midst of your house, the first time I go to Inverness ; in the meantime I am faithfully yours.

“HENRY HOME.”

XX. HOUSEHOLD EXPENSES AND SERVANTS' WAGES.

CONSIDERING the extent of the Gordonston Estate, and the size of the House (see Vignette), the Baronet seems to have kept his wife, children, and servants on rather a short allowance :—

“ Sir Robert Gordon’s allowance for his Lady and family, from December 14th 1740 to December 14th 1741 :—

	STERLING.
	£	s.	d.
Imprimis, to 36 bolls Malt, at 8 shillings and 4 pence per boll, . . . . .	15	0	0
Item, to 36 bolls Meal, at same price, . . . . .	15	0	0
Item, to 10 bolls Wheat, at 13 shillings and 4 pence per boll, . . . . .	6	13	4
Item, to 12 Beeves, at £1 per piece, . . . . .	12	0	0
Item, to Meal to servants without doors, . . . . .	9	7	6
Item, to Servants Wages within and without doors, . . . . .	41	5	0
Item, to Cash instantly delivered, . . . . .	50	6	2
Item, to be paid monthly, £4, 4, . . . . .	50	8	0
	<hr/> £200 0 0 <hr/>

“Servants Wages, 1741 :—

	STERLING.
	£	s.	d.
Imprimis, to two Gentlewomen, . . . . .	10	0	0
Item, to five Maids, . . . . .	5	6	8
Item, to two Cooks, . . . . .	5	0	0
Item, to two Porters, . . . . .	3	0	0
Item, to Robin's Servant, . . . . .	1	0	0
Item, to the Groom, . . . . .	5	5	0
Item, to the Neighbour, . . . . .	3	6	8
Item, to three Out-Servants, . . . . .	7	0	0
Item, to two Herds, <sup>1</sup> . . . . .	1	6	8
	<hr/>
	£41	5	0”
	<hr/>

The two gentlewomen mentioned above, probably the housekeeper and the lady's-maid, had been engaged in the south, and had ridden on horseback from Kinghorn, in Fifeshire, to Gordonston, but which of them sat on the pillion behind Mr. Kenety we cannot tell : — “GORDONSTONE, December 2nd, 1736.

“I, Henry Kenety, in Kingorne, grants me to have receivid from Sir Robert Gordon, twenty-seven pund fifteen shiling Scots, as two hors hire, whereof one double, betwixt Kingorne and Gordonstone, for carrying North two Gentlewomen to the Lady Gordon.

<sup>1</sup> There is an interesting paper relating to the wages of farm-servants, at pp. 97, 98 of former series ; its value, however, would have been greater had it informed us in what money the wages were paid, if it represented the yearly total, and if board and lodging were included ; the original document is silent on all these particulars, but we think that the money was Scots, that the yearly total was meant, and that board and lodging were included.

“HENDRIE KENETY.”

---

Alarming rise in wages :---

“To Mrs. PRISCILLA VAHAN, Housekeeper.

“LONDON, 15th May 1758.

“I desire you will go by the first ship, to the Murray firth, and from the part you land at, to my house at Gordonstoun, where my stuart will order what is necessary for you. The wedges, including tea and suggar, &c., is to be seven pounds a year, or at that rate, from the time you arrive at my house.—I am, &c.

“ROBERT GORDON.”

---

“I, Peter Rattery, Cook to Sir Robert Gordon of Gordonstown, Bart., grants me to have receaved from John Gordon, Writer in Elgin, factor to the said Sir Robert, the sum of Three Pound, Thirteen Shillings, and Sixpence, Sterling money, as the agreed wages payable by the said Sir Robert Gordon to me, for serving him as Cook from Whitsunday to Martimass Javije fifty nine years (1759).

“PETER RATTERY.”

XXI. RAISING MEN FOR THE ARMY.

IN former days, when a gentleman got a commission in the army, he had to raise a certain number of men ; if he failed to do so, the commission was cancelled. An application to the celebrated Simon, Lord Lovat, to assist a kinsman in his recruiting, elicited the following characteristic reply from his Lordship, who was then in the seventy-eighth year of his age, and who, in little more than two years thereafter, was executed on Tower-hill, for participation in the Rebellion of 1745-6 :—

“ To the HONOURABLE CAPTAIN GEORGE CUMMING, —

Son to the Laird of Altyr, &c. Att the House of Altyr.

“ BEAUFORT, 1st March 1745.

“ MY DEAR CUSIN,—I received with vast pleasure the honor of your very kind, polite, and oblidging well-writt letter, for which I give you my most sincere humble thanks. I was much rejoyced when I heard that you was preferred to a good post in the army, and I wish from my heart and soul that you may be a Generall before you die. It gives me exceeding great pleasure to know that you and my dear cusin—the Laird of Altyr—your worthy father, and all your family are in perfect health ; I wish the continuance of it as I do my own, and I beg leave to assure you, and them, of my most affectionate respects and best wishes, in which my daughter, Sibie,<sup>1</sup> joins me, who is the only child I have with me ; and all the rest of my children, who are absent, are in perfect health.

“Now, my dear Cusin, to come to the essential request of your letter, I am extreemly sorry and troubled that it is not in my power to serve you as I would wish ; some years ago it would be no strait upon me to give you a dozen of such men as you ask, but, if it was to save my life, I could not pitch this day upon half a dozen, among all my common people, of the size that you desire, for there is no country in Scotland so drained of men of size as mine is. The reason is plain, for when I was cashired,<sup>2</sup> by ane order that was without example in Europe—that ane old officer should be broke without the least fault being attribute to him, and then ordered to give in my Company of a hundred men of my own (to strangers), who had only engaged with me for the love they had to me as their Chief, and, besides those that I was oblidged to give in to make up my Lord Crawford’s regiment, now Semple’s, there were fifty more Frasers in the other few Companys, so that in Semple's regiment, when they went out of Scotland, they had two hundred Frasers in it, and out of the estate of Lovat, and all of them pretty handsome fellows about the size that you want, and fifty of them above it, so that there is no such thing to be now seen as a man of the size that you desire, among my common people, except it be a few old married men.

<sup>1</sup> Sybella, his Lordship’s second daughter.

<sup>2</sup> Having reasons to suspect his loyalty, Government had considered it prudent to deprive his Lordship of his command, and to draft his men into other regiments.

“However, dear Cusin, I will do all in my power to serve you ; I will give orders to all my Baillies and Chamberlains on this side of Lochness, and likewise to my Baillies and Chamberlains in Stratherick and Abertarff, to speak to all the gentlemen's children, of the size you want, and let them know the handsome offers you make ; and it will oblige me mightily if they engage with you, and I will give them an obligation, under my hand, to give them any tack of land that they are capable of when they come home with their discharge. This, dear Cusin, is all I can do for you if you was my own brother.

“When any of my young people grows up to be of the size you want, if you have any use for them, you shall have them before any Officer that comes, for Recruits, to the North of Scotland ; and you shall always find me, with a very sincere esteem and respect, dear Captain, your most affectionate Cusin, and most obedient and most faithful humble servant,

“LOVAT.”

“P.S.—I beleive you will not be ill pleased to know that I have kept my health better since the beginning of Jully last, than I have done these thirty years past, and notwithstanding of this extraordinary severe storm, that I do realy believe that the like of it was never seen in this country. I take the cold bath every day, and, since I cannot go abroad, use the exereise of dancing every day with my daughter and others that are here with me, and I can dance as cleverly as I have done these ten years past.”

The Regiment in which Captain Dunbar obtained a commission, was commanded by Colonel Staats Long Morris, husband of Catherine, Duchess Dowager of Gordon, and in it her Grace’s sons—Alexander, fourth Duke of Gordon, and his two brothers—held commissions, respectively, as Captain, Lieutenant, and Ensign.

To his Chamberlain in the county of Inverness, the Earl of Moray wrote as follows :—

“DUNIBRISTLE, 27th December 1759.

“MR. MACKINTOSH,—As Mr. Dunbar of Duffus his son has gott a Commission in Collonel Morris’s Batalion, he will immeadeatly sett about recruiting, and altho I am informed that Drumaglash<sup>1</sup> has got a

<sup>1</sup> William Magillivray of Dunmaglass. His elder brother, Alexander, had been killed at the battle of Culloden, where he commanded the Mackintoshes.

Company in said Batallion, I do call upon you, and all those under your care who pretend freindship and regaird for me and my family, to be aiding and assisting to Captain Dunbar; and if any other recruiting party or officer should interfeer with him, I desire that my weight may be throwen into Captain Dunbar's scale, where the terms are equall; and if I hear (and hear I will) that, after you receive this letter, any recruits are gone out of the Lordship of Petty, and not into Captain Dunbar's Company, I will not easily forgett nor forgive it to those who have had the smallest hand in contributing towards it.

“ You may let my vassals know that they cannot come to me with a stronger claim to my freindship than by giving me a proof that they deserve it, by giving substantial assistance to Captain Dunbar in his recruiting service, notwithstanding the pretext of Drumaglash his company.

“ Be active in this affair, as you wish to oblige your assured freind,

“ MORAY.”

We have seen by the above that commissions in the army were not obtained without great influence and considerable exertion; to show how it fared with a young officer, a few years after he had got his much-coveted commission, we give an extract from a letter, dated Madras, 4th March 1807, and addressed to Sir Archibald Dunbar of Northfield. It relates to the Baronet's only brother, Lieutenant John Dunbar, 78th Highlanders, a prisoner of war, on parole :—

“ Your poor brother is still unexchanged, and residing for cheapness at Pondichery, rather in distressed circumstances, his little pay being hardly equal to procure him the first necessities of life, owing to the unusual dearness of everything, occasioned by an impending famine. When he first arrived at Madras he came immediately to see me, but as we had not met for many years, and he was greatly disfigured and badly clothed (having walked and rode some hundred miles in the scorching sun), it was some time before I could recognise my old schoolfellow. The French, it seems, had taken everything from him, or rather had suffered him and several other officers to be plundered in a most shameful manner, so that, poor fellow ! he had nothing remaining but a scanty bundle of tattered cloathes, his feet blistered, and partly uncovered from the badness of his only pair of half boots,—and without any hat.”

XXII. ELGIN BURGHS POLITICS ; ABDUCTION OF MAGISTRATES AND IRRUPTION OF HIGHLANDERS.

THE events narrated in Mr. Young's letter are comparatively modern, but they exhibit a state of social life such as can never be again witnessed :—

“ Captain DUNBAR DUNBAR, of Sea Park, Forres.

“ ELGIN, 8th January 1866.

“ MY DEAR SIR,—After the Union of Scotland with England, and until the passing of the Reform Bill, Elgin was associated with the Burghs of Banff, Inverury, Kintore, and Cullen in returning a Member to the British Parliament ; the Town-Council of each burgh choosing a delegate to represent the community ; and each town, in rotation, being the returning-burgh, where the delegates met, and where the election of the Member was made. Banff early fell under the power of the Earl of Fife, Cullen under the Earl of Findlater, and Inverury and Kintore under the Earl of Kintore, but Elgin was peculiarly situated, and became at different periods a prey to Gordon, Duff, Grant, or Findlater influence. It thus therefore often turned the election, and was, in consequence, of considerable importance to contending factions.

“After a Nobleman or Gentleman had got the command of a burgh, it was a matter of some difficulty to retain it ; the Magistrates and Councillors had to get constant favours—to be feasted and petted ; a slight, or supposed injury, to a Magistrate, or even to a Deacon,<sup>1</sup> might result in the loss of the burgh, and therefore it was necessary to have some confidential gentleman in every town to attend to the interest of the Patron, and to see that the civic rulers were kept in good humour. By some supposed slight or insult Lord Kintore lost the burgh of Inverury, which thereafter placed itself at Lord Fife’s disposal. The Earl of Fife had thus the command of Banff and Inverury, Lord Kintore had Kintore, and Lord Findlater had Cullen ; to secure Elgin was, therefore, the grand aim of each of these noblemen. By the management of friends, Elgin had been for a long time at the disposal of the Earl of Findlater, so his Lordship and the Earl of Kintore having the command of three burghs, had returned the Members alternately ; thus, in the year 1812, Lord Kintore returned his friend, Patrick Milne of Crimonmogate, as Member ; and in 1818, the Earl of Seafield (who had succeeded to the Findlater estates) returned Mr. Robert Grant.<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> The Chairman of an Incorporated Trade.

On 29th January 1820, King George III. died. This of course caused a General Election, and writs were immediately issued for a new Parliament. Had Mr. Grant continued to stand, he might probably have been elected without much opposition, as he was a man of repute; but having heard that General Duff, brother of the Earl of Fife, was to be brought forward against him, he declined a contest, and accepted a quiet English burgh, provided for him by Government, so Lord Kintore then brought forward Archibald Farquharson of Finzean, a person little known in the district, and quite unfit for the discharge of Parliamentary duties. At this juncture Banff and Inverury were in the Fife interest, and Cullen and Kintore in that of Lords Seafield and Kintore, but Elgin was doubtful, and consequently the point of contention.

“In the absence of the Provost, who was then in Edinburgh, the Sheriff’s precept was issued to Bailie Francis Taylor, acting Chief Magistrate, ordering him to call a meeting of Council on Wednesday the 15th of March, to elect a delegate, as their representative at Cullen, the returning burgh, to vote for a member of Parliament.

<sup>1</sup> Afterwards Sir Robert Grant, Governor of Bombay. His elder brother was the late Lord Glenelg.

“General Duff started against Mr Farquharson ; the Earl of Fife came to Elgin and waited on the Magistrates and Councillors with such success that he prevailed on seven out of the seventeen, to declare for his brother the General ; the Provost being absent and Bailie Innes<sup>1</sup> professing strict neutrality, the Council was thus divided by eight to seven, so that the election might probably have been determined in favour of Mr. Farquharson, by a single vote, had not Lord Fife, by presenting dresses to the ladies, giving gowns, shawls, bonnets, rings, etc., to the wives and daughters of the tradesmen, scattering money amongst the people, and acting courteously to all, carried everything in the way of general popularity before him. Matters continued on this footing for about a fortnight, and the feelings of both parties in the town became excited to the utmost degree—the Grants<sup>2</sup> were under the greatest anxiety lest the burgh, and with it the election, should be lost, and the Duffs were proportionally elated.

“Attempts were made by the Grant party, but without success, to kidnap Messrs. Lewis Anderson and James Culbard, two of Lord Fife’s supporters. This roused the Duffs, who, on the morning of Saturday

<sup>1</sup> The worthy Bailie was universally known as “Phoenix,” he being agent for the Insurance Company bearing that name.

<sup>2</sup> The supporters of the Seafield and Fife interests were respectively known as Grants and Duffs.

11th March, seized Mr. Robert Dick (a Merchant-Councillor, in the Grant interest), at his own shop-door, carried him to Mackenzie's Inn in the neighbourhood, put him into a post-chaise which was in waiting, and in which, guarded by a couple of men, he was driven to Burghead, and from thence, in a boat which was in readiness to receive him, transported to the opposite coast, and landed on the pier at Dunrobin. There being several Morayshire gentlemen in Sutherland, Mr. Dick was immediately set at liberty, and he was asked if he wished to return home, but, being hospitably entertained, he said that the two lads had been very kind to him and that he would not part from them ; so, after a few days' enjoyment, the three started leisurely, by land, for Elgin, where they arrived too late for the election of a delegate.

“On the same Saturday, Bailie Francis Taylor, acting Chief Magistrate, when taking his morning walk, was captured at his garden-gate by a party of the Duffs, carried to Bishopmill,<sup>1</sup> put into a post-chaise, and conveyed to the seaside, where an open boat was procured to transport him and two of his captors to Sutherland, but a storm and head wind having got up, they were seventeen hours on the passage, and, after nearly losing their lives, they with the utmost difficulty got into the harbour of Brora. The Bailie received every attention in Sutherland, made his way home very slowly, by land, and arrived at Elgin too late for the election of a delegate.

<sup>1</sup> A village in the vicinity.

“In consequence of these transactions, Elgin got into a most excited state, and, on the morning of Sunday 12th March, Lady Ann Grant<sup>1</sup> despatched an express to Strathspey for a body of Highlanders to guard Grant Lodge (where her mentally-afflicted brother, Lord Seafeld, resided under her care), or to act as circumstances might require. The express reached Cromdale as the congregation were leaving the church, and about three hundred men immediately started for Elgin ; expresses being sent for others to follow. The first band reached Aberlour at a late hour in the night, when a respectable tenant of Lord Fife’s, suspecting the cause, or being alarmed at such a body of men passing down Speyside, despatched his son on horseback to alarm Lord Fife and the people of Elgin. The horseman, with some difficulty, passed the Grant retainers, reached Elgin long before them, and immediately waited on the principal gentlemen friendly to the Duff cause, who sent out drums, bugles, etc., to arouse the town’s-people. All armed themselves with staves, bludgeons, rusty swords, and other weapons ; and the Magistrates and Councillors favourable to the Fife interest were lodged in Mackenzie’s

<sup>1</sup> This noble Lady was, from her talents and position, the strength of the Grant party in Elgin ; and in Strathspey—the country of the Grant Clan—her Ladyship was regarded as The Chief.

Inn, carefully guarded by men, who were relieved at intervals.

“The first band of the Highlanders arrived near Elgin about 3 o’clock in the morning, and were drawn up there by their leader, who, finding that the inhabitants were in a state of preparation, did not enter the town, but marched direct to Grant Lodge. In the course of the morning other divisions arrived ; and I recollect perfectly, when a boy (going to school about 7 o’clock that morning), seeing large bands arriving and the town’s-people looking on. Provisions were prepared on the lawn at Grant Lodge for the party ; and it must have been a serious business to feed seven hundred men who had made so long a journey.

“The alarm in the town continued very great ; all the able-bodied inhabitants were kept ready for whatever might occur. In the course of the forenoon Lord Fife’s tenantry in the adjacent districts, and also men from the sea-coast, came into Elgin armed with sticks, so that probably there were fifteen hundred men ready for battle.

“It was almost certain that, should the Highlanders remain till night, and get drink, which was going freely in all quarters, a battle must ensue ; so the Sheriff of the county, accompanied by the parochial clergy of the town, waited on Lady Ann Grant, and urged on her the absolute necessity of ordering the Highlanders to decamp at once. Her Ladyship, after being assured by the Sheriff that special constables would be sworn in to preserve the peace on both sides, consented; the Highlanders were despatched home, in the afternoon, by a different route from that by which they came; and special constables patrolled the town.

“ During the evening, however, suspicions arose that the Highlanders had not returned to Strathspey, but were lurking in the neighbouring woods, ready to enter the town at night, in order to carry off Lord Fife’s supporters in the Council; the inhabitants, therefore, resolved to watch all night and to illuminate the town, so that no stranger could enter without being seen; an extensive illumination took place, and many of the Grant party were obliged to light up their houses in order to prevent their windows being broken. The excitement continued during the two following days—Tuesday and Wednesday, the latter was that appointed for electing a delegate, and on it (neither the Grant Councillor nor Bailie having as yet returned from Sutherland) the Fife party met alone, and nominated a delegate to represent them at Cullen; this of course was not a legal proceeding, there being only a minority of the Magistrates and Councillors, and no Town Clerk, present. After Bailie Taylor’s return from Sutherland, the Town Council met on the 25th March, when the Bailie stated that, in consequence of his having been carried off, he had been unable to obey the Sheriff's precept ordering him to call the Council together to elect a delegate ; the Council met again on the 28th of the same month, after which nothing is recorded for a considerable time, so the meetings in the interval must have been party ones.

“ During the absence of Robert Dick in Sutherland, his wife and daughter had been brought over to the Fife interest, and the Councillor on his return was easily persuaded to follow their example ; he reconciled himself to this on the ground that although he had promised to vote for Mr. Robert Grant, he had not promised to support Mr. Farquharson, and that therefore he was free to vote for General Duff. The Council was consequently equally divided, ‘Phoenix’ standing neutral, but the Provost, who had returned from Edinburgh, and who was a supporter of the Grant interest, had both a deliberative and a casting vote, so after sundry protests and legal discussions, it was found that Mr. Farquharson was duly elected by the Provost's casting vote. Parliament met on 21st April, and Mr. Farquharson's title was sustained ; it was a very stormy session, Queen Caroline's trial, and other important matters, having taken place, but Government had a good majority, and the Parliament lasted six years.

“ The cases of the abduction of the Bailie and of the Councillor were reported to the Lord Advocate, but only that of the former was proceeded with. Four Elgin men were tried at the Circuit Court of Justiciary, held at Inverness in September 1820; they were defended by Mr. John Peter Grant of Rothiemureus, Mr. John Archibald Murray, and Mr. James Ivory; a flaw in the indictment, or some such thing, was discovered; the prosecution broke down; and a great procession went out to meet the parties on their return to Elgin, where they were feasted by the supporters of the Fife cause.

“The excitement in Elgin continued during the whole season. On the 26th September following, the Magistrates met, according to annual custom, to elect the new Council, when (‘Phoenix’ having been induced to declare in favour of the Duff interest, and thus to give it a majority) a Council entirely subservient to the Earl of Fife was chosen, and his brother, General Duff, was, on the first opportunity, elected Member for the Elgin District of Burghs.

“Elections in the present day pass over in a different way; parties dispute for a few days, give their votes, and soon become good friends again. Not so, however, with the Burgh Election of 1820; it was a most violent business; families were divided, the nearest relatives did not speak to each other, and Elgin was agitated to a degree that now seems incomprehensible. These differences extended over a long period of time, and two distinct factions were formed, which, even after the lapse of forty years, are not extinguished. It is right to add that the noble families of Seafeld and Fife had, and still have, a grateful remembrance of the services of their supporters during that memorable election.—I remain, my dear Sir, yours very truly,

“ ROB. YOUNG.”

APPENDIX I.

THE following extracts ought to have appeared immediately after page 52 :—

“ The Compt of Mr. Robert Farquhar, Comissar-Depute.<sup>1</sup>

To Livetennent-Generall Bailzie, for the use of the Armie in the North, then under his comand, in Junij 1645 yeirs, . . . . .	SCOTS. £7533 6 8
Payit for purss and hors-hyre careying the said money from Aberdein to the armie, . . . . .	3 12 0
Sent at the said tyme, at comand of the said Livetennent-Generall, the Executioner of Aberdein to the armie, and payit for ane hors-hyre to him, becaus he was leam of ane leg, . . . . .	1 10 0
Item, at his comand, payit for sex hundreth pound wecht of pulder, . . . . .	480 0 0
And thairefter, for two hundreth wecht <sup>2</sup> of pulder delyverit to the said Livetennent- Generall, at fyvetein shillings the pound, . . . . .	150 0 0
Item, sent to his armie, at his comand, sex scoir of lances, at threttein shillings and four pennies ilk lance, . . . . .	80 0 0

<sup>1</sup> His “allowance ffor his service and his servands” was £20 sterling per mensem.

<sup>2</sup> Calculated at 100 lb., not 112 lb., the cwt.

Item, for careying from Aberdein to the armie the said pulder and lances, . . . . .	£6	10	0
Item, at comand of the said Livetenment- Generall, causit mack threttie yrone picks and twelff erawyrns, <sup>1</sup> all weying twentie-four stone wecht, at thrie pounds ilk stone, . . . . .	72	0	0
Item, payit for schafting of the saids picks and for timber to be schafte to them, . . . . .	6	0	0
Item, in Januar 1645 yeirs, be order of my Lord Balmirrinocht, sent ane Messenger from Aberdein, throughe all the Burrowes be- north Aberdein, to mack intimatione of the Acts of the exeyse, and payit him for his pains, . . . . .	58	0	0
Item, furnissit to the regiments of Lowdone, Cochran, and Cassillis, thrie hundreth thrie scoir fyftein bolls, and ane firloft, of meill, conforme to the receipts theroff, in Apryle 1645 yeirs, for which the Compter payit, at Witsunday 1645 yeirs, aught marks ffor ilk boll, . . . . .	2001	6	8"

---

This letter, written by Sir Robert Gordon, ought also to have appeared :—

“ To my verie honorable and noble Lord,

THE MARQUIS OF HUNTLEY, &c.—These :

“ GORDONSTOUN, the 5 of November 1646.

“ MY NOBLE LORD,—My stay at Aberdein was longer than I did expect, being hindered by a fourtein days' seiknes.

<sup>1</sup> Crowbars.

I am now (I thanke God) returned home, though tender and crasie, and unable any more for winter journays. I called at the Boig<sup>1</sup> on my returne, but, in regard of your Lordship's absence, I did not stay. I did sie no man at Aberdein,<sup>2</sup> but kept me within doores. I was neither sommoned nor enquyred after, to my knowledge, only I spoke with the Earle of Southerland, and Provost Farquhar, at whose house I lay.

"I have heirwith sent to your Lordship a letter, dierected be Generall-Major Monro, out of Irland, the 26 of September last, to the Earle of Southerland, which sheweth the Irishe have declared themselves for the Pope and the King of Spain, having resisted His Majestie's authority of Great Brytaine. I can hardlie beleive it, though I knowe this which I have sent you, to be the Generall-Major his hand, and that he should knowe the treuth of bussines ther; yet the other paper from London, the 17 of the last month, shewes so much also. I can say but this—If it be true, they have proved verie ungratefull to our King. The note from London shewes of the Marquis of Ormond's compliance with the Parliament of England, upon the Decleration of the Irishe.

"I can learne no certaintie from the South, but that our Scots armie doth stay the winter in England. The Londoners will advance no gilt, till the Presbiteriall government be settled and the King established. Some more regiments ar comming hither into the North. Wee hear nothing yet from the Parliament at Edinburgh; how soone any thing commes to my hands, your Lordship shall be advertised. Dyvers of our Murray men were decerned be the Comittee of Estates at Aberdein, to len money to the Estates, for the which they shall have the publick faith for repayment; among others, Pluscarty<sup>1</sup> was decerned to len thrie thousand merks. The surname of Mackenzie (as I hear) were decerned to len about fyftie thousand merks.<sup>2</sup> This is all I have to say at this tyme, but that I shall ever remain your Lordship's humble servant and loving cousing,

<sup>1</sup> Now called Gordon Castle.

<sup>2</sup> By a letter dated 27th May 1646, we find that Lord Huntly had seized at Aberdeen "two grayit ships bot laitlie com hom from Flanders, loadit with all sorts of comodities," by which he did the Covenanters "two hundreth thousand merks of skaith."

“ ROBERT GORDONE.”

<sup>1</sup> Thomas Mackenzie of Pluscardine, brother of the Earl of Scaforth.

<sup>2</sup> Notwithstanding what is said about the Mackenzies at page 49, a document dated 8th May 1648, proves that they were eventually compelled to obey.

APPENDIX II.

IN a footnote at page 58, we mentioned that Sir Donald Mackay (afterwards Lord Reay) had sent three thousand men from Scotland, in October 1626, to assist Count Mansfield in Germany. Sir Donald, however, remained at home until the beginning of the following year, when, accompanied by the Master of Crawford, Mr. Robert Farquhar, and others, he sailed from Leith, to take the command of his regiment, with which he eventually entered the service of Gustavus Adolphus, and gained considerable renown.

The following are extracts from one of Farquhar's papers :—

“ Compt of money debursit in Scotland and Holland for Colonell Macky, begining the ij of Januar, to the 22 of Marche 1627.

Debursit, first, off Scotts money as followes :—

Payit for breid to the sea with us, in Leith,	1	16	0
Payit for tuo muttone booles, . . . . .	6	13	4
For ane rubbor of Frensche wyne, . . . . .	21	12	0
For fyve pynts of seek, . . . . .	4	10	0
Payit the bott that put us aboard of the schip,
the 18 day off Januar, . . . . .	6	13	4
Payit Captan Blum, the 22 off Januar, our fraucht, . . . . .	206	13	4

Gevin his steirsmān, . . . . .	4	7	6
Gevin the schipe's cook and boys, . . . . .	1	10	0
Gevin at the port of Breill, . . . . .	0	6	0
Gevin in the Hag to Captan Pumphrey, first a pistoll, . . . . .	8	15	0
Mair to him and his men, in the Hag, 29 off Januar, . . . . .	15	0	0
Mair to your Lordship's self, which ye gave him in Rotterdam, . . . . .	17	10	0
Mair to Livetennant Barbar, to by sarks, <sup>1</sup> . . . . .	8	15	0
To the Prince off Orange his drummers, . . . . .	6	13	4
To the King off Bohemia his halberdiers, . . . . .	6	13	4
Payit for the great maill, <sup>2</sup> two peices, . . . . .	26	13	4
To his Lordship, to by books in Amsterdam, . . . . .	2	18	0
* * * * *

Suma is 727 lbs. Scotts money.

Debursit off Flemishe money :—

Payit his Lordship and all the companie ther dennirs at Mestant-Sluis, . . . . .	7	0	0
To ane man who convoyit us to our lugeing and helpit in with the graith to the lugeing, . . . . .	0	4	0
Payit four cannes off beir to the futmen, at ther entrie to the Hag, . . . . .	0	10	0
Payit ther suppers that nicht, eight men, . . . . .	1	13	0
To the barber who dressit the Colonell, . . . . .	0	12	0
Payit for ane pok to his Lordship's hat, . . . . .	1	2	0
Therefter a browband to it, . . . . .	0	4	0
A sword in the Hag, . . . . .	28	0	0
Drink-silver, . . . . .	0	7	0
To Chisholme, the poor man in the Hag, . . . . .	0	12	0
To others poor, at dyvers tymes, . . . . .	0	18	0
Aquavitie in the Hag, . . . . .	0	3	0

<sup>1</sup> Shirts.

<sup>2</sup> Probably, a trunk.

And for two pynts, put in the sellar, . . . . .	3	0	0
Payit for mending the lock off the wynseller, . . . . .	0	4	0
Payit in the Hag for clothes-washing, . . . . .	2	18	0
Payit in the Hag for the eight futmen, the 24 and 25 days, . . . . .	6	12	0
Payit vagon-hyr for myselff and Jon Barber, going to Delff, . . . . .	0	12	0
Tysday, his Lordship's dennir thair, . . . . .	6	2	0
Chalmer-meill <sup>1</sup> thair, ane weik, . . . . .	10	0	0
For Candell, . . . . .	1	10	0
To the servands thair, . . . . .	1	16	0
Gevin to the poor when your Lordship went in vagon, . . . . .	0	12	0
Payit in Delff, seing the churches thair, . . . . .	0	10	0
Payit lasting Robert Forbes buittes, and to your Lordship, to giff the poor in Delff kirk, on Thursday, . . . . .	0	6	0
Payit in Rotterdam, seing the stepill and Prince's schips, . . . . .	0	12	0
For ane buff cot thair, . . . . .	32	0	0
For ane succar-laiff <sup>2</sup> thair, . . . . .	2	16	0
For reid wax thair, . . . . .	0	0	6
Payit in Utricht, at the seing off the stepill and other churches and the Prince's hous and chappell thair, . . . . .	1	4	0
To the poor at Utricht, and be the way to Rhyne, . . . . .	0	3	0
Payit at ane brig twixt Rhyne and Arnem, . . . . .	0	4	0
Payit at the seing of the virgenells <sup>3</sup> at Arnhem, and for The Current News , and for careing our graith to the bott, . . . . .	0	9	0
Payit fraucht over the river Wall, . . . . .	0	6	0
In Nimmikin kirk, the ii off Februar, to his Lordship, to giff the poor-box, . . . . .	0	4	0

<sup>1</sup> Board and lodging.<sup>2</sup> Sugar-loaf.<sup>3</sup> Probably, the organ.

Left with the Master off Crawford and Captain Mackenzie, when we went to Nimmikin, the
6 off Februar, . . . . .	20	0	0
To the barber thair, for dressing his Lordship, . . . . .	0	18	0
For Spanisch wyne thair, . . . . .	1	2	0
To the drummers in Teyll, . . . . .	3	0	0
Our supper in Bremmell, 13 off Februar, . . . . .	8	2	0
Payit, seing the kirk thair, . . . . .	0	4	0
Drink-silver, . . . . .	0	8	0
Payit, seing the kirk and stepill of Dort, . . . . .	0	12	0
Payit in Syned-hous, for wyne and breid thair, . . . . .	0	12	0
Payit at the seing of the copper mylne, . . . . .	0	6	0
For Jon Barbar's dennir, that day we dynd with Sir Johne Swentone, . . . . .	0	12	0
Our supper in Rotterdam, 15 of Februar, . . . . .	0	6	0 Drink-silver thair, and for beir, succar, and nutmuggs, . . . . .	0	14	0
To the clarsocher <sup>1</sup> thair, . . . . .	1	4	0
For clarsoch strings, . . . . .	0	10	0
Payit in Delff, seing the saltpiter made, and seing the Spinhuis, . . . . .	0	10	0
For ane new knyff to the gilt sword, . . . . .	0	18	0
To Magnus, the clarsocher in Hag, . . . . .	2	10	0
To Dingwell, the tailzer in Hag, . . . . .	2	10	0
Supper in Harlem, and wyne, and fire, . . . . .	6	14	0
And drink-silver thair, . . . . .	0	6	0
Seing the kirk and stepill thair, . . . . .	0	12	0
Payit in Amsterdam, seing the stepill and
Dulhous, <sup>2</sup> . . . . .	0	13	0
For two matts and ane cod for his Lordship's bed, . . . . .	11	2	0
For ane lock to the great cloth-bag, and for mending the iron work off it, . . . . .	1	10	0

<sup>1</sup> Clarsach is the Gaelic word for a harp.<sup>2</sup> Probably, the Stadhuis.

For thrie glasses, and ane filler to the wynseller,	0	15	0
For ane new sword to his Lordship in Amsterdam,	0	15	0
Payit for mending and washing the Colonell's blew wastcoat in Amsterdam,	0	18	0
Payit for butter and cheiss in Amsterdam, which we took to the sea with us,	16	17	6
Payit in Amsterdam, for beir to the sea,	6	12	0
For breid to the sea, and a creyll to carie it to the ship,	13	6	0
*            *            *            *            *

Suma of the Flemische money debursit be me, extends to the soume off 1337 gilders 3 stivers, which extends in Scotts money, compting the double angell at ij gilders 14 stivers, to the soume off 1523lbs. 16s. 8d. Scotts money, which being compronit with the 727lb. Scotts money debursit befor, macks up 2250lb. 16s. 8d.'

INDEX.

- ABERCORN, the Popish house of, 41.
Aberdeen, the Bishop of, testifies that Lady Fraser has taken the Sacrament, 90.
 — the executioner of, how sent in 1645, to army in the North, 175.
 — the Magistrates of, indebted to Mr. Robert Farquhar, 51.
Aberlour, 169.
Abcayne, James Viscount of, second son of the Marquis of Huntly, threatening to attack Elgin, 53.
Ainslie, Alexander, merchant, a lessee in 1688, of the new Glasshouse, North Leith, 129.
Albany, James Duke of, His Majesty's High Commissioner for the Kingdom of Scotland, 100.
Ale and "Aquavite," large quantity of, brewed in 1697, in Elgin, 132.
Alexander, William Lord, 20.
 — Sir William, of Menstrie, Secretary to His Majesty for Scotland, obtained in 1621, a grant of Nova Scotia from James vi., 8; obligations between him and others who assisted in the plantation of that colony, 9-17; created Earl of Stirling, 20; commencement of a document assigning his emoluments, etc., in favour of the creditors of his deceased son, 20, 21.
 — Patrick, his "Account of the Funerals" of Sir Robert Farquhar, and receipt for the same, 84.
Alton, the King's forces defeated at, 40.
Altire, Lairds of (see Cumming), letters to, 124-126, 158.
Amboy Point, in East New Jersey, 106.
 — Perth, 111, 112.
Amsterdam, haughty conduct of "ane fellow of," 23; some expenses in 1627, at, 180.
Anderson, David, factor to Sir R. Gordon, 151.
 — James, writer in Elgin, 138.
 — Mr. Lewis, attempted abduction of, 167.
Annandale, William fourth Earl of (afterwards Marquis), 132.
Anstruther, Captain Philip, of New Grange, a partner in 1701, in a tack of the Inland Excise, 131.
Antrim, Randal first Earl of, an adventurer in the plantation of New Scotland, 11; receives a commission to go to Ireland, 38.
Anwick, Lord of (Henry Percy), 43.
Apples and pears, grafts of, sent in 1684, to Gordonston, with their names, 148.
Arbuthnott, Robert first Viscount of, his pay as a Nobleman attending the Committee of Estates, 49.
Ardgye, town and lands of, part of the Thanedom of Moray, 72, 73.
Argyle, Archibald tenth Earl of (afterwards Duke), 132.
Army, raising men for the, 158-163.
Arnhem, some expenses in 1627, at, 181.
Arundel, Thomas Earl of, 71.
 — Castle, taking of, 40.
Atcheson, Alexander, skipper of the "Penelope" of Pittenweem; charter-party between Robert Gordon, younger of Gordonston, and him, 115-119.
Auldearn, battle of, 53.
BAILLIE, Lieut.-General, commander in 1645, of the army in the North, 51, 175.
Balmerino, John second Lord, orders in 1645, the Acts of the Excise to be proclaimed in the north of Scotland, 176.
Banff, burgh of, 164, 166.
Banner, General, in 1636, defeats the Saxons, 33.

- Barbar, Lieutenant, 180.
 — Robert, bailie of Inverness, 91.
 Barclay, Major David, of Mathers, father of Robert of Ury, 104.
 — David, younger of Ury, admitted a partner of East New Jersey by William Pen, 104.
 — John Lord, has conveyed to him and Sir George Cartrat in 1664, by James Duke of York, a tract of land in America called New Jersey, 104.
 — Robert, of Ury, author of Apology for the Quakers, admitted a partner of East New Jersey by William Pen and his brother speculators, 104; letter from, to Sir John Gordon of Durno, 105, 106.
 — John, a younger son of Barclay of Ury; letter from him in East New Jersey announcing the death of George Gordon, 111; executor of George Gordon, 112.
 Baronetcy in 1625, price of a, 9.
 Baronets of Nova Scotia (see Knight-Baronets), 8, et seq.
 Barony, power of the Laird of a, 141-146.
 Bedford, William fifth Earl of (afterwards Duke), takes the Covenant, 42.
 Bellasis, Colonel, governor of York, taken prisoner, 45.
 Belze, Doctor, permitted to pay one visit to the Duke of Hamilton, then a prisoner in Pendennis Castle, 44.
 Bishopmill, near Elgin, 82, 168.
 Bisset, George, 37.
 — Habakkuk, writer of a discharge from Sir John Skene of Curriehill, 67.
 Blackwood or Blaikwood, Robert, merchant in Edinburgh—situation of his shop, 111; George and Charles, sons of Sir Ludovick Gordon, apprenticed to, 111.
 Blaw, Lieutenant-Colonel, colours to his dragoons paid for, 51.
 Blum, Captain, passage-money paid to him in 1627, by Sir Donald Mackay and suite, 179.
 Blyth, Agnes, flogged for hen-stealing, 143.
 Boats, flat-bottomed; charge in 1646, for conveying twelve from Dundee to Perth, 50.
 Bockura, William, his address in 1684, in London, 106.
 Boig, The (Gordon Castle), 177.
 Bohemia, the King of, his halberdiers, 180.
 Books to be purchased at London in 1633, for the Minister of Dornoch, 68.
 Bothwell, Earl of, his divorced wife married twelfth Earl of Sutherland, 8.
 Bottle-making in 1688, profits from, 129.
 Bremen, the Bishop of, commanding the army in Holstein, 46.
 Brewing trade in 1697, in Elgin, 132.
 Brielle, the port of, 180.
 Bristol, first Earl of (John Digby), in 1644, one of the Spanish faction, 38; his apprehension prevented, 41.
 Brodie, Alexander, of Brodie (Lord Lyon), dovecot built to annoy him, by Sir Robert Gordon, fourth Baronet of Gordonston, 146.
 Brown, John, servant of George Gordon in East New Jersey, 112, 113.
 — John, "chirugian" (surgeon), his fee for curing four "woundit sogers," 50.
 Bruce, Sir William, of Balcaskie, clerk to the Bills, 88.
 — Lieut.-Col., of Kennet, a subacksman in 1701, of the Inland Excise, 132.
 — Mr. Robert, 42.
 Brummen, some expenses in 1627, at, 182.
 Brureton, Sir William, defeats the army of Charles I., 40.
 Buceleuch, Francis second Earl of, the gift of his marriage granted to the Earl of Stirling, 21.
 — Walter first Earl of, 21.
 Buckingham, Duchess of, her influence at the Court of Charles I., 38.
 Bugs, "infallible mixture" for destroying, sold by Lady Murray, 130.
 Burghead, 168; bay, 123.
 Burleigh, Robert second Lord, President of Sub-Committee of Estates at Aberdeen, 47.
 Byron, John first Lord, defeated by Sir Thomas Fairfax, 40; replaces Lord Poulett, 42.
 CAIRN of Kilbuick, no Dunbar to go east of, 4.
 Cairnbro, Laird of, 3.
 Calder, T., bailie of Elgin, 54, 55.
 Calendar, James first Earl of, encamped in 1644, near Newcastle, 47.
 Callendar, David, Writer in Exchequer, 101.
 Campbell, Jean, widow of the Laird of New-

- ton; her letter to the Laird of Gordonston about her husband's funeral, 82.
- Campbell, Patrick, of Barcalden, a sub-tacksmen in 1701, of the Inland Excise, 132.
- Cannon and ammunition, charges connected with conveyance of, from Dundee to Aberdeen, 50.
- Caplacken, gratuity of, given to captains of ships, 118.
- Carlile, first Earl of (James Hay), letter from, in 1632, beautifully expressed, 26.
- Carnegy, William, a witness, 97.
- Carroun, Sir Noul, 29.
- Cartrat, Sir George, got a grant to himself and Lord Barclay in 1664, of a tract of land in America called New Jersey; a part of which, called East New Jersey, was sold by his executors and trustees to William Pen and others, 104.
- Cassilis, John sixth Earl of, his regiment in 1645, supplied with meal, 167.
- Charles I., his confirmation of James VI.'s grant of Nova Scotia to Sir William Alexander of Menstrie, and institution of the order of Knight-Baronets of Nova Scotia, 8; letters from Court of, 25, seq.; letters from, 25, 36; letters regarding civil war in his reign, 37-56.
- Charles II., his grant of certain lands in America to James Duke of York, 104.
- Charter-party in 1679, between Robert Gordon, younger of Gordonston, and Alexander Atcheson, 115-119.
- Chemical experiments at Gordonston, 144.
- Cheshire, the King's forces defeated in, 40.
- Childers, Robert, saddler, burgess of Edinburgh, and one of his Majesty's trumpeters, 96, 97.
- Chisholme, a poor man in The Hague, 180.
- Church discipline, papers connected with, 86 90.
- Civil war in the reign of Charles I., 37-56.
- Clark, Dr., his recipe for a cold, 145.
- Clarsoch (harp) strings, 182.
- Clarsocher (harper), money paid to a, in 1627, at Rotterdam, 182.
- Clunie Hills, near Forres, 1.
- Coals, Newcastle; patent of the, 70.
- Cochrane, Sir John (elder brother of William first Earl of Dundonald), his regiment in 1645, supplied with meal, 176.
- Cochrane, Lady Catherine (Countess of Galloway), 80.
- Lady Susan, Earl of Dundonald's daughter; her marriage attire described, 80.
- Cockburn, William, factor for Sir Archibald Cockburn of Langton, Bart., Gentleman-Usher to his Majesty; receipt granted by, in 1682, for fees payable by a Knight-Bachelor, 97, 98.
- Cockburn, Adam, of Ormiston, Lord-Treasurer-Depute, 133.
- Cold, recipe for a, 145.
- Collie, Margaret, a prisoner in the "Pit" at Gordonston, 145.
- Colloredo, Count, defeated by Sir Alexander Leslie, 32.
- Commission, fees of, in 1682, for the title and honour of Knight-Bachelor, 96-101.
- Commissioners for Inverness in 1630, election of, 25.
- Commissions in the army, 158-163.
- Connaught, province of, in 1636, to be inhabited by English and Scotch people, 30, 34.
- Conventicles, 90.
- Conway, Edward second Viscount, his report in 1644, of Court intrigue, 44.
- Conzie, Laird of, 4.
- Cook, Secretary, 31.
- Cormack, John, schoolmaster in Aberdeen; his receipt for his fee for reading at the lykewakes of Sir Robert and Lady Farquhar, 83.
- Cottington, Francis Lord, in 1644, one of the Spanish faction, 38, 41.
- Covenant, the Solemn League and, 41, 42.
- Covenanters, to expect no pardon from Charles I., 36.
- Covesea, three fishermen of, put into the stocks, 145.
- Craig, John, servitor to Magnus Prince, treasurer of Edinburgh, 121.
- Crail (Fife), the bailies of, imprison Captain McBeane, 122; redeem a ship which had been captured by an Irish frigate, 122.
- Crawford, John Earl of, in 1644, reported to be in Newcastle, 48.
- Master of (Ludovick, afterwards Earl of), accompanies Sir Donald Mackay, in 1627, to Holland, 179, 182.

- Creditor, reception of a, by a Ross-shire Baronet, 138-140.
- Crichton, Dame Elizabeth, Lady Fraser, presents a petition in 1685, to the Privy Council, 89, 90.
- Cromarty, George first Earl of (see Tarbat), 130.
- harbour of, 58, 178.
- Cromdale, 169.
- Cromwell, Lord Protector, 55.
- Crowbars and picks for the army, under General Baillie in 1645, and their price, 176.
- Cruikshank, John, skipper of the "Ann of Findhorn," letter from, 123.
- Culbard, Mr. James, attempted abduction of, 167.
- Cullen, burgh of, 164, 165, 166, 171.
- Cuning, George, bailie of Elgin, 54, 55.
- George, treasurer of Inverness, 91, 121.
- Cumming, George, Esq. of Altyre, letter to, from Lord Kames, on the law as to muirburn, 152-154; letter to, when in the army, from Simon, Lord Lovat, 158-161.
- Robert, younger of Altyre, permitted in 1656 to carry fire-arms, 55, 56.
- Roualeyn Gordon, the lion-hunter, 55.
- Cumnock, Laird of, 2.
- Cunningham, A., macer before the Lords of Council and Session, 100.
- Curle, James, burgess of Edinburgh, 67.
- Customs and Foreign Excise: collection of, before the Union, 131.
- Cuthbert, John, bailie of Inverness, 91.
- DALLAS, George, of St. Martins, Writer to the Signet; Charles Gordon apprenticed to, 111.
- Darnley, Lord (afterwards fourth Duke of Lennox), 69.
- Davidson, Thomas, master of Music School, Aberdeen; his receipt for his fee for singing at Sir R. Farquhar's lykwake, 83.
- Deals imported from Norway, 116.
- Deanery of Moray, stables of, broken into, 1.
- Dehen, John, glass-maker; a lessee in 1688, of the North Leith Glasshouse, 129.
- Delft, some expenses in 1627, at, 182.
- Delpollie, Sir William Gordon of, how he settled with a creditor, 138-140.
- Dempster (hangman), one of the staff of the Laird of a Barony, 141.
- Denmark, King of, insulted, 23; harassed, 46.
- the Prince of, in a besieged town, 46.
- Dick, Mr. Robert, captured, and transported to Sutherland, 167, 168; persuaded by his wife and daughter to change his politics, 172.
- William, in 1636, a money-broker, 32.
- Dickson, John, servant to George Gordon in East New Jersey, his wages, etc., 113, 114.
- Digby, George Lord (afterwards second Earl of Bristol), in 1644, one of the Spanish faction, 38; his apprehension prevented, 41.
- Dingwell, a tailor in The Hague, 182.
- Dining-hour of "the Gentlemen in Waiting" at the Court of Charles I., 57.
- Direng, Sir Edward, in 1644, submits to the Parliament, 42.
- Donibristle, seat of the Earl of Moray, 74, 79, 161.
- Dornoch, burial-place of the Earls of Sutherland, 81.
- Dort, some expenses in 1627, at, 182.
- Douglas, William, brewer in Elgin in 1697, how much he brewed, 132.
- Doun and Abernethie, Lord—the Earl of Moray, 72-74.
- Dovecots, for what purpose Sir R. Gordon built so many, 146.
- Downie, William, clerk, 50.
- Drainy, Baron-Court of Gordonston held at, 141-143.
- Dressmaker, letter to, in 1616, from the Countess of Sutherland, 75; account due to, 76, 77.
- Drummond, Lady Jane, Countess of Sutherland, 77.
- John, of Lundie, admitted as a partner of East New Jersey by Pen and his brother speculators, 104.
- Drumtoun, in Norway, return cargo of deals from, 116.
- Duff, General (brother of the Earl of Fife), a candidate for the Elgin District of Burghs, 166, 167; elected Member, 173.
- William, of Dipple, ancestor of the Earl of Fife, a partner in 1701, in a tack of the Inland Excise, 131.

- Duff, William, bailie of Inverness, 91.
 Duffus, Alexander first Lord, 73.
 Dumachty, Laird of, 2.
 Dumbrek, Laird of, 3.
 Dunbar, Sir Archibald, of Northfield, 163.
 — Alexander, Dean of Moray, assaulted in 1578, by John Innes and accomplices, 1, 2; contract in 1566, with his gardeners, 147.
 — Alexander, provost of Inverness, 91.
 — Alexander, of Conzie, 4.
 — Alexander, younger of Tarbet, 5-7.
 — Archibald, of Newton and Duffus, 146, 161.
 — Archibald, of Thunderton; agreement between him, as tacksman of the Inland Excise, and the Lords of the Treasury, 132-137; his partners in the speculation, 131; fruit-trees supplied to, from Edinburgh and London, 148.
 — Archibald, son of Major John, becomes a ship-builder, 126.
 — Captain, 161, 162.
 — David, 53.
 — James, of Cumnock, 2.
 — James, of Tarbet, 5-7.
 — James, merchant in Inverness, 121.
 — Lieutenant John, a prisoner of war in India, 163.
 — Lauchlan, of Dunphail, compelled to sell his estate, 5.
 — Nicholas, bailie of Elgin, 54.
 — Elizabeth, daughter of the Dean of Moray, murdered, 1.
 Dunbars, their feuds with the Inneses, 1-5; and with the Roses, 5-7.
 Dundonald, Earl of, 79.
 Dunotter, Castle of, prisoners in, 105.
 Dunphail, house of, burned by the Roses, 5.
 — the Dunbars of, 5.
 — the Laird of, breaks open the Jail of Nairn, 5.
 Dunrobin, 75, 81, 126, 168.
- EAST NEW JERSEY, a portion of New Jersey in America, sold by the executors and trustees of Sir George Cartrat to William Pen and eleven partners, 104; description of, in a letter from the Deputy-Governor, Gawen Laurie, 106-110.
- Echt, Laird of, his pay as a Baron attending the Committee of Estates, 49.
 Eglinton, Alexander sixth Earl of, applies for a gift of land in Ireland, 31, 34.
 Egyptians (Gipsies), banished the kingdom of Scotland, 128.
 Elbe, the; positions in 1636, of the Swedish and Saxon armies on, 29.
 Election, a contested one, 164, et seq.
 Elgin, cathedral at, 1.
 — burgh of, no Dunbar to enter, 5; burgh politics, 164-174; letters from Provost and Magistrates of, craving protection from a threatened attack by Lord Aboyne, and from a subsequent one by Lord Lewis Gordon, 53-55.
 — Sir Ludovick Gordon cited before the Presbytery of, 86, 87.
 Elphinstone, Alexander fourth Lord, 57, 62, 63, 75.
 — Alexander, Master of (afterwards fifth Lord), his news from the Court of James VI., 22-24; mentioned, 57.
 Erskine, William, Governor of Blackness Castle, 131.
 Essex, third Earl of (Robert Devereux), Lord-General of the Parliamentary forces, 41, 45.
 Estates, Scots Committee of, 47; exorbitant demands by, 49; sub-committees at Aberdeen and Dundee, 49.
 Eton College, an old practice still retained at, 131.
 Excise, tack of; agreement in 1704, as to, between the Lords of the Treasury and Archibald Dunbar of Thunderton, 132-137.
- FAIRFAX, Lord, his victory at Selby, 45.
 — Sir Thomas (son of the above), defeats the King's forces, 40.
 Faknar, Alexander, of Hakyrtowne, 3.
 Falconer, William, magistrate of Elgin, 55.
 Farquhar, Robert (afterwards Sir Robert), of Munie; accompanies Sir Donald Mackay in 1627, to the Continent—his account of travelling expenses, 179, et seq.; letter from, 47, 48; disbursements by him as "Compter" for the Scots Committee of Estates, 49-51, 175, 176; thanked by

- the Magistrates of Aberdeen, 51 ; in 1646, Provost of Aberdeen, 177 ; paper of his, showing the strength and pay of a regiment, 51, 52 ; various receipts for expenses connected with his death and burial, 83-85.
- Farquharson, Archibald, of Finzean, 166, 167, 172.
- Fenton, Mr. David, 63.
- Ferrieoyus or Ferryhouse, port of, in Sutherland, grain exported from, 116-120.
- Fends between powerful families, 1-7.
- Fife, James fourth Earl of, and the Elgin District of Burghs, 164, et seq.
- Findlater, James first Earl of, his pay as a Nobleman attending the Committee of Estates, 49 ; a sum of money paid to him, 51.
- James seventh Earl of, 164, 165.
- Findourie, Laird of, his pay as a Baron attending the Committee of Estates, 49.
- Flanane, relieved by the Landgrave of Hesse and Sir Alexander Leslie, 32.
- Flanders, the King of Denmark's subjects wronged by thieves of, 23 ; two ships from, captured, 177.
- Forbes, Alexander, servitor to the Duke of Lennox, remits a fine for resetting gipsies, 128.
- Mr., Cornet in Craigivar's troop, kills Mr. Irving of Kincusie, 48.
- John, printer in Aberdeen ; his account for printing epitaphs in 1666, on the death of Sir Robert Farquhar of Munie, and receipt for the same, 85.
- Forres, 1 ; no Innes to enter, 5.
- Forsyth, James, in Crosshill, his servant put into the "Pit" at Gordonston, died after coming out, 144.
- Fort-William, exception as to duty exigible on drink consumed within the garrison of, 135.
- Fowling-piece, permission to carry, granted to Robert Cumming of Altyre, 55.
- Fowlis, Laird of, 3.
- Fraser, Andrew second Lord, 89.
- Findlay, Dean of Guild, Inverness, 91.
- James, clerk to James Anderson, writer in Elgin, his dog-Latin, 140.
- Lady (Elizabeth Crichton), petition of, to the Privy Council in 1685, in reference to a decret against her for non-attendance at public ordinances, 89, 90.
- Frendraught, Viscounts of, 89.
- Fullerton, Robert, in East New Jersey, 112.
- Funerals, invitations to, 81, 82 ; expenses connected with the funeral of Sir Robert Farquhar, 82, 85.
- GAINSBOROUGH, taking of, 40.
- Galloway, Alexander sixth Earl of, 80.
- Garden seeds, implements, etc., account for, furnished in 1718, to Sir Robert Gordon, 148, 169.
- Gardener's wages in 1724, receipt for, 150.
- Garret, collar of Order of the, 70.
- Gateshead captured, 48.
- George, a, of diamonds, and four others, one of which was upon the effigy of Ludovick second Duke of Lennox, 71, 72.
- Gie, Madame de, 24.
- Gipsies (formerly called Egyptians), remission of fine for resetting, 128.
- Glasgow, rate of exchange in 1636, at, 32.
- Gloves, such as were worn by Parisian gentlewomen, and working silk, sent for in 1620, by the Duke of Lennox, 14.
- Golden Fleece, Order of the, 70.
- Gordon, Alexander fourth Duke of, a captain in Colonel Morris's regiment, 161.
- Catherine Duchess-Dowager of, 161.
- Lord, eldest son of the Marquis of Huntly, ordered William Nicolson to be hanged, 51.
- Lord Lewis, third son of the Marquis of Huntly, terrifies the Magistrates of Elgin, 54, 55.
- Lady Jean, daughter of fourteenth Earl of Sutherland, letter from, on an offer of marriage, 77-79.
- Sir Robert, of Kynmonowie, founder of the family of Gordonston, and second son of the twelfth Earl of Sutherland, was the first person created a Baronet of Nova Scotia, 8 ; charter and obligations concerning, 8-16 ; letter from, to the Earl Marischal of Scotland, in reference to the buying of a ship for the furtherance of the plantation of Nova Scotia, 17, 18 ; mutual obligations between him and others as to

- the ship, 18, 20; letters to, from Charles 1., 25, 36; letter from, to Marquis of Huntly, 176-178.
- Gordon, Sir Ludovick, second Baronet of Gordonston; marriage of his daughter, 55; repeatedly ordered to appear before the Presbytery of Elgin, 86, 87; summoned to appear before the Synod of Moray, 87, 88; his conduct brought under the notice of Parliament, 88; receipt by Sir William Bruce of Balcaskie for the last half of the fine imposed, 88, 89; his second wife, Jean Stewart, 103.
- Sir Robert, third Baronet of Gordonston; charter-party in 1679, between him, when younger of Gordonston, and Alexander Atcheson, skipper of the ship called the "Penelope" of Pittenweem, 115-119; agreement with Magnus Prince, treasurer of Edinburgh, as to payment for grain, 120, 121; a woman tried for theft in his Baron-Court, and sentenced to be drowned, 141-143.
- Sir Robert, fourth Baronet of Gordonston, supposed to have no shadow, 144; his prison in Gordonston described, 144, 145; his contumacious disposition manifested in various instances, 145, 146; his yearly allowance to his wife and family, 155.
- Lady (wife of fourth Baronet), 146.
- Sir Alexander, of Clunie, 18.
- Sir James, of Lesmore, 18.
- Sir John, of Durno, advocate, third son of Sir Ludovick; how letters were addressed to him when a student on the Continent, 96; documents connected with the conferring upon him the title and honour of Knight-Bachelor, 96-101; letter to his father, giving his objections to become an advocate, 101, 102; letter from his stepmother, 103; purchases the share of one of Pen's original partners of East New Jersey, 104; left residuary legatee by his brother George, 112, 113.
- Sir Thomas, of Clunie, 7.
- Sir William, of Invergordon, Bart., as partner in herring-fishing, 138-140.
- A., pedagogue to the young Earl (fourteenth) of Sutherland, letter from, on being dismissed, 57-64.
- Gordon, Alexander of Sidray, guilty of resetting Egyptians (gipsies), 128.
- Agent, 33.
- Mr. Charles, in East New Jersey, 112.
- Charles, fifth son of Sir Ludovick, dismissed by Mr. Blackwood, merchant in Edinburgh, and apprenticed to a Writer to the Signet, 111.
- George, fourth son of Sir Ludovick; letter from Barclay of Ury concerning him, 105, 106; intimation of his death, 111; notices of him, 111; his will, 112, 113.
- James, macer before the Lords of Council and Session, 100.
- James, servant of Thomas Gordon, Writer to the Signet, 121.
- John, writer in Elgin, and factor to Sir Robert Gordon, 157.
- John, Bailie of the Baron-Court of Gordonston, 141.
- John, heir-apparent of Sidderay, 67.
- John, of Cairnbro, 3.
- Laird of Buckie, 47.
- Ludovick, merchant in Elgin; his deposition as to an assault committed on him by a Ross-shire baronet, 138-140.
- Robert, of Clunie, admitted a partner of East New Jersey by William Pen, 104.
- Thomas, Writer to the Signet, 121.
- Thomas, in East New Jersey, 112.
- Thomas, executed, by particular request, for sheep-stealing, 143.
- Katherine, eldest daughter of Sir Robert, and mother of Robert Barclay of Ury, 104.
- Lucy, eldest daughter of Sir Ludovick, 55.
- Gordon, Stewart, and Campbell, of Edinburgh, partners in a tack of the Inland Excise, 131.
- Gordonston, Morayshire family of, 8.
- House modernized, 143.
- Gorge, Edward Lord (printed George by mistake), depute of Charles 1. at the "christning" of Sir Robert Gordon's child, 26.
- Goring, George Lord (afterwards Earl of Norwich), sells the King's jewels, 38.
- Gorme, Sir Donald, of Slait, Knight, an adventurer in the plantation of New Scotland, 12.

- Gout, cure for, 145.
 Grafton Castle, taking of, 40.
 Grain, export of, from the north of Scotland, 115.
 Grant, Alexander, in Muir of Drainy, his wife imprisoned in Gordonston, 145.
 — Alexander, of Kirdells, ancestor of Ballindalloch, a subacksman in 1701, of the Inland Excise, 132.
 — Mr. (afterwards Sir Robert), brother of Lord Glenelg, 166.
 — Mr. (afterwards Sir John Peter), of Rothiemurchus, 173.
 — Lady Ann, sends for a body of Highlanders, 169; at the earnest entreaty of the sheriff of the county, orders the Highlanders to return home, 171.
 — Janet, convicted of housebreaking and robbery, sentenced to be drowned in the Loch of Spynie, 141-143.
 — Janet, a prisoner in the "Pit" at Gordonston, 144.
 — Lodge, in Elgin, 169, 170.
 Gray, Mr. John, Dean of Caithness, intrusted with the education of John fourteenth Earl of Sutherland, 57; books to be purchased for him in 1633, at London, 68.
 — Laird of Skibo, 78.
 Guild, Jonet, her fee for curing two "woundit sogers," 50.
 Gunn, William, servant of Sir R. Gordon, 11.

 HAARLEM, some expenses in 1627, at, 182
 Hague, The, some expenses in 1627, at, 180, 181.
 Haitly, Mr., 65.
 Hakyrtowne, Laird of, 3.
 Hamilton, James first Duke of, imprisoned in Pendennis Castle, 41, 44.
 — Sir William, of Elistoun, Knight, 29.
 — Alexander, macer before the Lords of Conneil and Session, 100.
 — Dame Margaret, spouse of Sir John Seton, 29.
 Hampton Court, Ambassador of Polonia has an audience at, 29.
 Harrocourt, Monsieur de, French ambassador at Court of Charles I., 38, 39.
 Harthorn's Lane, in London, the Plague near, 34.
 Hay, James (see Carlile, first Earl of), 26, 27.
 — Sir James, of Kingusk, 26.
 — J., Provost of Elgin, 54.
 Hen-stealing, a woman whipped for, 143.
 Henryson, Jo., macer to His Majesty's Privy Council and Exchequer, 101.
 Hepburn, Mr. Robert, a pedagogue, 63.
 Heriot's Hospital, drink consumed in, to be excepted in a tack of Excise, 136.
 Herries, John Lord (afterwards Earl of Nithsdale), wishes in 1636, to get land in Ireland, 30, 32.
 Hesse, Landgrave of, defeats Colloredo, 32.
 Highlanders sent for, to defend Grant Lodge, Elgin, 169; seven hundred fed on the lawn there, 170; return to Strathspey, 171.
 Holland, first Earl of (Henry Rich), takes the Covenant, 42.
 Holland's ambassadors go to Oxford to salute Charles I., 38; wish to take precedence of the French ambassador, 39.
 Hollanders, wrongs committed by some, on English merchants of the West Indies Company, 23; reply to the King's Commissioners on demanding reparation, 23.
 Home, Henry (Lord Kames), letter from, on the law as to muirburn, 152-154.
 — Dame Margaret, Countess of Moray, renounces part of the Thanedom of Moray, 72-74.
 Hope, Sir William, deputy-governor of Edinburgh Castle, a partner in 1701, in a tack of the Inland Excise, 131.
 Hopton, Sir Ralph, after his defeat near Winchester, 45.
 Horn, Gustavas, blockades a town occupied by the Prince of Denmark, 46.
 Horne, James, burgess and kirk-officer of Aberdeen; his receipt for his fee "for tolling of the kirk-belles" at the burial of Sir Robert Farquhar, 83.
 — James, Moderator of the Presbytery of Elgin, two letters from, 86, 87.
 Horse-hire, receipt for payment of, to carry two gentlewomen from Kinghorn to Gordonston, 156, 157; paid for carrying money to General Baillie's army, 175.

- Horticultural Society of London, its first prize awarded, in 1852, to the gardener at Duffus House, near Elgin, 147.
- Household expenses and servants' wages, documents relating to, 155-158.
- Houston, John, younger of Houston, a tacksmen in 1697, of the Customs, 131.
- Howard, Frances Duchess of Richmond and Lennox, her liberality, 69-71.
- Hull, the relief of, 39.
- Hunter, John, tailor, and burghess of Edinburgh, letter to, from Countess of Sutherland, 75; account due to him, 76, 77.
- Mr. T., letter from, about fruit-tree grafts sent in 1684 to Gordonston, 148.
- Huntly, George first Marquis of, applied to for assistance against the Roses, 5; his bond of maintenance, 6, 7.
- George second Marquis of, his loyalty commended in a letter from Charles I., 36; captures two ships at Aberdeen, 177.
- George fourth Earl of, his daughter, the Countess of Sutherland, mother of Sir Robert Gordon, 8.
- Lord (afterwards second Duke of Gordon), letters from, 124-126.
- Hydropathic establishment on one of the Clunie Hills, near Forbes, 1.
- INCHERTELLIE, town and lands of, part of the Thanedom of Moray, 72, 73.
- Inglish, Mr., in 1636, a money-broker, 32.
- Innemarkie, Laird of (Robert Innes), 1, 2.
- Innes, Alexander, servitor to Robert Innes, Writer to His Majesty's Signet, 99.
- Bailie, of Elgin, commonly called "Phoenix," 167, 172, 173.
- John, with accomplices, breaks into the stables of the Deanery of Moray, assaults the Dean, and kills his daughter, 1.
- John, servitor to Robert Innes, Writer to His Majesty's Signet, 99.
- Robert, bailie of Elgin, 132.
- Robert, Writer to His Majesty's Signet, receipt granted by, in 1682, in name of the Lyon Heralds and Pursuivants, for fee and casualty payable by a Knight-Bachelor, 98, 99.
- Inneses, their feud with the Dunbars, 1-5.
- Intelligence, The Weekly*, sent in 1644, from London to Gordonston, 43.
- Inverbreckie, the dwelling-house of Sir William Gordon of Invergordon, 133, 139.
- Inverness, two Commissioners to be chosen for the shire of, by command of Charles I., 25.
- town of, kept in terror by a troublesome neighbour, 91-95.
- Inverurie, burgh of, 164, 165.
- Invitations to funerals: of a Countess, 81; of a Laird, 82.
- Ireland, Deputy of, 30, 31; his arrival in 1636, at London, 34.
- Irish, Earl of Antrim commissioned in 1644, to invade Scotland with thirty thousand, 38; reported in 1646, to have declared for the Pope and King of Spain, 177.
- Iron, three hundred stone of, to be sent as part payment of grain, 120.
- Irving, Mr., of Kincusie, slain near Aberdeen, 48.
- Ivory, Mr. James (afterwards a Lord of Session), 173.
- JAFFRAY, Alexander, his pay as a Burgess attending the Committee of Estates, 50.
- James, John, Chancellor of the jury at a Baron-Court, 142.
- James VI.: his grant of a portion of North American continent to Sir William Alexander of Menstrie, 8.
- Jermyn (German), Henry Lord, in 1644, one of the Spanish faction, 41, 43.
- Jersey, New (see New Jersey and East New Jersey), 104.
- Johnston, Arthur, and John Reid, trumpeters; their receipt for their fees for attendance at the funeral of Sir Robert Farquhar, 84, 85.
- Patrick, indweller in Leith, a witness, 119.
- KAMES, Lord (see Home, Henry), 152.
- Kay, George, factor to Sir Robert Gordon, 150.
- Keith, Lord (see Marischal of Scotland), 18.
- Kellie, Master of, 63.
- Kennewie, James, servitor to Sir William Bruce of Balcaskie, 88, 89.

- Kenety, Hendrie, his receipt in 1736, for payment of horse-hire, 156, 157.
- Kilbuck, cairn of, no Dunbar to go east of, 40.
- Kincaid, Edward, servant of Sir D. Livingstone, 17.
- Kintore, burgh of, 164, 165, 166.
- Earl of, 164, 165, 166.
- Kintrea, town and lands of, part of the Thanedom of Moray, 72, 73.
- Knight-Bachelor, fees of commission for the title and honour of, 96-101.
- Knight-baronets of Nova Scotia: order of, instituted by Charles I., 8; bind themselves to buy a ship to advance the enterprise of planting a colony in Nova Scotia, 17; price in 1625, of a baronetcy, 9.
- LABORATORY, vault converted into a, by the fourth Baronet of Gordonston, 143, 144.
- Laing, William, in East New Jersey, executor of George Gordon, 112.
- Lances for the army under General Baillie in 1645, and their price, 175.
- Lauder, Mr. John, an Edinburgh lawyer, 122.
- Laurie, Gawen, advances money, 102; his description of East New Jersey, when Deputy-Governor of that province, 106-110.
- Law, J., a witness, 128.
- Lawburrows, Letters of, granted to the Provost and Magistrates of Inverness against Andrew McKillican, 91-95.
- Leckie, Walter, of Desthoures, 11.
- Leith, 129, 179.
- Lennox, Ludovick second Duke of, letter from, 24; his widow, Frances Howard, 69.
- Esme third Duke of, 69.
- James fourth Duke of, Chamberlain of Scotland, royal command to, 27; his Grace's order to the Vice-Chamberlain, 28; mentioned, 69.
- Lady Margaret, 71.
- Leslie, Sir Alexander (afterwards Earl of Leven), his exploits in Westphalia, 29, 32.
- Alexander, a prisoner in the "Pit" at Gordonston, 144.
- Leslie, Walter, officer to the Synod of Moray, 88.
- Lichfield, Bishop of, patron in 1629, of Westminster School, 65.
- Lieneland, fourteen thousand troops from, join the Swedish army, 33.
- Limerick, Lord, makes his escape, 41.
- Lincoln, fens of, drained in 1636; Commissioners sent to apportion, 30.
- Linlithgow, Agnes Countess-Dowager of, has a subtaek (Inland Excise) of "the Lordship of Zetland and Isles thereof," 132.
- Linton, Alexander, servant of the Master of Elphinstone, 67.
- Livingstone, Sir David, of Dunipace, Knight-Baronet, 17.
- Lobster-chests, 122.
- Lochness, 160.
- Londoners, the, refuse in 1646, to advance money, 177.
- Lords and Commons meet, 22d January 1644, at Oxford; their proceedings, 40, 41.
- Loudon, John first Earl of, his regiment in 1645, supplied with meal, 176.
- Lovat, Simon Lord; letter from, to Captain George Cumming, son of Laird of Altyre, on raising men for his regiment, 158-161.
- Low Countries, 29; Commissioners for the Estates of the, 23.
- "Luckenbooths," the, of Edinburgh, 111.
- Lugging, punishment of, for theft, 143.
- "Lyk" or "Lykwake," receipts for singing and reading at that of Sir Robert Farquhar, 83.
- Lyon, the Lord—Brodie of Brodie, 146.
- Lytill, Captain, receives a boll of salt for garrison of Innerwharatie, its price, 50.
- MAASLANDSLUIS, some expenses in 1627, at, 180.
- M'Beane, Lauchlan, Master of the ship called "The Margaret of Inverness," describes his reception in 1667, at Crail, 121, 122.
- MacDonald, Sir Donald (see Gorme), 12.
- Mackay, Sir Donald (afterwards Lord Reay), embarks three thousand men in 1626, at Cromarty, for service in Germany, 58, 64;

- sails from Leith in 1627, to take command, his travelling expenses, etc., 179.
- Mackenzie, Sir John, father of first Earl of Cromarty, bought Tarbet from the Dunbars, 5.
- Mr. Kenneth (afterwards created a Baronet), second son of the Earl of Cromarty, partner in 1701, in a tack of the Inland Excise, 131.
- Thomas (see Pluscardine), 177.
- Mackenzie—sums demanded by the Scots Committee of Estates, from sixteen persons of the name of, 49, 178.
- Mackintosh, Mr., Earl of Moray's Chamberlain in the county of Inverness, 161.
- M'Intosche, Lachlan, of Dumachtyn, 2.
- M'Killican, Andrew, terrifies the inhabitants of Inverness, 91-95.
- Magdeburg, blockaded by the Saxons, 29; hopes of relief, 33.
- Magillivray, Alexander, commanded the Mackintoshes at the battle of Culloden, 161.
- William, of Dunmaglass, 161.
- Magnus, a harper in The Hague, 182.
- Maitland, Thomas, macer before the Lords of Council and Session, 100.
- Manchester, Edward second Earl of, defeats the Marquis of Newcastle's cavalry, 39; he watches the movements of Prince Rupert, 49.
- Mansfield, Connt, 58, 178.
- Manufactories, etc., excepted in a tack of Inland Excise, 135.
- Marchmont, Patrick first Earl of, 132.
- Marischal of Scotland, William sixth Earl, letter to, 17; agrees to divide the spoil, 18-20.
- Marriage, letter on an offer of, 78, 79; one described, 80.
- Marshall, James, a skipper in Covesea, put into the stocks; died in consequence of being imprisoned below ground, as did also his son James, 145.
- Marten, James, 95.
- Mary, Queen of Scots, 8.
- Masks for gentlewomen, 24.
- Massy, Colonel Edward, governor of Gloucester in 1644, captures the Queen's carriage, 43.
- Maurice, Prince, nephew of Charles I., 45.
- Meal, provided for regiments in 1645, and its price, 176.
- Meldrum, Andrew, of Dumbrek, 3.
- Menzies, William, servitor to Magnus Prince, treasurer of Edinburgh, 121.
- Messengers-of-arms, moneys paid to, 51; how they performed their duty, 93.
- Middleton, General-Major, 51.
- Miller, William, tenant of the Royal Gardens at Holyrood in 1718, his account for garden seeds and implements, 148, 149; letter from, 150-152.
- Milne, Patrick, of Crimonmogate, 165.
- Monro, General-Major, entertained at Aberdeen by Mr. Robert Farquhar, 51; writes in 1645, from Ireland, 177.
- Montgomery, Mr. Francis, of Giffen, 132.
- Montrose, the Marquis of, 48, 51.
- Moray, James fourth Earl of, very extravagant, 72-74.
- James eighth Earl of, letter from, to his chamberlain in the county of Inverness, 161, 162.
- George, Bishop of, 3.
- Countess of (see Home, Dame Margaret), 72-74.
- Moray, county of, several gentlemen in, ordered in 1646, to lend money, 177.
- Morison Jean, servant to George Gordon in East New Jersey: what he bequeathed to her, 112.
- Muir, Sir Archibald, of Thornton, a tacksman in 1697, of the Customs, 131.
- Muirburn, letter from Lord Kames on the law of, 152-154.
- Mundole, house of, burned by the Roses, 5.
- Munro, Robert, of Fowlis, 3.
- Munroes, the Colonels, returned in 1636, from the Continent, 29.
- Murray, Lady, a vermin-killer, 130.
- Mr. John Archibald (afterwards a Lord of Session), 173.
- NANTWICH, the King's army defeated at, 40.
- Newcastle, Marquis and afterwards Duke of (William Cavendish), defeated, 39; in York, 45, 46.
- coals, patent of, 70.
- New-milnes, manufactory of, excepted in a tack of Inland Excise, 135.

- New Jersey, a tract of land in America, conveyed in 1664, by James, Duke of York, to Lord Barclay and Sir George Cartrat, 104.
- Newton, Laird of, his funeral, 82.
- Archibald Dunbar of, 146.
- Nicolson, William, tailor, a witness, 13.
- William, letter-carrier, hanged by order of Lord Gordon; sum paid to his widow, 51.
- Nisbet, Alexander, servitor to Sir John Gordon of Durno, and probably the celebrated writer on Heraldry, 97.
- John, writer in Edinburgh, 119.
- Norway, return cargo of deals from, 116.
- Nottingham, the King's forces defeated at, 40.
- Nova Caesaria, or New Jersey, granted and conveyed in 1664, to Lord Barclay and Sir George Cartrat, by James, Duke of York, 104.
- Nova Scotia, plantation of, 8, et seq.
- Knight-Baronets of, 8, et seq.
- Nymegen, some expenses in 1627, at, 181.
- OGILVIE, James Lord (afterwards second Earl of Airlie), reported in 1644, to have returned to Scotland, 48.
- O'Neil, Dan, is made in 1644, a groom of the Bedchamber, 38.
- Orange, Prince of, 39; his drummers, 180.
- Ormonde, James first Marquis of, complices in 1646, with the Parliament of England, 177.
- Oxford: Charles I.'s Parliament at, 37, 40.
- PASSAGE-MONEY in 1685, from Scotland to East New Jersey, 113.
- Paterson, John, writer in Exchequer, 101.
- Peddle, James, his pay as a Burgess attending the Committee of Estates, 50.
- Pembroke and Montgomery, Philip Earl of, Lord Chamberlain of England; letter from, 35.
- Pen, William, of Worminghurst, and eleven partners, buy from the executors and trustees of Sir George Cartrat that part of New Jersey called East New Jersey, and afterwards admit twelve additional partners, some of whose names are given, 104.
- Pendennis Castle, Cornwall, 41, 44.
- Perey, Henry (Lord of Anwick), 43.
- Perth, James first Earl of, 77.
- James fourth Earl of, admitted by William Pen and his brother speculators as a partner of East New Jersey, 104.
- Philip, James, servant of Sir W. Alexander, 11, 13, 17, 19.
- Piccolomini, a Spanish general, permitted in 1644, to pass from Oxford to Dover, 46.
- Picks and crowbars for the army under General Baillie in 1645, and their price, 176.
- Pittenweem, the "Penelope" of, 115, et seq.
- Plague, the, in London (1636), 34.
- Pluscardino, Thomas Mackenzie of, brother of the Earl of Seaforth, ordered by the Committee of Estates to lend money, 177.
- Pollenhurwich, the port of, 120.
- Polonia, Ambassador of, at the Court of Charles I., 29, 33.
- King of, negotiations about his intended marriage, 33.
- Pondicherry, 163.
- Port de Mutoane Bay, in Nova Scotia, 8, 18.
- Porter, Endymion, in 1644, one of the Spanish faction, 38; his apprehension prevented, 41.
- Poulett, John second Lord, cashiered, 41.
- Powder for the army under General Baillie in 1645, and its price, 175.
- Powrie, Andrew, druggist, a lessee in 1688, of the North Leith Glasshouse, 128.
- Prince, Magnus, treasurer of Edinburgh, agreement between him and Robert Gordon, younger of Gordonston, as to payment of grain, in money, wine, and iron, 120, 121.
- Prison at Gordonston described, 144, 145.
- Protector, the Lord, nothing to be done prejudicial to, 55.
- Pumphney, Captain, 180.
- Punishment for theft, different modes of, 143.
- Purse to carry money to General Baillie's army, 175.
- QUEEN, the (Henrietta Maria, wife of Charles I.), 38, 39, 43, 44.
- Queensberry, James second Duke of, 132.

- RAE, Mr. John, 63.
- Ragotsi, Prince of Transylvania, annoys the Emperor of Germany, 46.
- Rattery, Peter, receipt for his wages in 1759, as cook at Gordonston, 157.
- Reay, first Lord (Sir Donald Mackay), 48, 58, 179.
- Red-hand, thief taken, 142.
- Regiam Majestatem*, printing of the, 67.
- Regiment of soldiers, strength and pay of one, in Charles I.'s time, 53, 54.
- Reid, John, and Arthur Johnston, trumpeters, their receipt for their fees for attendance at the funeral of Sir Robert Farquhar, 84, 85.
- Revenue, public, in 1701, how collected, 131-137.
- Rheenen, pontage of bridge between it and Arnheim, 181.
- Richmond, Dukes of, 70.
- and Lennox, Duchess of, 65; her bequest to Esme, third Duke of Lennox, and to his son Lord Darnley, 69-71.
- Robertson, Doctor, has George Gordon's authority to open his body after death, 112.
- James, a skipper, in Covesea, put into the stocks, 145.
- William, of Kindeace, and his sons, moneys ordered to be advanced by, 49.
- William, a skipper in Covesea, put into the stocks, 145.
- Roishauch, town and lands of, part of the Thanedom of Moray, 72, 73.
- Roses, the, their feud with the Dunbars, 5-7.
- Ross, bishopric of; rents of, farmed out, 131.
- Ross, Alexander, a servant of the Countess of Moray, a witness, 74.
- Alexander, bailie of Inverness, 91.
- Rotterdam, some expenses in 1627, at, 181; grain exported to, in 1679, from Scotland, 116.
- Ruiffes, town and lands of, part of the Thanedom of Moray, 72, 73.
- Rupert, Prince, nephew of Charles I.; joins in sending propositions of peace to the Parliamentary General, 41; his movements in the civil war, 45, 46, 48.
- SACK, two half-butts of, to be sent as part payment of grain, 120.
- St. Giles Kirk, Edinburgh, 16.
- — — — — Elgin, 82.
- St. Johnstone (Perth), baronets of Nova Scotia to meet at, 10, 12.
- Sanguhar, house of, burned by the Roses, 5.
- Satinisgobe and Dornick webs stolen, 142.
- Saxons, the, invest Magdeburg, 29.
- Scott, Mr. George, of Pitlochrie, gets a hundred prisoners in 1685, to transport to East New Jersey, 105.
- Seaffield, Lewis-Alexander fifth Earl of, 166, 169.
- Seeds, list of, sent in 1718, to Gordonston, 148, 149.
- Sempill, Hugh eleventh Lord, his regiment, 160.
- Servants' wages in 1741, etc., 156, 157.
- Seton, Sir John, Gentleman of the Privy Chamber, in the reign of Charles I., letters from, 29, 34, 37, 47.
- Henry, 31, 32.
- Sharpe, John, his letter in 1629, about getting his son into Westminster school, 65, 66.
- Shaw, Sir John, of Greenock, a tacksman in 1697, of the Customs, 131.
- Jon., macer to his Majesty's Privy Council and Exchequer, 101.
- Sheep-stealing, Thomas Gordon executed for, 143.
- Sinclair, John seventh Lord, at Hartlepool in 1644, with his regiment, 48; sum due to him in 1641, for his officers, etc., 51, 52.
- Skene, Sir John, of Curriehill, his discharge to the Earl of Sutherland in 1612, in reference to printing the Regiam Majestatem, 67.
- John, a witness, 74.
- "Slettars" (woodlice), a decoction of, given as a cure for a cold, 145.
- Smuggling, one of the Dunphail tenants imprisoned for, in Nairn Jail, 5.
- Southreif and robbery committed by a Baronet who was also a member of Parliament, 139.
- Spain, the Resident of, is refused leave to go to London, or to have a convoy to Dunkirk, 46.
- Spanish faction at Charles I.'s Court, 38-41.
- Spur Alley, in London, the Plague in, 34.
- Spynie, Loch of, near Gordonston, where

- punishment of death was inflicted by drowning, 141, 143.
- Starge, James, skipper, 121.
- Stewart, Alexander, writer in Elgin, 74.
- James, bailie of Elgin, 132.
- John, of Ladywell, 103.
- Jean, second wife of Sir Ludovick Gordon; letter from her to her stepson, Sir John Gordon of Durno, 103.
- Lady Elizabeth, Countess of Arundel, 71.
- Strachan, Sir Alexander, Bart., of Thornton, cautioner for Sir Robert Gordon, his advice to be taken, 18; agrees with others in 1626, to send a ship to Nova Scotia, 19.
- Strathmore, Charles sixth Earl of, his marriage described, 80.
- Countess of, 80.
- Strathnaver, Lord; his letter to the Master-Builders at Sheerness in 1732, concerning an apprentice, 126, 127.
- Strathspey, express sent to, 169.
- Stuart, Sir John, of Meffin (Methven), 27.
- Miss Ann, Earl of Moray's niece, extract from a letter written by, 80.
- Surrey, Earl of, 69.
- Sutherland, Alexander twelfth Earl of, induces the Dunbars and Inneses, in 1578, to come to an agreement, 1.
- thirteenth Earl of, 22, 77, 81, 177.
- fourteenth Earl of, 22.
- Duchess of (1866), 130.
- Countess of twelfth Earl of, mother of Sir Robert Gordon, first Baronet of Nova Scotia, 8.
- Countess of thirteenth Earl of, letter to her dressmaker, 75; her Ladyship's account, 76, 77.
- Countess of fourteenth Earl of, 77; an invitation to her funeral, 81.
- Sutherland, Mr., Master-Builders to his Majesty at Sheerness, 126.
- Sweden, powerful at sea, 46.
- Swinton, Sir John, in 1627, at Dort, 182.
- TARBAT, George Viscount of, a bottle-manufacturer, 128; Lord Register and Lord Justice-General of Scotland, and created Earl of Cromarty, 130.
- Tarbet, estate of, bought from the Dunbars by Sir John Mackenzie, 5.
- Laids of, 5-7.
- Taylor, Bailie Francis, acting chief magistrate of Elgin, ordered to call a meeting of Council, 166; captured, and transported to Sutherland, 168; his explanation to the Council on his return home, 171.
- Thiel (Teyll), some expenses in 1627, at, 182.
- Thieves, punishment of, 141-143.
- Thomson, Archibald, 95.
- David, paid for keeping committee-door in Dundee, 50.
- David, merchant in Edinburgh, 89.
- Thomson, William, servant of the Countess of Moray, a witness, 74.
- Tibols, Charles 1. to be at, 34.
- Tulloch, Samuel, clerk in 1661, to the Presbytery of Elgin, 88.
- URQUHART, Walter, sheriff of Cromarty, 3.
- Utrecht, 96, 105; some expenses in 1627, at, 181.
- VANDAGHEN, Thomas, bookbinder in Aberdeen, his receipt for his fee for ringing the Tolbooth bells at the funeral of Sir Robert Farquhar, 84.
- Vauhan, Mrs. Priscilla, housekeeper at Gordonston in 1758, her wages, etc., 157.
- Vauis, John, of Lockslyne, 7.
- Robert, Burgess of Inverness, 7.
- Vermont, Madame La Marquise de, 24.
- Vevers, John, commander of a ship called "The America Merchant," bound in 1685, for East New Jersey, 143.
- Vinage, patents of the, 69.
- WAAL, river, ferry across, 181.
- Wages in 1724, of a gardener, 150; in 1741, of household servants, 156.
- Wales, Prince of (son of Charles 1.), joins in sending propositions of peace to the Parliamentary General, 41.
- Wallace, Hugh, of Ingliston in 1685, his Majesty's cash-keeper, 89.
- James, 32.
- Waller, Sir William, at Farnham in 1644, in command of eight thousand men, 45.

- Wanstead, meeting of Knight-Baronets of Nova Scotia at, 17, 20.
- Wardrobe, Royal, a full and perfect inventory to be taken of, 27, 23.
- Wat, Adam, clerk, 50.
- Watson, John, merchant, a lessee in 1688, of North Leith Glasshouse, 128.
- Wauchton, Hepburn of, 63.
- Wax, Green: patent of the, 70, 71.
- West Indies, the Company of, 23.
- Westminster School, candidate in 1629, for admission to, 65.
- Wines, the privilege of supplying the King's household with, 69; as part-payment for grain, 120.
- Winton, George third Earl of, applies for a gift of land in Ireland, 31, 34.
- Wives, noble and exemplary, 69-74.
- Wood, Patrick, in 1636, a money-broker, 32.
- York, James Duke of, 41; gets from his brother Charles II. certain tracts of land in America, and he conveys, in 1664, that part called New Jersey to Lord Barclay and Sir George Cartrat, 104; joins in sending propositions of peace to the Parliamentary General, 41.
- Royal visit to, in 1638, and how the King was attended, 35.
- “You know who I am.” and “You know whom.”—two letters, so signed, dated 1644, and in the handwriting of Sir John Seton, 37-47.
- Young, Adam, 74.
- Alexander, weaver in the new town of Drainsy, accuses Janet Grant of house-breaking and robbery, 141-143.
- Mr. Patrick, 65.
- Mr. Robert, letter from, on Elgin burgh politics, 164-174.

88 PRINCES STREET,
Edinburgh.

EDMONSTON & DOUGLAS' LIST OF WORKS

—oOo—

A Short American Tramp in the fall of 1864.

By the Editor of 'Life in Normandy.' 8vo, price 12s.

Memoir of Lieutenant-General Sir Ralph Abercromby, K.B.,

1793-1801. By his Son JAMES LORD DUNFERMLINE. 8vo, price 10s. 6d.

Essays and Tracts:

The Culture and Discipline of the Mind, and other Essays. By JOHN ABERCROMBIE, M.D., Late First Physician to the Queen for Scotland. New Edition. Fcap. 8vo, cloth, 3s. 6d.

The Malformations, Diseases, and Injuries of the Fingers and Toes, and their Surgical Treatment. By THOMAS ANNANDALE, F.R.C.S., Assistant Surgeon, Royal Infirmary, Edinburgh. The Jacksonian Prize for the Year 1864. 1 vol., 8vo, with Illustrations, price 10s. 6d.

A Few Words on Clerical Subscription in the Church of England. Reprinted with Alterations and Additions from the 'North British Review.' By Viscount AMBERLEY. 8vo, price 1s. 6d.

Odal Rights and Feudal Wrongs:

A Memorial for Orkney. By DAVID BALFOUR of Balfour and Trenaby. 8vo, price 6s.

Basil St. John.

An Autumn Tale. 1 vol. 8vo, price 12s.

Bible Readings.

12mo, cloth, 2s.

By the Loch and River Side.

Forty Graphic Illustrations by a New Hand. Oblong folio, handsomely bound, 21s.

Aunt Ailie.

Second Edition. By CATHARINE D. BELL, Author of 'Cousin Kate's Story,' 'Margaret Cecil,' etc. Fcap. 8vo, cloth, 3s. 6d.

Charlie and Ernest ; or, Play and Work.

A Story of Hazlehurst School, with Four Illustrations by J. D. By M. BETHAM EDWARDS. Royal 16mo, 3s. 6d.

British Birds drawn from Nature.

By Mrs. BLACKBURN. (J. B.) Folio, price 10s. 6d. India Proofs, 21s.

Homer and the Iliad.

In three Parts. By JOHN STUART BLACKIE, Professor of Greek in the University of Edinburgh. In 4 vols. demy 8vo, price 42s.

PART I.—HOMERIC DISSERTATIONS.

II.—THE ILIAD IN ENGLISH VERSE.

III.—COMMENTARY, PHILOLOGICAL AND ARCHÆOLOGICAL.

On Beauty.

Three Discourses delivered in the University of Edinburgh, with an Exposition of the Doctrine of the Beautiful according to Plato. By J. S. BLACKIE, Professor of Greek in the University, and of Ancient Literature to the Royal Scottish Academy, Edinburgh. Crown 8vo, cloth, 8s. 6d.

Lyrical Poems.

By J. S. BLACKIE. Crown 8vo, cloth, 7s. 6d.

On Greek Pronunciation.

By J. S. BLACKIE. Demy 8vo, 3s. 6d.

Memoirs of the Life, Writings, and Discoveries of Sir Isaac

Newton. By SIR DAVID BREWSTER, K.H., A.M., LL.D., D.C.L., F.R.S., etc., etc. With Portraits. New and Cheaper Edition, 2 vols., fcap. 8vo, cloth, 12s.

Works by Margaret Maria Gordon (nee Brewster).

LADY ELINOR MORDAUNT ; or, Sunbeams in the Castle. Crown 8vo, cloth, 9s.

LETTERS FROM CANNES AND NICE. Illustrated by a Lady. 8vo, cloth, 12s.

WORK ; or, Plenty to do and How to do it. Thirty-third thousand. Fcap. 8vo, cloth, 2s. 6d.

LITTLE MILLIE AND HER FOUR PLACES. Cheap Edition. Forty-sixth thousand. Limp cloth, 1s.

SUNBEAMS IN THE COTTAGE ; or, What Women may do. A narrative chiefly addressed to the Working Classes. Cheap Edition. Thirty-ninth thousand. Limp cloth, 1s.

PREVENTION ; or, An Appeal to Economy and Common Sense. 8vo, 6d.

THE WORD AND THE WORLD. Price 2d.

LEAVES OF HEALING FOR THE SICK AND SORROWFUL. Fcap. 4to, cloth, 3s. 6d. Cheap Edition, limp cloth, 2s.

THE MOTHERLESS BOY ; with an Illustration by J. NOEL PATON, R.S.A. Cheap Edition, limp cloth, 1s.

France under Richelieu and Colbert.

By J. H. BRIDGES, M.B., late Fellow of Oriel College, Oxford. In 1 vol. small 8vo, price 8s. 6d.

Memoirs of John Brown, D.D.

By the Rev. J. CAIRNS, D.D., Berwick, with Supplementary Chapter by his Son JOHN BROWN, M.D. Fcap. 8vo, cloth, 9s. 6d.

Works by John Brown, M.D., F.R.S.E.

LOCKE AND SYDENHAM, with other Professional Papers. By JOHN BROWN, M.D. A New Edition in 1 vol. extra fcap. 8vo, price 7s. 6d.

HORÆ SUBSECIVÆ. Sixth Edition, in 1 vol. extra fcap. 8vo, price 7s. 6d.

LETTER TO THE REV. JOHN CAIRNS, D.D. Second Edition, crown 8vo, sewed, 2s.

ARTHUR H. HALLAM; Extracted from 'Horæ Subsecivæ.' Fcap. sewed, 2s.; cloth, 2s. 6d.

RAB AND HIS FRIENDS; Extracted from 'Horæ Subsecivæ.' Forty-fourth thousand. Fcap. sewed, 6d.

MARJORIE FLEMING: A Sketch. Fifteenth thousand. Fcap. sewed, 6d.

OUR DOGS; Extracted from 'Horæ Subsecivæ.' Seventeenth thousand. Fcap. sewed, 6d.

RAB AND HIS FRIENDS. With Illustrations by George Harvey, R.S.A., J. Noel Paton, R.S.A., and J. B. New Edition, small quarto, cloth, price 3s. 6d.

"WITH BRAINS, SIR;" Extracted from 'Horæ Subsecivæ.' Fcap. sewed, 6d.

MINCHMOOR. Fcap. sewed, 6d.

JEEMS THE DOORKEEPER: A Lay Sermon. Price 6d.

THE ENTERKIN. Price 6d.

Lectures on the Atomic Theory, and Essays,

Scientific and Literary. By SAMUEL BROWN. 2 vols., crown 8vo, cloth, 15s.

The Biography of Samson.

Illustrated and Applied. By the Rev. JOHN BRUCE, D.D., Minister of Free St Andrew's Church, Edinburgh. Second Edition. 18mo, cloth, 2s.

My Indian Journal,

Containing descriptions of the principal Field Sports of India, with Notes on the Natural History and Habits of the Wild Animals of the Country—a visit to the Neilgherry Hills, and the Andaman and Nicobar Islands. By COLONEL WALTER CAMPBELL, author of 'The Old Forest Ranger.' 8vo, with Illustrations, price 16s.

Popular Tales of the West Highlands,

Orally Collected, with a translation by J. F. CAMPBELL. 4 vols., extra fcap., cloth, 32s.

Inaugural Address at Edinburgh,

April 2, 1866, by THOMAS CARLYLE, on being Installed as Rector of the University there. Price 1s.

Book-keeping,

Adapted to Commercial and Judicial Accounting, giving Systems of Book-keeping, for Lawyers, Factors and Curators, Wholesale and Retail Traders, Newspapers, Insurance Offices, and Private House-keeping, etc. By F. H. CARTER, C.A. 8vo, cloth, price 10s.

Characteristics of Old Church Architecture, etc.,

In the Mainland and Western Islands of Scotland. 4to, with Illustrations, price 25s.

Ballads from Scottish History.

By NORVAL CLYNE. Fcap. 8vo, price 6s.

Life and Works of Rev. Thomas Chalmers, D.D., LL.D.

MEMOIRS OF THE REV. THOMAS CHALMERS. By REV. W. Hanna, D.D., LL.D. 4 vols., 8vo, cloth, £2:2s.

— Cheap Edition, 2 vols., crown 8vo, cloth, 12s.

POSTHUMOUS WORKS, 9 vols., 8vo—

Daily Scripture Readings, 3 vols., £1:11:6. Sabbath Scripture Readings, 2 vols., £1:1s. Sermons, 1 vol., 10s. 6d. Institutes of Theology, 2 vols., £1:1s. Prelections on Butler's Analogy, etc., 1 vol., 10s. 6d.

Sabbath Scripture Readings. Cheap Edition, 2 vols., crown 8vo, 10s.

Daily Scripture Readings. Cheap Edition, 2 vols., crown 8vo, 10s.

ASTRONOMICAL DISCOURSES, 1s. COMMERCIAL DISCOURSES, 1s.

SELECT WORKS, in 12 vols., crown 8vo, cloth, per vol., 6s.

Lectures on the Romans, 2 vols. Sermons, 2 vols. Natural Theology, Lectures on Butler's Analogy, etc., 1 vol. Christian Evidences, Lectures on Paley's Evidences, etc., 1 vol. Institutes of Theology, 2 vols. Political Economy: with Cognate Essays, 1 vol. Polity of a Nation, 1 vol. Church and College Establishments, 1 vol. Moral Philosophy, Introductory Essays, Index, etc., 1 vol.

"Christopher North;"

A Memoir of John Wilson, late Professor of Moral Philosophy in the University of Edinburgh. Compiled from Family Papers and other sources, by his daughter, MRS. GORDON. Third Thousand. In 2 vols., crown 8vo, price 24s., with Portrait, and graphic Illustrations.

Chronicle of Gudrun;

A Story of the North Sea. From the mediæval German. By EMMA LETHERBROW. With frontispiece by J. NOEL PATON, R.S.A. New Edition for Young People, price 5s.

Of the Light of Nature,

A Discourse by NATHANIEL CULVERWELL, M.A. Edited by JOHN BROWN, D.D., with a critical Essay on the Discourse by John Cairns, D.D. 8vo, cloth, 12s.

Dainty Dishes.

Receipts collected by LADY HARRIET ST. CLAIR. Fifth edition. 1 vol. crown 8vo. Price 7s. 6d.

The Annals of the University of Edinburgh.

By ANDREW DALZEL, formerly Professor of Greek in the University of Edinburgh; with a Memoir of the Compiler, and Portrait after Raeburn. In 2 vols. demy 8vo, price 21s.

Gisli the Outlaw.

From the Icelandic. By G. W. DASENT, D.C.L. 1 vol., small 4to, with Illustrations, price 7s. 6d.

The Story of Burnt Njal;

Or, Life in Iceland at the end of the Tenth Century. From the Icelandic of the Njals Saga. By GEORGE WEBBE DASENT, D.C.L. In 2 vols. 8vo, with Maps and Plans, price 28s.

Popular Tales from the Norse,

With an Introductory Essay on the origin and diffusion of Popular Tales. Second Edition, enlarged. By GEORGE WEBBE DASENT, D.C.L. Crown 8vo, 10s. 6d.

Select Popular Tales from the Norse.

For the use of Young People. By G. W. DASENT, D.C.L. New Edition, with Illustrations. Crown 8vo, 6s.

On the Application of Sulphurous Acid Gas to the Prevention, Limitation, and Cure of Contagious Diseases. By JAMES DEWAR, M.D. Price 6s.

The Fifty Years' Struggle of the Scottish Covenanters,

1638-88. By JAMES DODDS. Third Edition, fcap., cloth, 5s.

Studies in European Politics.

By MOUNTSTUART E. GRANT DUFF, Member for the Elgin District of Burghs. 1. Spain. 2. Austria. 3. Russia. 4. Prussia. 5. Germanic Diet. 6. Holland. 7. Belgium. 1 vol. 8vo. Price 10s. 6d.

"We have no hesitation in saying that there is no work in the English Language which has anything like the same value to persons who wish to understand the recent history and present position of the countries described."—Saturday Review.

Notes on Scotch Bankruptcy Law and Practice, with reference to the proposed Amendment of the Bankruptcy Law of England. By GEORGE AULDJO ESSON, Accountant in Bankruptcy in Scotland. Price 2s. 6d.

From London to Nice.

A Journey through France, and Winter in the Sunny South. By REV. W. B. DUNBAR, of Glencairn. 12mo, cloth, price 3s.

Social Life in Former Days;

Chiefly in the Province of Moray. Illustrated by letters and family papers. By E. DUNBAR DUNBAR, late Captain 21st Fusiliers. 2 vols. demy 8vo.

Veterinary Medicines; their Actions and Uses.

By FINLAY DUN. Third Edition, revised and enlarged. 8vo, price 12s.

The Ferry Hills,

A Poem in Three Cantos. 12mo, price 2s. 6d.

Forest Sketches.

Deer-stalking and other Sports in the Highlands fifty years ago. 8vo, with Illustrations by Gourlay Steell, price 15s.

L'Histoire d'Angleterre. Par M. LAMÉ FLEURY. 18mo, cloth, 2s. 6d.

L'Histoire de France. Par M. LAMÉ FLEURY. 18mo, cloth, 2s. 6d.

Christianity viewed in some of its Leading Aspects.

By REV. A. L. R. FOOTE, Author of 'Incidents in the Life of our Saviour.' Fcap., cloth, 3s.

Frost and Fire;

Natural Engines, Tool-Marks, and Chips, with Sketches drawn at Home and Abroad by a Traveller. In 2 vols. 8vo, with Maps and numerous Illustrations on Wood, price 42s.

Fragments of Truth,

Being the Exposition of several passages of Scripture. Third Edition. Fcap. 8vo, cloth, price 5s.

Clinical Medicine.

Observations recorded at the Bedside, with Commentaries. By W. T. GAIRDNER, M.D., Professor of the Practice of Physic in the University of Glasgow. 8vo, 742 pp., with numerous Engravings on wood, 12s. 6d.

Medicine and Medical Education.

Three Lectures, with Notes and Appendix. By W. T. GAIRDNER, M.D., Professor of the Practice of Physic in the University of Glasgow. 12mo, cloth, price 2s. 6d.

Clinical and Pathological Notes on Pericarditis.

By W. T. GAIRDNER, M.D., Professor of the Practice of Physic in the University of Glasgow. 8vo, sewed, price 1s.

The Giants, the Knights, and the Princess Verbena.

A Fairy Story, with Illustrations by HUNKIL PHRANC. 4to, boards, 2s. 6d.

An Ecclesiastical History of Scotland,

From the Introduction of Christianity to the Present Time. By GEORGE GRUB, A.M. In 4 vols. 8vo, 42s. Fine Paper Copies, 52s. 6d.

The Earlier Years of our Lord's Life on Earth.

By the REV. WILLIAM HANNA, D.D., LL.D. Extra fcap. 8vo, price 5s.

The Last Day of our Lord's Passion.

By the REV. WILLIAM HANNA, D.D., LL.D. Sixteenth Edition, extra fcap. 8vo, price 5s.

The Forty Days after our Lord's Resurrection.

By the REV. WILLIAM HANNA, D.D., LL.D. Extra fcap. 8vo, price 5s.

The Healing Art, the Right Hand of the Church ;

Or, Practical Medicine an Essential Element in the Christian System. Crown 8vo, cloth, price 5s.

Hidden Depths.

2 vols. crown 8vo, price 21s.

"This book is not a work of fiction, in the ordinary acceptance of the term : if it were, it would be worse than useless, for the hidden depths, of which it reveals a glimpse, are not fit subjects for a romance."—Preface.

Notes of a Cruise of H.M.S. 'Fawn'

In the Western Pacific in the year 1862. By T. H. HOOD. Demy 8vo, with numerous Illustrations from Photographs, price 15s.

Homely Hints from the Fireside.

By the author of 'Little Things.' Cheap Edition, limp cloth, 1s.

Prometheus the Fire-bringer.

By RICHARD HENRY T. HORNE, Author of 'Orion,' &c. &c. Crown 8vo, price 2s. 6d., with Portrait.

Herminius.

A Romance. By I. E. S. In 1 vol. fcap. 8vo, price 6s

Sketches of Early Scotch History.

By COSMO INNES, F.S.A., Professor of History in the University of Edinburgh.

1. The Church ; its Old Organisation, Parochial and Monastic. 2. Universities.

3. Family History. 8vo, price 16s.

Concerning some Scotch Surnames.

By COSMO INNES, F.S.A., Professor of History in the University of Edinburgh. 1 vol., small 4to, cloth antique, 5s.

Death Scenes of Scottish Martyrs.

By HENRY INGLIS. Square 12mo, cloth, price 6s.

Instructive Picture Books.

Folio, 7s. 6d. each.

I.

The Instructive Picture Book. A few Attractive Lessons from the Natural History of Animals. By ADAM WHITE, late Assistant, Zoological Department, British Museum. With 58 folio coloured Plates. Sixth Edition, containing many new illustrations by Mrs. BLACKBURN, J. STEWART, GOURLAY STEELL, and others.

II.

The Instructive Picture Book. Lessons from the Vegetable World. By the Author of 'The Heir of Redclyffe,' 'The Herb of the Field,' etc. Arranged by ROBERT M. STARK, Edinburgh. New Edition, with many New Plates.

III.

Instructive Picture Book. The Geographical Distribution of Animals, in a Series of Pictures for the use of Schools and Families. By the late Dr. GREVILLE. With descriptive letterpress by ADAM WHITE, late Assistant, Zoological Department, British Museum.

The New Picture Book.

Pictorial Lessons on Form, Comparison, and Number, for Children under Seven Years of Age. With Explanations by NICHOLAS BOHNY. 36 oblong folio coloured illustrations. Price 7s. 6d.

The History of Scottish Poetry,

From the Middle Ages to the Close of the Seventeenth Century. By the late DAVID IRVING, LL.D. Edited by JOHN AITKEN CARLYLE, M.D. With a Memoir and Glossary. Demy 8vo, 16s.

Always in the Way,

A Little Story, by THOMAS JEANS, Author of 'The Tommiebeg Shootings,' with Illustrations by K. T. F. 1 vol. crown 8vo, price 7s. 6d.

The Circle of Christian Doctrine ;

A Handbook of Faith, framed out of a Layman's experience. By LORD KINLOCH, one of the Judges of the Supreme Court of Scotland. Third and Cheaper Edition. Fcap. 8vo, 2s. 6d.

Time's Treasure ;

Or, Devout Thoughts for every Day of the Year. Expressed in verse. By LORD KINLOCH. Third and Cheaper Edition. Fcap. 8vo, price 3s. 6d.

Studies for Sunday Evening.

By LORD KINLOCH. Fcap. 8vo, price 4s. 6d.

The Philosophy of Ethics :

An Analytical Essay. By SIMON S. LAURIE, A.M., Author of 'The Fundamental Doctrine of Latin Syntax: being an Application of Psychology to Language.' 1 vol. demy 8vo, price 6s.

Supplemental Descriptive Catalogue of Ancient Scottish Seals,

Royal, Baronial, Ecclesiastical, and Municipal, embracing the period from A.D. 1150 to the Eighteenth Century. Taken from original charters and other deeds preserved in public and private archives. By HENRY LAING. 1 vol. 4to, profusely illustrated, price £3 : 3s.

The Reform of the Church of Scotland

In Worship, Government, and Doctrine. By ROBERT LEE, D.D., Professor of Biblical Criticism in the University of Edinburgh, and Minister of Greyfriars. Part I. Worship. Second Edition, fcap. 8vo, price 3s.

The Early Races of Scotland and their Monuments.

By LIEUT.-COL. FORBES LESLIE. 2 vols. demy 8vo, profusely illustrated, price 32s.

Life in Normandy ;

Sketches of French Fishing, Farming, Cooking, Natural History, and Politics, drawn from Nature. By an ENGLISH RESIDENT. Third Edition, 1 vol. crown 8vo, price 6s.

Specimens of Ancient Gaelic Poetry.

Collected between the years 1512 and 1529 by the Rev. JAMES M'GREGOR, Dean of Lismore—illustrative of the Language and Literature of the Scottish Highlands prior to the Sixteenth Century. Edited, with a Translation and Notes, by the Rev. THOMAS MACLAUCHLAN. The Introduction and additional Notes by WILLIAM F. SKENE. 8vo, price 12s.

Harmony of Revelation and the Sciences ;

Address Delivered to the Members of the Edinburgh Philosophical Institution, Nov. 4, 1864, by the RIGHT REV. LORD BISHOP OF LONDON. 8vo, price 1s.

The Case for the Crown in Re the Wigton Martyrs proved to be Myths versus Wodrow and Lord Macanlay, Patrick the Pedlar and Principal Tulloch. By MARK NAPIER, Sheriff of Dumfriesshire. 8vo, price 2s.

Little Ella and the Fire-King,

And other Fairy Tales, by M. W., with Illustrations by HENRY WARREN. Second Edition. 16mo, cloth, 3s. 6d. Cloth extra, gilt edges, 4s.

Love and Duty.

A Novel. By the Author of 'Basil St. John.' 1 vol. crown 8vo, price 12s. 7½

Deborah ;

Or, Christian Principles for Domestic Servants. With Extract Readings for the Fireside. By Rev. NORMAN MACLEOD, D.D. 12mo, limp cloth, price 1s.

Macvicar's (J. G., D.D.)

THE PHILOSOPHY OF THE BEAUTIFUL ; price 6s. 6d. FIRST LINES OF SCIENCE SIMPLIFIED ; price 5s. INQUIRY INTO HUMAN NATURE ; price 7s. 6d.

Man's Place and Bread unique in Nature ;

And his origin Human not Simian. By a University Professor. Fcap. sewed, 1s.

The Correct Form of Shoes.

Why the Shoe Pinches. A contribution to Applied Anatomy. By HERMANN MEYER, M.D., Professor of Anatomy in the University of Zurich. Translated from the German by JOHN STIRLING CRAIG, L.R.C.P.E., L.R.C.S.E. Fcap., sewed, 6d.

The Herring :

Its Natural History and National Importance. By JOHN M. MITCHELL, F.R.S.S.A., F.S.A.S., F.R.P.S., etc. Author of 'The Natural History of the Herring, considered in Connection with its Visits to the Scottish Coasts,' 'British Commercial Legislation,' 'Modern Athens and the Piræus,' etc. With Six Illustrations, 8vo, price 12s.

The Insane in Private Dwellings.

By ARTHUR MITCHELL, A.M., M.D., Deputy Commissioner in Lunacy for Scotland, etc. 8vo, price 4s. 6d.

Ancient Pillar-Stones of Scotland.

Their Significance and Bearing on Ethnology. By GEORGE MOORE, M.D. 1 vol. 8vo, price 6s. 6d.

North British Review.

Published Quarterly. Price 6s.

Biographical Annals of the Parish of Colinton.

By THOMAS MURRAY, LL.D., Author of 'The Literary History of Galloway,' etc., etc. Crown 8vo, price 3s. 6d.

A New-Year's Gift to Children.

By the author of "John Halifax, Gentleman." With Illustrations, price 1s.

Nuggets from the Oldest Diggings ;

Or, Researches in the Mosaic Creation. Crown 8vo, cloth, price 3s. 6d.

"At the Seaside."

Nugæ Criticæ ; Occasional Papers written at the Seaside. By SHIRLEY. Crown 8vo, price 4s.

The Bishop's Walk and The Bishop's Times.

By ORWELL. Fcap. 8vo, price 5s.

Popular Genealogists ;

Or, The Art of Pedigree-making. 1 vol. crown 8vo, price 4s.

Reminiscences of Scottish Life and Character.

By E. B. RAMSAY, M.A., LL.D., F.R.S.E., Dean of Edinburgh. Thirteenth Edition, price 1s. 6d.

"The Dean of Edinburgh has here produced a book for railway reading of the very first class. The persons (and they are many) who can only under such circumstances devote ten minutes of attention to any page, without the certainty of a dizzy or stupid headache, in every page of this volume will find some poignant anecdote or trait which will last them a good half-hour for after-laughter : one of the pleasantest of human sensations."—Athenæum.

*.* The original Edition in 2 vols. with Introductions, price 12s., and the ninth Edition in 1 vol. cloth antique, price 5s., may still be had.

Memoirs of Frederick Perthes ;

Or, Literary, Religious, and Political Life in Germany from 1789 to 1843. By C. T. PERTHES, Professor of Law at Bonn. Crown 8vo, cloth, 6s.

Egypt :

Its Climate, Character, and Resources as a Winter Resort. With an Appendix of Meteorological Notes. By A. HENRY RHIND, F.S.A. Fcap. 8vo, cloth, price 3s.

Scotland under her Early Kings.

A History of the Kingdom to the close of the 13th century. By E. WILLIAM ROBERTSON, in 2 vols. 8vo, cloth, 36s.

Doctor Antonio ;

A Tale. By JOHN RUFFINI. Cheap Edition, crown 8vo, boards, 2s. 6d.

Lorenzo Benoni ;

Or, Passages in the Life of an Italian. By JOHN RUFFINI. With Illustrations. Crown 8vo, cloth gilt, 5s. Cheap Edition, crown 8vo, boards, 2s. 6d.

The Salmon :

Its History, Position, and Prospects. By ALEX. RUSSEL. 8vo, price 7s. 6d.

Horeb and Jerusalem.

By the REV. GEORGE SANDIE. 8vo, with Illustrations, price 10s. 6d.

Our Summer in the Harz Forest.

By A SCOTCH FAMILY. 1 vol. fcap. 8vo, price 6s.

Twelve Years in China :

The People, the Rebels, and the Mandarins, by a British Resident. With coloured Illustrations. Second Edition. With an Appendix. Crown 8vo, cloth, price 10s. 6d.

John Keble :

An Essay on the Author of the "Christian Year." By J. C. SHAIRP, Professor of Humanity, St. Andrews. 1 vol. fcap. 8vo.

Life and Work at the Great Pyramid

During the Months of January, February, March, and April A.D. 1865; with a Discussion of the Facts Ascertained. By C. PIAZZI SMYTH, F.R.SS. L. and E., Astronomer-Royal for Scotland, etc. In 3 vols. demy 8vo, with Woodcuts, and 36 Single and Double Plates in Lithography.

The Law and Practice of Heraldry in Scotland.

By GEORGE SETON, Advocate, M.A., Oxon, F.S.A., Scot. 8vo, with numerous Illustrations, 25s.

* * A few copies on large paper, half-bound, 42s.

"Cakes, Leeks, Puddings, and Potatoes."

A Lecture on the Nationalities of the United Kingdom. By GEORGE SETON, Advocate, M.A., Oxon, etc. Second Edition. Fcap. 8vo, sewed, price 6d.

The Roman Poets of the Republic.

By W. Y. SELLAR, M.A., Professor of Humanity in the University of Edinburgh, and formerly Fellow of Oriel College, Oxford. 8vo, price 12s.

The Four Ancient Books of Wales,

Containing the Kymric Poems attributed to the Bards of the Sixth century. Edited, with an Introduction and Notes, by WILLIAM F. SKENE. 2 vols. 8vo, with Illustrations.

My Life and Times, 1741-1813.

Being the Autobiography of the REV. THOS. SOMERVILLE, Minister of Jedburgh, and one of His Majesty's Chaplains. Crown 8vo, price 9s.

Dugald Stewart's Collected Works.

Edited by SIR WILLIAM HAMILTON, Bart. Vols. I. to X. 8vo, cloth, each 12s.

Vol. I.—Dissertation. Vols. II., III., and IV.—Elements of the Philosophy of the Human Mind. Vol. V.—Philosophical Essays. Vols. VI. and VII.—Philosophy of the Active and Moral Powers of Man. Vols. VIII. and IX.—Lectures on Political Economy. Vol. X.—Biographical Memoirs of Adam Smith, LL.D., William Robertson, D.D., and Thomas Reid, D.D.; to which is prefixed a Memoir of Dugald Stewart, with Selections from his Correspondence, by John Veitch, M.A. Supplementary Vol.—Translations of the Passages in Foreign Languages contained in the Collected Works; with General Index.

Natural History and Sport in Moray.

Collected from the Journals and Letters of the late CHARLES ST. JOHN, Author of 'Wild Sports of the Highlands.' With a short Memoir of the Author. Crown 8vo, price 8s. 6d.

Christ the Consoler:

Or Scriptures, Hymns, and Prayers for Times of Trouble and Sorrow. Selected and arranged by the Rev. ROBERT HERBERT STORY, Minister of Roseneath. 1 vol. fcp. 8vo, price 3s. 6d.

Works by Professor James Syme.

OBSERVATIONS IN CLINICAL SURGERY. 1 vol. 8vo, price 8s. 6d.

STRICTURE OF THE URETHRA, AND FISTULA IN PERINEO. 8vo, 4s. 6d.

TREATISE ON THE EXCISION OF DISEASED JOINTS. 8vo, 5s.

ON DISEASES OF THE RECTUM. 8vo, 4s. 6d.

EXCISION OF THE SCAPULA. 8vo, price 2s. 6d.

Sermons Preached at St. Paul's.

By THE RIGHT REV. C. H. TERROT, D.D., Bishop of Edinburgh. In 1 vol. fcap. 8vo, price 6s.

Lessons for School Life;

Being Selections from Sermons preached in the Chapel of Rugby School during his Head Mastership. By THE RIGHT REVEREND THE LORD BISHOP OF LONDON. Fcap., cloth, 5s.

What is Sabbath-Breaking?

8vo, price 2s.

Day Dreams of a Schoolmaster.

By D'ARCY W. THOMPSON. Second Edition. Fcap. 8vo, price 5s.

Ancient Leaves;

Or Metrical Renderings of Poets, Greek and Roman. By D'ARCY W. THOMPSON. Fcap. 8vo, 6s.

An Angler's Rambles among the Rivers and Lochs of Scotland. By THOMAS TOD STODDART, Author of "The Angler's Companion." crown 8vo.

Travels by Umbra.

8vo., price 10s. 6d.

Hotch-Pot.

By UMBRA. Fcap 8vo, price 3s.

Life of Dr. John Reid,

Late Chandos Professor of Anatomy and Medicine in the University of St. Andrews. By the late GEORGE WILSON, M.D. Fcap. 8vo, cloth, price 3s.

Researches on Colour-Blindness.

With a Supplement on the danger attending the present system of Railway and Marine Coloured Signals. By the late GEORGE WILSON, M.D. 8vo, 5s.

Dante's—The Inferno.

Translated line for line by W. P. WILKIE, Advocate. Fcap. 8vo, price 5s.

Westfield.

A View of Home Life during the American War. 1 vol. crown 8vo, price 8s. 6d.

Odds and Ends.

Grave or Humorous, a Series. Price 6d. each. Nos. 1 to 10 in 1 vol. price 4s. 6d.

1. SKETCHES OF HIGHLAND CHARACTER; Sheep Farmers and Drovers. 2. OUR CONVICTS; by a Practical Hand. 3. WAYSIDE THOUGHTS OF AN ASOPHOPHILOSOPHER; by D'Arcy W. Thompson. No. 1. Rainy Weather; or the Philosophy of Sorrow. Gooseskin; or the Philosophy of Horror. Te Denu Laudamus; or the Philosophy of Joy. 4. THE ENTERKIN; by John Brown, M.D. 5. WAYSIDE THOUGHTS OF AN ASOPHOPHILOSOPHER; by D'Arcy W. Thompson. No. II. Asses—History—Plagues. 6. PENITENTIARIES AND REFORMATORIES. 7. NOTES FROM PARIS; or Why are Frenchmen and Englishmen different? 8. ESSAYS BY AN OLD MAN. No. 1. In Memoriam—Vanitas Vanitatum—Friends. 9. WAYSIDE THOUGHTS OF AN ASOPHOPHILOSOPHER; by D'Arcy W. Thompson. No. III. Not Godless, but Godly; A Triangular Treatise on Education. 10. THE INFLUENCE OF THE REFORMATION ON THE SCOTTISH CHARACTER; by J. A. Froude.

In Preparation—

11. THE CATTLE PLAGUE. By Lyon Playfair, C.B., LL.D., F.R.S.
12. ROUGH NIGHT'S QUARTERS. By one of the people who have roughed it.
13. LESSONS ON THE EDUCATION OF YOUNG CHILDREN. By S. G. O.
14. THE STORMONTFIELD PISCICULTURAL EXPERIMENTS, 1853-1866. By Robert Buist.
15. A TRACT FOR THE TIMES.
16. SPAIN IN 1866.

To be followed by other Papers.

6473-112
14

University of California, Los Angeles

L 006 211 658 7

UC SOUTHERN REGIONAL LIBRARY FACILITY

AA 000 394 276 0

